average man can understand," he added.

Levitt noted that his column, distributed by General Features Syndicate, goes to some 80 newspapers in the United States and numerous foreign press outlets. "As long as I can help the people understand better what problems we are facing in conquering space," he indicated, "I feel my writing, like Dr. von Braun's television series, is beneficial."

The ion power question, asked of the scientist by a student, revolved around the problem of the most economical fuel available for outer space. Levitt indicated that the United States is still looking for the fuel which will highly sophisticate space travel.

A technical breakthrough is what the United States needs to put a human into space and onto the moon. "We hope that a human will go to the moon by 2000 A.D.," he said, "but a technical breakthrough in fuel might advance that date to 1975."

Artists Compete Saturday

27 Groups Enter Window Paintings

Seventeen women's organized houses and corms and ten fraternities will compete in the All Sports Day Window Painting Contest Saturday.

The teams of campus artists in downtown Lincoln store windows depicting the theme, "Husker Sports Cavalcade."

Trophies will be given for the first three places in both the men's and the women's divisions.

Nancy Copeland, new Mortar Board president, will present the women's trophies. Men's trophies will be presented by new Innocent president Dwaine Rogge.

The trophies will be presented as part of the half-time ceremonies at the All Sports Day Alumni-Varsity football game, according to Maury Niebaum of the Window Painting Contest committee.

Windows were assigned at a meeting May 7 of the team captains.

Painting will begin early Saturday morning and will be completed by 11 a.m. Judging will begin by 11:30 a.m.

All paintings will be identified by the groups preparing them, according to Wendy Makepeace of the committee, so spectators will be able to tell which campus group is responsible for each painting. Entries will be judged on originality, design, general effect and how well they depict the theme.

'All-New KNUS' Preen

Campus Radio Invents, Manager Says

By Herb Probasco Staff Writer

The present campus radio station at the University concludes its 9th season on the air this spring as the "All-New KNUS" celebrates national radio-television week boasting a full staff of 20, a library of over 250 albums and single records and a bright outlook towards its future.

Chief announcer Steve Brown, as proud of the station as a father is of his newborn, states that KNUS is "as sharp a radio operation as any in the Midwest," and has been cited by professional radio executives as "comparing favorably with and surpassing many commercial stations."

Inventing, Not Copying

Much of the station's success has come about this year, and Brown attributes a great deal of the improvement in the operation to new personnel and new ideas. "We are inventing instead of copying new program ideas," he states.

The personnel of KNUS is composed entirely of University students, many of whom are part-time professional radio people. Brown notes that this professional atmosphere make the station one of the most realistically run on any campus radio operation.

Also one of the best equipped of campus stations, KNUS possesses a modern control board with 3 turntables, a large studio and a spacious office.

The staff is headed up by a general manager, program director, chief announcer, sales manager, business manager, news and sports director, continuity director and traffic director. Under the continuity director are the commercial copy writers.

Completely Covered

News receives thorough treatment at KNUS. Complete campus coverage plus facilities of a national wire service are available for the news broadcasts every half hour, in addition to a 15 minute report each evening.

Brown also points out that KNUS has sports coverage of all home football, basketball and baseball games, being the only station to broadcast University baseball contests.

The "Fabulous Fiver Super-Sonic DJs" regularly spin the top-30 tunes campus wide, based on surveys each week in the University area.

Copies of the Top-30 can be found in all Lincoln record stores, the Crib, men's and women's dorms and on the ag campus.

Increased Average

Increased power brought about better campus coverage for KNUS this year along with a broadcast day increase to 11 p.m., thus making 7 hours of programming available to students Monday through Friday. This increase which put the station on channel 3 of Program Service now makes it possible to reach students in the men's dorm, fraternity and sorority houses, both Ag dorms and part of the women's dorm.

Next year Brown says that it is hoped there will be full coverage in the women's dorm. The new Student Health Center will also air the station beginning next fall.

KNUS' policy to serve the campus with what they want and to train personnel has become a reality.

Hill, a Nebraska alum and member of Sigma Alpha Mu commended the IFC on their action concerning the pledging of men in the lower one fourth of their high school class.

"You men get what you give," Hill said. "The contacts you make now will always be an asset which cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

Art Weaver was second with a 8.133 and George Eagleton third with 7.901.
