

Mock Meeting Begins

Some Nations Still Missing

The first session of the 1958 Model United Nations General Assembly will begin working on the world's problems at 2 p.m. today.

Since many of the member-nations of the United Nations are not yet represented in the model assembly sponsored by NUCWA, any group may send delegates to the sessions if the committee is notified by 2 p.m. this afternoon, according to Wynn Smithberger, session chairman.

Dick Fellman, elected president of the assembly Tuesday night, will call the meeting to order in Union 315.

After reports from the credentials committee, resolution committee and agenda committee the agenda for the entire meeting will be discussed.

The Secretary-General for the conference will be elected at that time.

Further petitions and resolutions will be presented and the problems will be discussed during the second and third sessions to be held on Thursday, 2-4:30 p.m. and 7:30-9:30 p.m.

Final session of the conference, when a message will be given by the Secretary-General, will be Friday, 2-4:30 p.m.

A summary of the conference will also be given by the president.

Cohen Unavailable

Benjamin Cohen of the United Nations, who was planning to speak on the University campus Saturday will be unable to come to Nebraska at that time, said Miss Smithberger.

Groups and the countries which they represent are:

Two Classes Planned For B&B Test

The annual Block and Bridle Livestock Judging contest will be Saturday at 8 a.m. in the Horse Barn, according to Paul Yeutter, general chairman.

A junior division for all students who have not taken Animal Husbandry 103 and a senior division for students who have taken the course will be held. Also in the junior division will be organized teams comprised of the top five individuals from each organized house.

Eight classes in the junior division and 12 classes in the senior division are planned. Metals and ribbons will be awarded to the winners with a plaque going to the highest team.

Winners will be announced at the Honors Banquet April 18 at 6 p.m. in the City Union.

Governor To Speak At ASME-ASCE

Gov. Victor Anderson will speak at a joint meeting of ASME-ASCE tonight.

"Engineering Opportunities in Nebraska" is the topic of the governor's talk.

The meeting, scheduled for 7-15 p.m. in 206 Richards, is Faculty Night for the two engineering societies.

TWO YOUNG REPUBLICANS MEET—Miss Jana Hruska, University junior in Arts and Sciences, and Vice President Richard Nixon met in Washington D.C. Miss Hruska is the daughter of Senator Roman Hruska who will speak at the University tonight at 7:30 p.m. in Union 315. The meeting is sponsored by the YRs and is open to the public.

New University Deans 'Awed'

Biz Ad Head Miller Thrilled

"It was the biggest surprise of my life," stated Dr. Charles Miller about his recent appointment as dean of the College of Business Administration.

Miller will succeed Earl Fullbrook to the post next September.

A native of Denver but raised in Cheyenne, Wyo., Miller pointed out that now two of the four deans of the College of Business Administration have come from Cheyenne.

"It's also interesting to note that all of the four deans are still living," he commented.

Dean John Clark, who preceded Fullbrook and was the other dean from Cheyenne, resigned in order to accept a position on the President's Economic Council in Washington, D.C. The other two deans retired at the 65-year-old age limit.

Dr. Miller is married and has two children.

His son, Tom, is a junior in business at the University. Marilyn, his daughter, is a junior at Lincoln High.

Miller is an ardent golf fan. He is looking forward to his first game of the season which he is planning soon.

Hunting ducks and upland game is another favorite weekend pastime of the new dean. He hunts mostly in Nebraska.

Miller began teaching in 1931. He became a businessman after ten years of teaching.

Business experience includes being controller of the C. A. Swanson and Sons Co. and treasurer of the Martin Bomber company.

He returned to the teaching profession in 1949.

"I have never regretted the transition," he commented.

Miller attended Creighton University and the University of Iowa.

Independents Alter SC Slate

Two changes were made during Spring Vacation in the slate of candidates who will receive independent backing in the upcoming Student Council election.

Because of an error by the interviewing board, one too many candidates was approved for Arts and Sciences and one too few for Engineering, according to Lyle Hansen, member of the interviewing committee. The committee had not been informed of the change in college representation, he said.

