Miss Husker Deadline Announced

Twelve Finalists Will Be Chosen

Deadline for entering the University "Miss Cornhusker" contest has been set at 5 p.m. Tuesday, according to contest chairman John Kinnier.

Coeds desiring to enter the contest are asked to contact Kinnier at 327 N. 13th St., phone 2-4410, to arrange for interviews.

Twelve Finalists

Twelve coeds will be selected April 30 by members of the Innocents Society as finalists for the University representative in the Miss Nebraska contest.

Unmarried University coeds are eligible to enter the contest provided they are residents of the state and born prior to July 1, 1940.

Alumni members of Innocents will select "Miss Cornhusker" from the 12 finalists.

Winner of the "Miss Cornhusker" contest is eligible to compete in the Miss Nebraska contest. Winner of that contest advances to the Miss U.S.A. competition and winner there will compete for the Miss Universe crown.

"Miss Cornhusker" will be chosen on the basis of beauty, poise and personality, Kinnier said. Decision of the judges will be final.

The 12 finalists will attend a banquet to be given by the Innocents. Finalists will be presented at the first performance of the Kosmet Klub show and "Miss Cornhusker" will be crowned at the second performance. The winner will also receive a trophy.

Housing Code Okayed; Basement Rooms Hit

'Off Limits' To Non-Compliers; Changes Mostly Minor

The University Board of Regents approved the Housing code proposed by the University Health Services last December.

University organized houses, cooperatives, dormitories and all rooming houses approved for students will come under the ruling of the code.

A specific ruling from the Board of Regents rules gives the code its authority. Student housing which does not comply with the code's stipulations may be declared "off limits."

According to Edward Simpson, director of the University Division of Environmental Health, the code will revise rules to meet existing conditions or require only minor changes.

Specific items in the code standards for basements and conformance with minimum space requirements in the dormitories.

Some of the pertinent items listed in the housing code are:

1) No cellar space in new construction shall be used as a habitable room or for dining. In existing housing, cellar space may be used for present purposes other than sleeping rooms if lighting dryness and ventilation standards are met.

2) Basement rooms in existing and new construction may be used for habitable rooms if health and sanitation requirements are adhered to.

3) University health permits, to be issued by health officials, will be required of every student housing unit.

New Dorm Planned

The Board of Regents yesterday approved the appointment of Davis & Wilson of Lincoln as the architects of a new 1,000-man dorm.

Chancellor Hardin said he "didn't know" where the dorm would be located, but hinted that he might be in the 17th Street area "someplace."

Loomis For Sale

The Regents approved the motion to place Loomis Hall located on Ag College in the hands of a real estate agent sale.

Formerly used as a cooperative house for students at the College of Agriculture, the need for Loomis was eliminated with the addition of the new Ag College Dormitories.

Loomis Hall was purchased in 1945.

Wildlife Research

The Regents approved a motion to make it possible for the College of Agriculture and the Nebraska Game, Forestry and Parks Commission to make contracts from time to time for the purposes of encouraging wildlife research.

This measure sets up a basis for financial grants to the University Experiment Station for research in the field of wildlife.

Art Purchased

The Board of Regents at their meeting yesterday authorized the purchase of art objects for the Hall collection. The works of art will be purchased from the $10,000 Hall Fund.

Rifles Win First Place

Individual Awards Presented To Squad

Twenty-one members of Company A, Pershing Rifles, placed first in the IDR Squad Drill at the Pershing Rifles Drill Meet, at Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Individual awards were presented to: Larry Ott, 1st place pledge division; David Linn, 1st place advanced cadet; William Howard, 2nd place individual active; Richard Dwinell, 3rd place individual sophomore.

Other awards won by the squadmen were: Anders Klinehofs and David Linn, Distinguished Service Award; Bruce Abernethy, Meritorious Service Award; Jerry Leadbrand and Richard Dwinell, Special Service Award; Larry Ott, Outstanding Pledge; Jim Pangborn, Outstanding Active; David Linn, Outstanding Junior Officer.

The trophies won by the Company will be presented to Col. V. R. Rawie during a ceremony held in honor of the Pershing Rifles.

The company suffered only one fatality—Sergeant Weatherford, the R.O.T.C. Staff Representative, cut his head on the bottom of the swimming pool when he did one of his deep dives.

LOREN EISELEY

new Post series

"Adventures of the Mind"

Famed Nebraska-born author, scholar and anthropologist, Loren Eiseley, appears in this week's Saturday Evening Post to lead off one of the most unusual and provocative series of articles ever published by a major weekly magazine.

Intellectual leaders like Oppenheimer, Zworykin and Gropius, each writing on his own field, will follow Mr. Eiseley's "An Evolutionist Looks at Modern Man." These articles present the major thoughts of our modern world—directly from the men who conceived them!

Begin now, with this week's Post.

IN ALL, 7 articles, 3 stories, 2 serials, many cartoons.
