

MAY QUEEN—Helen Gourlay is crowned Queen of May by the Maid of Honor Mary Huston as Flower Girl Nancy Mohrman watches.

Ivy Damp, Undaunted

By Ned Totman
Staff Writer

Overcast skies greeted Ivy Day, threatening and sobering. It sprinkled, then stopped. Light rain fell, stopped, and then rain poured down.

For the first time since 1945 rain forced the Ivy Day ceremonies to move toward the Coliseum.

An inscription in the 1945 Cornhusker stated that "The Ivy was planted on the coliseum floor. . . It rained, but it was Ivy Day."

Anxious Crowd

It was humid and hot in the coliseum, but the crowd anxiously awaited the announcement of the Fraternity and Sorority Ivy Day sings, the awarding of the trophies for scholarship, and above all, the tackling and masking of the Innocents and Mortar Boards.

Reigning over the ceremonies was Helen Gourlay, queen of Ivy Day. She reigned while spiked heels sunk into the ground; while fraternities and sororities marched before the judges, sang, and marched off again; and, inside the coliseum, she watched while trophies were awarded for scholarship.

Trophies

Nancy Jo Coover, won the senior woman's scholarship cup, and Richard Andrews won the senior man's scholarship cup.

The Mortar Board scholarship activities trophy went to Love Memorial Hall, with Delta Gamma 2nd, followed by Delta Delta Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Xi Delta.

Farm House won the Innocents

Sigma Psi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Boucher House.

Theta Chi won the Interfraternity Council's scholarship improvement trophy and Farm House won the trophy for the pledge class with the highest scholastic average.

Squeals

Finally, Mortar Boards and Innocents began to move through the crowd. Squeals of excitement pursued forth, as new Mortar Boards and Innocents were tapped and tackled.

Suddenly it was over. Thirteen Innocents were tackled with no casualties suffered, and twenty Mortar Boards were masked.

It rained, but it was Ivy Day.

Armbrust Wins 'Dragon Wagon'; Six Trophies Take Powder

The Sigma Chis and the Kappa Deltas shared the Spring Day limelight by winning the overall trophies at the Friday afternoon events.

Art Armbrust won the grand prize of the 1941 black Chevrolet at the Street dance in front of the Union Friday evening.

The name he gave the car was "Dragon Wagon."

Trophies Gone

Many of the Spring Day event winners went home trophyless after six of the nine small trophies disappeared.

The trophies were on display on a table near the event area. The Spring Day committee is presently working to solve the mystery of their disappearance.

Results of the events are as follows:

Second place in the entire women's contest was Alpha Omicron Pi; third went to Zeta Tau Alpha.

Delta Tau Delta won second place in the all men's contest and Cornhusker Co-op got third.

Men's tug of war was won by Cornhusker Co-op. The Sigma Chis placed second and Farmhouse third. The Kappa Deltas won the women's tug of war, followed by the Zeta Tau Alphas and the Alpha Xi Deltas.

Chi and Beta Theta Pi tied for first place in the push ball contest due to the deflation of the ball.

In the backward race, Alpha Omicron Pi placed first, Chi Omega won second and Fedde Hall came in third.

Delta Tau Delta won first place in the men's pig catching contest with Delta Sigma Phi second and Sigma Nu third.

The three-legged race saw Farmhouse receive first place honors, Sigma Nu second and Phi Delta Theta third.

The football game ended up with a tie, 6-6.

In the women's pig catching contest Kappa Alpha Theta came in first, Alpha Phi second and Alpha Omicron Pi third.

Egg Tossing

Egg tossing saw Theta Xi place first in the men's division and Delta Gamma win the women's. Kappa Sigma and Beta Theta Pi took second and third respectively and Kappa Delta and Alpha Chi Omega received the second and third ribbons for the women.

NU To Host Rifles Meet

Kuncl New Head For ROTC Group

Lincoln will play host to ROTC cadets from all over the nation this week. These cadets will represent the twelve regiments of the honorary military society, Pershing Rifles, in the annual PR Little National Assembly.

The University serves as headquarters for Pershing Rifles.

The purpose of the assembly is to formulate plans for next year's operations and to formally appoint new National Staff officers.

Brigadier General Alan Irwin, present National Commander, will turn over his position to Lt. Col. Pat Kuncl, a junior in Business Administration at the University.

The agenda for the three-day assembly, which begins Friday, includes a general meeting of all units, private conferences between regimental and national staff officers, luncheons and an awards banquet. Presentation of the trophy for best regiment and announcement of the Honorary National Commander, Miss Martha Turner of Centenary College, will highlight the awards banquet.

Ed Prof Attends USAF Meeting

Frank Sorenson, chairman of the department of educational services at the University and a member of the advisory board for the Air Training Command, United States Air Force, is attending a meeting of the board at air training command headquarters, Randolph Air Force Base, Texas.