Clarence Wylie, freshman from Cornhusker Co-op, was added to the slate for Engineering College and Sandy Compher was dropped from the list of persons being backed from Arts and Science.

International Party

The annual Foreign Student Party will be Saturday from 8-12 p.m. at 540 No. 16th St.

The party will be sponsored by the International Club of the Residence Halls for Women.

All foreign students and their wives are invited.

Beggs Praises Ed Predecessor

"I am following a fine educator and one of the country's outstanding deans," commented Dr. Walter Beggs, newly appointed dean of Teachers College.

Beggs, who succeeds Frank Henzlik, said of his new post: "I realize that it is a very important responsibility because teacher education is one of the most significant areas in American education."

Beggs began his teaching career at Summerfield, Kansas, where he was also football coach with winning teams for several years.

An athlete himself, Beggs participated in football and baseball in both high school and college and presently bowls in the Faculty Bowling League.

He attended Tarkio College in Missouri where he majored in Greek, English and mathematics.

"I think I am one of the few people left who have a major in Greek," he noted. "When I was a senior, I translated the New Testament."

Active in academic and professional affairs, Beggs has served as president of the National Conference of Professors of Educational Administration, chairman of the University's Council for Community Study, editorial board member of the magazine "School Executive" and is a member of many organizations.

Beggs relaxes with his favorite hobby, woodworking. He has a home work shop and admits he has practically remodeled his entire home.

He is married and has three daughters. The eldest, Kathryn, a senior at Lincoln High, plans to enter the University next fall and prepare for a career as an English teacher.

His other daughters, Peggy and Karen, have not decided if they want to follow their father into a teaching career.

Entertainment was provided by the Farmhouse Quartet and the Coeds, girls' trio.

IFC Meets Tonight

The Interfraternity Council will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the Union, according to Gary Cadwallader, president.

Tribunal Okayed; But Bench Vacant

Council Will Choose Seven Judges By May 1

John Kinnier, chairman of the Student Council nominations committee, said today that applications will be available for positions as student judges on the Student Tribunal.

These applications will be available in the Union Activities office and must be returned there by 5 p.m. next Wednesday, April 16, Kinnier said. They will also sign up for interview times when they apply. Interviews will be held by the nominations committee on Saturday, April 19.

The Charter of the Student Tribunal was approved by the University Board of Regents at their meeting April 1. The Regents reworded a section pertaining to amendments, but according to Dave Keene, Council member instrumental in setting up the Tribunal Charter, the change which the Regents made did not alter the setup of the Tribunal but only clarified the meaning.

When the Faculty Senate passed the Charter earlier, this same section was reworded to include that amendments would be made only with the consent of the Senate.

Keene said this was implied within the original wording and that the amendment would not have to be approved by the students in another all-University election.

The Student Council will select 4 seniors, 1 law student and 2 juniors for judges on the Tribunal. In other words, the applicants must presently be sophomores or juniors, or in the case of law and profession schools, have completed at least one year in that school but who are not in their last year.

Applicants must be in the upper one-half of their college class, Kinnier said.

To meet this requirement, a student must have an accumulative average equal to or above the following:

Sophomore	Agriculture	5.412
Junior	Arts and Sciences	5.367
Sophomore	Business Administration	5.531
Junior	Engineering and Architecture	5.379
Sophomore	Pharmacy	5.473
Junior	Teachers	5.486
Sophomore	Junior Division, Undeclared	5.725
Junior	Law	5.727
Sophomore	Undetermined	3.333
Junior	Undetermined	3.333
Sophomore	Undetermined	3.333
Junior	Undetermined	3.333

The Student Council Nominating Committee plans to nominate at least 6 seniors, 2 law students and 3 juniors for final selection by the Council, Kinnier said.

The Charter of the Tribunal stipulates that the University Faculty Senate Committee on Student Affairs may name additional applicants to the Student Council for membership on the Tribunal.

The Council will make final selection of the judges by May 1, as is set forth in the Charter.

The Chancellor shall appoint two Faculty Judges from the instructional staff from nominations made to him by the University Faculty Senate Committee on Committees.

