All Sports Day:

Jayhawks Invade For 3; Husker Hopes On Line

The Nebraska Cornhuskers will play host to the Kansas Jayhawks in a three game series this weekend that will determine whether Nebraska stays in contention for the Big Eight baseball crown. To stay in contention the Huskers must sweep the series that will begin with a single game on Friday at 3 p.m.

The Jayhawks are cruising along in third place with a 7-3 record. Nebraska dropped below the .500 mark this past weekend and are shackled in fifth place with a 5-7 mark.

Siebles vs. Miller

Coach Tony Sharpe will call on his pitching ace Dwight Siebler to stop the rampaging Jayhawks in the first game on Friday. Siebler will be faced by Larry Miller, Kansas ace hurler, who has shut out Oklahoma and Colorado and led the league with 50 strikeouts last year.

The Saturday call will go to Charlie Ziegenbein and probably Lefty Hevner. Ziegenbein lost his first game last weekend, but has a fine 4-3 record, while Hevner is 6-3 for the season. However, Hevner found himself last weekend when he pitched masterful ball for five innings against Oklahoma State.

Kansas will counter with Ron Wiley and either Gary Russell or rookie John Hanson. Wiley is a former all-conference outfielder who hit .356 last year and posted a 7-2 record as a pitcher. Russell saw action as a relief pitcher last year, but has started several games this spring.

Good Fielding

The Jayhawks not only have an outstanding pitching staff, but are also bolstered by fielding personnel. Jim Trombold, all-conference and all-fifth district N.C.A.A. first baseman, led the Jayhawks last year with a .371 batting average. Barry Robertson, co-captain with pitcher Ron Wiley, is rated as the best Kansas shortstop of modern times. In centerfield is footballer Bob Marshall, rated good defensively and the top baserunner on the Kansas club. Behind the plate or at third base will be Barry Donaldson, a fine long ball hitter with a good arm.

Facing the Jayhawk's pitching duo of Miller and Wiley, who finished 1-2 in the conference strikeout derby last year, will probably be the same Husker lineup that went against Oklahoma State last week. At second base Doug Sieler (.259), shortstop, Al Karle (.186), left field, Gene Torczon (.315), right field, Larry Lewis (.333), catcher, Jim Kane (.306), first base, Ken Ruisinger (.328) centerfield, Gary Reimers (.333), and third base, Jerry McKay (.175).

Five 'Most Valuable'

Five Nebraska football players chosen as the most valuable during their senior years, will be members of the Alumni squad which meets the Varsity, Saturday.

The five "most valuable" include Ed Husmann, Ted Connor, Bob Wagner, Rex Fischer, and LaVerne Torczon.

The traditional Varsity-Alumni clash will highlight the ninth annual All Sports Day program. Other events on the schedule are a baseball doubleheader with Kansas and a track meet with Michigan State University.

Award To Brown

Jerry Brown, fullback on the University football team last year, was named as the most valuable player for the 1957 season by newsmen following the team, according to John Bentley, athletics publicity director.

Brown will be awarded the Tom Novak trophy, established in 1950, by J. Gordon Roberts.

Additional Coaching

The Alumni football team which goes against the Husker Varsity in the feature of All-Sports Day this Saturday, will get some additional coaching help from Bob Davis, former assistant Husker coach. Bob will be on hand the afternoon of the game to help the committee on strategy for the Old Timers. Davis now manages the Hollywood Bowling Alleys in Lincoln.

Fisk: Tennis Star Earns Week's Award For Creighton, K-State Victories

George Fisk, who has lost only one match for the Nebraska tennis team since the disastrous Southern road trip, came through with smashing victories in his last two outings against Kansas State and Creighton to earn this week's Daily Nebraskan Star of the Week award.

George was the only Husker to win against K-State last week, and he played brilliantly in the Creighton dual. His record to date compares with the team overall record. George has a 7-5 win-loss record in singles matches thus far. The team has an identical season record.

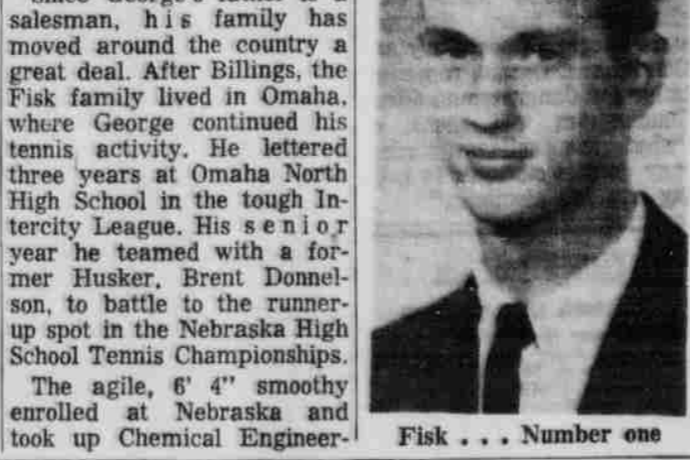

Since George's father is a salesman, his family has moved around the country a great deal. After Billings, the Fisk family lived in Omaha, where George continued his tennis activity. He lettered three years at Omaha North High School in the tough Intercity League. His senior year he teamed with a former Husker, Brent Donnellson, to battle to the runner-up spot in the Nebraska High School Tennis Championships.

The agile, 6' 4" smoothy enrolled at Nebraska and took up Chemical Engineering and tennis. He has made good in both fields. Improving steadily with each season, he has developed into a top-flight college competitor who is now working on his third varsity letter.

This year's wins against Kansas and Iowa State rated as the top thrills in George's athletic career. Nebraska had not defeated these teams for nearly eight years, and the victories were the first over Big Seven schools since the team nudged Missouri 4-3 in 1952.

Besides tennis, George has played handball, squash, and paddleball, games that are somewhat affiliated with tennis. He has been All-University intramural champion in each of the sports for the past two years.

Sports, Skirts??

Any resemblance to this column and "Sports in Skirts," which recently appeared in the Pixie Press, is purely coincidental. Honest.

I have the feeling, however, that readers of both columns seem to appreciate the newest one more!

Well, what can I do???? Of course, there are so many scandalous things going on in the intramural tournaments, the P. E. classes, etc. I just don't know where to begin.

We took a field trip in golf last Thursday for P. E. class. All of us went to the driving range! It was fun, until one lone boy appeared on the scene.

Actually he probably was just overwhelmed at the sight of about 20 girls lined up on the driving off mats.

Whatever the case, he promptly began giving it the best, at least the most persuasive performance of "I can really drive neat, I can, I can" that I've ever seen.

He swung that club so hard and hit the ground (and ball, too, unfortunately) so hard, that pretty soon we were watching him—just what he wanted, I'm afraid.

Oh well, he added a little spice to golf class, anyway!

N Club

There will be an N Club meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. in the N Club room of the Coleseum according to Larry Brown, N Club publicity chairman. The meeting is to discuss plans for initiation.
