

Husker Power Too Much For OS, Houston

Star Of The Week: Sharpe Rates Siebler 'One Of Loop's Best'

By Ken Pocras
Sports Staff Writer

They say sports writers have no dangerous territory to cover. I don't believe it.

When I was informed that I was to interview Dwight Siebler, ace pitcher on the Cornhusker's baseball team who has been selected for the Daily Nebraskan Star of the Week, I headed for the baseball diamond. There, I was informed that Siebler was shagging fly balls in right field. I headed out to right field, dodging ground balls and hot-shot liners.

Finally I made it and proceeded with the interview. "Hank," as he is known by his teammates, played his high school baseball for Omaha North. He was both a pitcher and an outfielder. Last year as a sophomore, Siebler had a four won, two lost record. His batting average was .333.

This year, Hank is off to an excellent start with a record of four wins and no losses. His earned run average is 2.7. Although he jokingly said he was no power hitter, his batting average this year is .480.

Dwight says that his biggest thrill as a ball player came last year when he pitched a no-hitter against Oklahoma although he lost the game, 1-0.

Coach Tony Sharpe said that Siebler has "been going real good. Right now, I think he's one of the top pitchers in the league. He is a consistent pitcher. He may not win every game but he doesn't have too many bad days.

Dwight is a junior studying in Business Administration. After graduation, he plans to play pro ball. Sharpe said that "scouts are beginning to watch him." They have good reason.

Through Siebler's four games, he has pitched 29 innings allowing 25 hits, 12 runs, seven of them earned, has walked four, and struck out 21.

Missouri Win Impressive

Hank's most impressive win this season was his victory over Missouri two weeks ago, especially since Missouri had been hitting the ball hard.

In last week's game with Iowa State at Ames, he hit a double and two singles in five trips at bat. He also scored three runs.

Siebler is married and doesn't have any children. The Daily Nebraskan wishes Dwight all the luck in the world for the rest of the season and for his future career in the National Pastime.

NCAA Title:

South Dakota's Champs Win Without Tall Man

Even though Kansas State's Wildcats didn't win the NCAA championships, the midlands can still boast a National Collegiate Athletic Association champion.

What's more, these college basketball kings are a next door neighbor of Nebraska's Cornhuskers.

The team is, of course, South Dakota University's Coyotes who won the NCAA small college division championship. The Coyotes did it on the strength of a 20 game winning streak and a 22 win 5 loss season's record.

Small Club

South Dakota won with a starting combination of five seniors, none of whom were taller than 6'4". The fabulous five were Clayton Kiewel, 6'4"; Maury Haugland, 6'2"; Roger Nelson, 6'3"; Jimmie Daniels, 6'1 1/2"; and Cliff Daniels, 5'11". These five started every game, and they played together from the time they were freshmen.

Coach of the champs was Dwane "Cloddy" Clodfelter who had also been with the Coyotes for four years. Clodfelter said after the season,

Gardner, Fleming Double Winners; No New Marks

By Randall Lambert

Nebraska, spurred by the double wins of Mike Fleming and Keith Gardner, romped to an easy triangular track win over Oklahoma State and Houston before an estimated 2,500 people in Memorial Stadium Tuesday. Nebraska racked up 84 points as compared to 43 points by both Oklahoma State and Houston.

Mike Fleming gives out with a grimace and a mighty effort as he comes home ahead of the field in the half mile in Tuesday's triangular. Fleming also won the mile as the Huskers swept to victory over Oklahoma State and Houston in Memorial Stadium.

Fleming won the 880 in 1:54.0 and the mile in 4:15.8.

Gardner scored his double wins in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 220 yard dash. Gardner skimmed over the highs in 14.1 and ran the 220 in 21.1. He would have been under 21 seconds if he wouldn't have misjudged the finish line. He slowed down about ten yards in front of the finish thinking he had won. He realized his mistake and put on a last second spurt to nip Orlando Hazley of Oklahoma State.