The ATC advisory board was formed in April, 1954, to assist the commander of the Air Training Command. Its interests include program evaluation, personnel policies, education and training organization and management and sources and use of civilian guidance.

Pershing Auditorium Declared 'Battleground' For KK Show

By Sandy Laaker
Staff Writer

Pershing Auditorium will turn into a shooting gallery on May 23 and 24.

That's when Annie will be on stage—and the gal is a real sharpshooter! Kosmet Klub is producing the 1946 Broadway hit, "Annie Get Your Gun," for their annual spring show.

It's theme is that of one of its songs—"You Can't Get a Man With a Gun." Backwoods Annie fouls up her romantic life every time she resorts to her skill at sharpshooting.

Annie is the star gunswoman of Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show and falls in love with the male sharpshooter of the troupe, Frank Butler. Frank tells Annie that "The

Belsheim Appointed To Tribunal

Law College Dean Fills ST Bench

The panel of judges for the Student Tribunal was completed Friday with the announcement of Edmond Belsheim as the second faculty judge.

Prof. Belsheim, dean of the College of Law, will serve as the four-year faculty judge, according to A. C. Breckenridge, dean of faculties.

Faculty judges are selected by Chancellor Clifford Hardin from names submitted by the faculty committee on committees.

Dean Breckenridge

"As dean of the College of Law, it seemed appropriate for Dean Belsheim to serve as one of the faculty judges," Breckenridge said.

Getting the Tribunal started in the right direction was the reason Prof. Belsheim mentioned for his selection.

"I am very much interested in the Student Tribunal and hope to help it get started," he said.

Prof. Belsheim did graduate work in law at the University of Chicago. He practiced law in Chicago and New York City before coming to the University as a professor of law in 1946. He has held his present post since 1949.

Greek Week IFC Bills Flanagan For Ball

Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra will be the feature attraction of the Greek Week festivities starting tomorrow.

Flanagan and his Flatbush Five, who have been consistently rated America's Number One Band in polls and the public's choice year after year, will provide the music for the annual IFC Ball Friday night at Turnpike Ballroom.

Starting tomorrow and continuing through Wednesday afternoon will be a series of workshops to discuss rushing, interfraternity relations, house managing, pledge training, and other aspects of fraternity life for which common discussion may provide new ideas. Three representatives from each house will attend these afternoon sessions.

A banquet honoring all present and past house presidents will be held at the University Club Thursday Night.

Election Day Student Government Faces Trial Today

In 1956 only 1,825 students voted in the all-University election for Student Council, in 1957 only 2,000 students voted in the same election, in 1958???

"Government is yours—if you vote."

Helen Gourlay, president of the Council encouraged students to vote in the election today. She said that the Council will only be as strong as the students make it.

Miss Gourlay said that the bigger the turnout in the election today, the greater the responsibility the student representatives will feel toward their constituents.

She said that in order to have a truly representative group, there should be a large turnout in the election.

By voting in the Student Council election, students can share in their government, she said.

Oratio, 'The Dream Of Gerontius' To Open Sunday At Howell Theater

Two of today's top young musical performers in television, Broadway and opera are coming to the campus Sunday to sing the leads in "The Dream of Gerontius," to be presented by the University's music department.

The seldom-performed dramatic oratio, at Howell Theater 8 p.m. Sunday, will be open to the public without charge.

The leads in the oratio, written by Cardinal Newman and set to music by Edward Elgar, will be sung by:

Robert Rounseville of New York, tenor, who will sing the title role of Gerontius. Rounseville has appeared in the moves "Carousel" and "Tales of Hoffman," on numerous television shows, the Broadway shows "Brigadoon" and "Candide" and with the New York City and San Francisco Opera Companies.

Sara Fleming of New York, mezzo soprano, who will sing the role of the angel. Miss Fleming who won the Rodgers and Hammerstein Award for outstanding vocal achievement, has appeared as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra at Tanglewood and the New York City Opera Company. She has appeared on television in many opera presentations in New York.

Leon Lishner, associate professor of music at the University, will sing the bass role of the Angel of the Agony. Lishner is best known for his creation of various roles in the operas of Gian-Carlo Me-

Girl That I Marry" will be soft and sweet—not a rip-snortin' bull's eye aimer! Annie becomes bitter and belts out that she's only "Do'in' What Comes Natural" but Frank is not to be won by any woman handier with a 22 than he is.

The couple tangle back and forth trying to prove that "Anything You Can Do I Can Do Better—I Can Do Anything Better Than You!" But the tangle ends in a big snarl!

Cupid's bow finally wins out over Annie's gun, though, when Frank discovers that "They Say Falling in Love Is Wonderful."

The musical comedy is set at a high tempo and Annie's antics keep it moving rapidly.

Based on a book written by Herbert and Dorothy Fields with music and lyrics by Irving Berlin, the show mixes hilarious lines with talented displays of singing and dancing which creates much audience appeal.
