Barbs Fete 25 Coeds

Love Hall Wins Scholastic Award

Twenty five independent women were awarded scrolls for outstanding work in activities and scholarship at the annual BABW Recognition Dessert Monday night.

Love Hall received the scholarship plaque awarded to the independent women's house having the highest scholastic average.

The coeds receiving scrolls were:

They are Diana Maxwell, Nadine Calvin, Carol Kucera, Mary Lou Valencia, Lucille Happel, Ethel Oeltjen, Jackie Higbee, Jan Montgomery, Jeanne Woodside.

Sue Hinkle, Marilyn Waechter, Evonne Einspahr, Mary Verba, Dorothy Glade, Patsy Kaufman, Sharon Sternre, Ruth Roubal, Rochelle Herrengrader, La Ree Navioux.

Marie Gerder, Myrna Richards, Jane Saevner, Rose Tandi, Alma Heuermann and Sandra Foell.

"The dessert marks the 25th year since an independent organization started on campus," Doris Eby, BABW president said.

BABW grew out of this first organization, Miss Eby added.

Entertainment at the dessert included songs by Donna Auwaerter and the Love Hall sextet and a humorous reading by Sharon Russell.

Math Undergrads To Hear Sophomore

John Hartung, sophomore in Arts and Sciences, will be the featured speaker at the Undergraduate Mathematics Club meeting 7:30 tonight in Burnett 305, according to Fred Howlett, president.

Hartung will present a talk entitled "Interpretation of the Fourth Dimension."

Anyone having an interest in mathematics is invited to attend this meeting, according to Howlett.

Men's Fashion Change All Right With Students

Minneapolis (ACP) — Another small ray of light may have been thrown on the battle of the sexes in Associated Collegiate Press' attempt to find out how college men and women feel about men's fashions.

Results of a recent poll indicate that, although both college men and coeds are proportionately strong in feeling the present rate of change of men's fashions is all right, there are some who feel the isn't enough change. As might be expected, a substantially greater proportion of coeds than college men feel this way.

Student Opinion

To find out student opinion on this topic, Associated Collegiate Press, through its National Poll of Student Opinion, asked the following question of a random group of students in colleges across the country:

"Do you think the style of men's clothes changes too often, not often enough, or do you think the present rate of style change is all right?"

The results:

None of the coeds interviewed feel men's styles change too often, but a small voice nine per cent of the men think this is true. An even smaller voiced five per cent of the men would like to see more change, and they supported by slightly over a third of the coeds. In general, more coeds than men are undecided on the issue.

Men's Ideas

Of the men interviewed,

only the freshmen give no support to the opinion that there's not enough change in men's fashions. Small proportions of sophomores, juniors and seniors, however, do support the opinion. A breakdown by class of the college men who answered the question gives the following results:

Only the juniors are represented by men who haven't made up their minds on the issue. All of the freshmen, sophomores and seniors interviewed declared themselves one way or another, and the freshmen — exhibiting what might appear to be a strong conservative streak — are overwhelmingly set in their opinion that the way men's styles change at present is O.K.

Coeds in general would prefer to see men's fashions change more frequently, but the sophomores are proportionately stronger than the rest in feeling the present rate is all right. Nearly two-thirds of the junior coeds interviewed consider the rates at which styles change right now to be satisfactory.

A complete tabulation of coed class breakdowns is as follows:

Little Change

All of the junior and senior coeds interviewed are certain of one thing: that men's styles don't change too often. Equal proportions of the two classes feel they don't change often enough and those believing the present rate of change is all right also agree in equal numbers. None of the freshmen or sophomore coeds said they feel styles change too often, but there are some proportions each of those classes who haven't made up their minds on the issue.

In general, men in each class outnumber their coed classmates thinking that the status quo is satisfactory and, as might be expected, the coeds outnumber the men in each class in feeling that there should be more change in men's fashions.

Starkweather's Plea Changed

Attorneys for Charles Starkweather have changed the 19-year-old youth's innocent plea to innocent by reason of insanity.

Starkweather is charged with the murder of Robert Jensen of Benet, 17-year-old high school student, on Jan. 27.

Pulitzer Prizes Announced

James Agee's "A Death in the Family" won the 1958 Pulitzer Prize Award for fiction; Broadway hit "Look Homeward Angel" by Ketti Frings received the drama award; and the Little Rock Gazette won the Pulitzer gold medal for meritorious public service, it was announced Monday.

Gazette editor Harry Ashmore was named winner in the editorial writing for his editorials during the Little Rock school integration crisis of 1957.

Son Marries Dad's Ex-Flame

Dennis Crosby married a showgirl Sunday night dated several times a year ago by his father Bing.

Crosby, 23, and dancer-divorcee Pat Sheehan were married in a Protestant ceremony between her performances at a hotel night club.

Bullets End Flight

A pretty 16-year-old girl was in police custody in Gold Beach, Oregon, after police shot down her 36-year-old gunman boyfriend.

Dorothy Decker of Reno, Nevada, was captured after she and boyfriend-cousin Harry Thomas Hill went on a 24-hour crime spree in which a police officer was kidnapped and robbed and 4 other men were kidnapped.

AWS Booth Arrangements

AWS will set up activities booths for upper class women the first week of school this fall, according to Sue Hubka, activities mart chairman.

Letters have been sent to the different activities to ask them if they care to participate, Miss Hubka said.

Replies are due Friday, she added.

If any activity wishes to participate but has not been contacted notify Miss Hubka at 1342 So. 25.

The regular activities mart for underclass women will be held later next fall, Miss Hubka said.

Institute Hosts 40 Teachers This Summer

Grants-In-Aid Given For Science Study

First hand observation of the rapid developments in today's science and mathematics have been offered to 39 Nebraska high school science teachers and one from Missouri.

Under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation, grants-in-aid have been extended the teachers to attend the Summer Science Institute at the University. Special courses are offered to provide the participants with additional training in the subjects they are presently teaching.

Before being considered for the Institute, applicants must have taught science or mathematics for approximately three years.

Seminars, workshops and special courses included in the program will be conducted by University faculty members.

Dr. Walter Militzer and Dr. W. F. Wright, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, will direct the Institute.

KUON-TV To Air Boston Symphony

Concerts of the Boston Symphony Orchestra will be televised at 8 p.m. by station KUON-TV, channel 12, beginning Wednesday at 6 p.m.

This season's concerts of the orchestra, under the direction of Charles Munch, are being filmed in Boston and delivered to local stations.

The first concert was originally presented at Harvard on December 17. The program for this concert will range from Brahms' "Academic Festival Overture" to Beethoven's "Eroica," and will run for about an hour and a half.