Other Nebraska winners were Keith Young who won the 220-yard low hurdles in 24.6, Don Olson who threw the shot 49 feet 5 inches, Bill Lafluer who hurled the javelin 191 feet 2 inches, and Don Phillips who won the broad jump with a leap of 23 feet 2 1/2 inches.

Turner Surprises

Nebraska fans were also pleasantly surprised by Herschel Turner. Turner, who has only been working out for a couple of weeks, high jumped 6 feet 3 inches for second place. Looper of Oklahoma State won the high jump with a leap of 6 feet 3 3/4 inches.

An anticipated possible record in the two-mile run didn't materialize as Smart and Darley of Houston clowned their way to a poor 10:17.1 win. The two Houston runners talked to each other throughout the race and clasped hands to finish in a tie at the end.

Pollard Second

Aubrey Dooly of Oklahoma State won the pole vault at 14 feet. Ken Pollard of Nebraska finished second to Dooly. Houston scored another first in the mile relay with a 3:21.6 time. The 440 yard relay was won by Oklahoma State in 41.6. Nebraska's Keith Gardner and Keith Young had trouble on the first pass and Nebraska had to drop out.

Dick Jahr of Nebraska was beaten by half a step in the 100-yard dash as Orlando Hazley, who has been timed in 9.3, won in 9.7.

Both Oklahoma State and Nebraska were competing without the services of two of their stars, Oklahoma State was without Ken Covert, their 220 and 440 speedster. Nebraska ran without Joe Mullins.

The Nebraska tracksters will see their next action in the Drake Relays this coming weekend.

From The Outside

by randall lambert

The West Coast schools are generally thought of as being the leaders in track and field. Southern California has won more N.C.A.A. track crowns than any other school in the country and year in and year out top marks are posted by the Coast schools. The first four minute mile by an American was posted by Don Bowden of California last year. Throughout the years other top marks have come from the Coast schools and have resulted in the general consensus that the Pacific Coast has the top track teams in the country.

Big Eight Challenges

This idea that prevails may be true, but the Big Eight and other midland schools have lately begun to challenge the Pacific Coast schools. Evidence of this can be gained by comparing some of the best marks in the Midwest with those of the Pacific Coast.

Orlando Hazley of Oklahoma State has done a 9.3 hundred which ties the best Ray Norton of San Jose State has done. Both of these marks were with a wind. Without the wind they have both done the hundred in 9.5 as has Dee Givens of Oklahoma University. Norton has also run the 220 in 20.5 which is better than the 20.9 by Ken Covert of Oklahoma State. Covert has toured the 440 in 47.5 as compared to 47.0 by Ted Smith of Southern Oklahoma.

Sophomore Norman Lloyd of Stanford has run a 1:49.2 half-mile which is far below any time in the Midwest. The mile time of 4:08.2 by Gail Hodgson of Oklahoma is topped by a 4:05.8 by Don Bowden of California. The 2-mile time by N.C.A.A. champion Max Truex of Southern California is also below any time in the Midlands.

Gardner Second

Nebraska's Keith Gardner is second by a tenth of a second to Chuck Cobb of Stanford in the 120-yard high hurdles. Cobb has run the highs in 13.9 and Gardner has been timed in 14.0. Eddie Dove of Colorado has the fastest time in the nation in the 220-yard low hurdles with a time of 22.7. Oklahoma State has a 1:22.9 clocking in the 880-yard relay which is easily below the 1:25.4 mark set by Occidental on the Coast. Nebraska's time of 41.3 in the 440-yard relay is also below the times of the West Coast teams.

Weather Advantage

Although many of the times listed by Pacific Coast schools surpass Big Eight times, it must be remembered that West Coast trackmen can work outdoors the year round and are in mid-season condition when Big Eight schools are still working indoors. It is true that Big Eight athletes work indoors during the winter, but working on a cramped indoor track is much different than working on quarter-mile outdoor track.