Keene said the Tribunal success depends largely on the caliber of the student judges. "This first year could well make or break the Tribunal," he added.

"The job falls on the Student Council to get the very best judges they can," he said.

Coover Gets 'J' Grant 'Cloak 'n' Dagger News Job Eyed

A University senior who always dreamed of being a foreign correspondent is well on the way to fulfilling her dream.

Pat Coover, Arts and Science senior in journalism, was announced last week as winner of a $2,500 grant for study in Latin America.

"It took me a while to get down off the clouds," was Miss Coover's reaction to the grant, which was made by the Inter American Press Association.

Any University student who is studying in any University in Latin America, Miss Coover is now trying to decide between the Universities at Lima, Peru and Buenos Aires, Argentina.

"My whole aim is for a better cultural understanding of Latin America," Miss Coover said. Her year of study will pave the way, she hopes, to a job with a wire service as a foreign correspondent.

Miss Coover learned of the award almost accidentally. She was opening mail at the Lincoln Journal, where she has worked as a reporter for four years, when she discovered a news release stating that Miss Pat Coover of Lincoln was the recipient of a $2,500 award. Official notification arrived two days later.

One of the stipulations for the award is that the recipient be conversant in the language of the country he plans to study in.

Not until the spring of her junior year at the University did she begin her Spanish major after having earlier completed her basic language requirement. She then really took a plunge into the language when she traveled to Guadalajara, Mexico for a summer of study there.

Miss Coover is a member of the Pub Board and is past president of Theta Sigma Phi, journalism society and Zeta Tau Alpha. She is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, language honorary and Gamma Alpha Chi, advertising sorority.

Counselors Fill Slate

Glade, Doering Elected Officers

Dorothy Glade, sophomore in Teachers, was chosen secretary of Coed Counselors at the organizational meeting of the new board.

Polly Doering, also a Teachers sophomore, was elected treasurer.

Miss Glade is a member of BABW, YWCA, New Student Week Committee and Gamma Delta. She is activities chairman of Towne Club.

Miss Doering is a sophomore member of AWS board and is on the YWCA council. She is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and is rush and standards chairman of Alpha Omicron Pi.

Committee chairmen appointed at the meeting were: Sandy Kully, New Student Week; Kay Marie Swartz, Penny Carnival; Mary Vrba, Friendship Dessert; Karen Peterson, Foreign Students; Gretchen Sides, Publicity; Dorothy Glade, Orientation;

Filings

Dorothy Beecher, Initiation; Janet Hansen and Liz Smith, Spring Filings; Polly Doering and Carol Kucera, and Semester Party, Sue Caroski; Pat Arnold, Printing and Booklets and Phyl Elliott, Historian.

Filings for Coed Counselors are open this week. Application blanks may be picked up in Rosa Bouton Hall. Deadline is April 14.

Ivy Day: Women May Sign For Chains

Independent women interested in being in the Ivy or Daisy Chain on Ivy Day may leave their name and a list of their activities in the Mortar Board box outside of room 20 in the Union basement, according to Evonne Einspahr, chairman.

Two seniors, one junior, one sophomore and one freshman will be selected from each of the four houses of the women's dormitory, Terrace Hall, Love Memorial Hall and Fedde Hall as well as from each sorority. Women who are not in any organized house will also be chosen.

Independent applications are due on April 14. Organized houses must have submitted their selections by that date also.

Requirements

The requirements for the chains include having at least a 5.0 average and being able to attend at least one of the preliminary practices and the final rehearsal.

Preliminary meetings will be April 17 and 24 in Union 313 at 5 p.m.

The Ivy chain will consist of seniors who will precede the Ivy Day Queen carrying an ivy chain. They are customarily dressed in white.

Daisy Chain

The Ivy chain is followed by the members of the Daisy chain. Daisy chain members are freshmen, sophomores and juniors. They wear pastel cotton dresses.

The purpose of the chain is to honor girls who have contributed to their houses or who have been particularly active on campus.

Independents will be selected on the basis of activities and will be notified as soon as possible.

4-H Club To Meet

The University 4-H Club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Agronomy Building, according to Pat Wright, publicity chairman.
