Miner Cops IFC Title

Delt Chariot Wins; Ball Suffers Deficit

Marilyn Miner, senior in Teachers College and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, reigned as queen of the IFC Ball Friday night at the Turnpike.

Miss Miner won her crown by riding the winning Delta Tau Delta chariot in a Friday afternoon contest.

Other members of the queen's court were JoAnn Haas, Alpha Phi, who rode the second place Phi Kappa Psi chariot and Harriet Feese, Kappa Alpha Theta, who rode the third place Phi Delta Theta chariot.

The Phi Deltas copped other honors in Friday's activities when Nels Knudsen and Don Liscott combined to win a special Tall-Short Mystery Race.

$800 Loss

The IFC Ball itself had a "poor turnout", according to John Glynn, vice president of the Interfraternity Council. The IFC suffered an $800 to $900 loss from the ball, Glynn said.

"Each house will be prorated for cost which is according to an agreement made before the Ball," he said.

Horny Cows Plague Grad

Herds of horned cattle in Africa caused problems for a Sand Hills native working as an agricultural missionary in a leper colony at Kabaji, Africa.

Carroll French, a 1954 graduate of the University who now works under the mission program of the Methodist Church, reports many varied diseases among the African cattle.

A squeeze chute, requested by French for use in treating these diseased animals, created some anxiety for him, too.

"I hope the chute will accommodate cattle with large horns," he said.

"Being a native of the Nebraska Sand Hills, I had little conception of horned cattle."

The herd of 90 cattle that grazes near the colony is mostly scrub stock.

Five hundred head of cattle to provide meat to feed the patients is the goal of the agricultural program.

Four Selected To G Theta U

Four University students have been chosen for membership in Gamma Theta Upsilon, professional fraternity for geographers.

They are Alan Best, Richard Hodge, Herbert Hansen and James Rooney.

Window Painting: Chi Omega, Delta Sigs Cop Honors

Delta Sigma Phi and Chi Omega copped top honors in the All Sports Day downtown window painting contest.

Second place trophies went to Alpha Gamma Rho and the Women's Residence Halls. Phi Gamma Delta and Alpha Xi Delta placed third.

Trophies were presented to the top three entries in the women's division by Nancy Copeland, Mortar Board president. Dwaine Rogge, president of Innocents, awarded the trophies to the top three displays in the men's division of the contest.

The awards were presented at the halftime ceremonies of the All Sports football game.

A special award was presented at that time to Don Stacy, secretary of the Promotion Council, in appreciation for his outstanding work for the University, particularly in regard to the contest, said Maury Niebaum, co-chairman of the window painting contest committee.

"An event such as this has been successfully tried at other schools, particularly during football season," said A. J. Lewandowski, business manager of athletics. "I feel that this University's first attempt at a similar contest was also very successful," he added.

The theme of the contest was "Husker Sports Cavalcade". A similar contest was planned last fall for the Oklahoma football game, but it was cancelled because of weather conditions, said Niebaum.

Committee members were Niebaum, Wendy Makepeace and Dick Gustafson.

'Congratulations' Ends Chatter Difficulty

In the spring at the University, one never need be at a loss for conversation.

"Congratulations," just walk up to everyone you meet, exuberantly utter this magic phrase, and you just about can't go wrong.

The response will be a pleased thank-you, and a grateful smile for having read about that persons particular claim to fame.

If they haven't just been pinned, engaged, tapped, tackled, elected, selected, appointed, sworn in, initiated, pledged, chosen, honored, recognized or crowned, maybe they have just passed an hour exam and deserve it anyway.

Bob Volk was elected new president of Block and Bridle Club at the regular meeting Thursday night.

Other officers elected were: Dick White, vice-president; Darrell Zessin and Byron Kort, secretary; Jay Cook, marshal; Tom Kraeger, co-historian and Roger Wehrbein, Ag Executive Board representative. Richard Warren, assistant Professor of Animal Husbandry, was again elected club advisor.

Ag Royalty, Rodeo Jam Filled Week

Kangaroo Court Enforces Denim Rule; Cowgals, Goddess Reign On Campus

Cottons and denim will be the order of the week on Ag Campus as the Aggies celebrate the annual Aggie Royal and Rodeo.

Festivities for the week range from selecting typical cow guys and dolls to seeing who has grown the bushiest beard.

And better wear those denims and cottons or the Kangaroo court'll git cha.

The four-day event will get underway with the Dairy Royal Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Horse Barn. Featured will be the presentation of the Dairy Royal Queen, a coed cow milking contest, and the dairy showmanship contest, according to Bob Paine, chairman.

Contestants in the showmanship contest have been working with their animals since Easter vacation and an outstanding show is promised, he said.

Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the Block and Bridle Club will sponsor the livestock showmanship contest. Events in cattle, hog and sheep showmanship will be held. The top showmen from each contest will vie for grand champion showman. Gold medals will be presented to the winners by a representative of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Aggie Royal Ball

The Aggie Royal Ball is scheduled for Friday night in the College Activities Building. It is co-sponsored by the Ag Executive Board and the Ag Student Union. Dress for the dance will be cotton and denim in accordance with the western theme.

The Whisker King and the Goddess of Agriculture will be presented. Music will be provided by the Tommy Tomlin Orchestra.

An American Quarterhorse Association approved show will be held at 8:30 Saturday in the Rodeo Arena. Entry blanks have been sent to horsemen in a five state area, according to Allan McClure, chairman. Orville Burtis, Manhattan, Kansas, past president of the American Quarterhorse Association, will judge the show.

The Whisker King and student officials will lead a caravan from city campus at 12:30 p.m. to the afternoon rodeo.

Rodeo

Rodeo performances will be held at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. at the Rodeo Grounds. All participants in the rodeo must be University students and be a member of Rodeo Club, the sponsoring group.

Following the evening performance, the Typical Cowboy and Cowgirl, elected by student vote, will be presented.

A Kangaroo Court will convene each day to punish those who do not conform to the ruling that only cotton and denims be worn during the period. Judges will be members of Mortar Board and Innocents.

The Farmers' Fair Board is coordinating the Aggie Royal and Rodeo Activities. Senior members of the board are: Roger Hubbard, chairman, Ethel Oeltjen, vice-president, Gary Berke, secretary, Dennis Sedlak, treasurer, Merca Dee Bonde, publicity chairman, and Carolyn Hall, Ag Executive Board representative.

Kappa Tau Alpha Honorary Picks Six Initiates

Four University journalism students and two faculty members have been selected for membership in the Will Owen Jones chapter of Kappa Tau Alpha, national scholastic journalism honorary.

New student members are Patricia Coover, senior; Carolyn Williams, senior; Phyllis Bonner, junior; and Cynthia Zschau, also a junior. Membership in Kappa Tau Alpha is composed of the upper ten percent of the junior and senior classes in the School of Journalism.

Neale Cople, feature editor of the Lincoln Journal, was named recipient of the group's Distinguished Service Award. Cople, 1947 graduate of the University and winner of the J. C. Seacrest Scholarship for Advanced Study in Journalism, also instructs an advanced reporting class here.

Dr. McKinney Wins O Nu National Post

Dr. Florence McKinney, professor of home economics, was elected national vice president of Omicron Nu, home economics honorary.

As vice-president of the national organization she is chairman of the program of work committee and a member of the executive committee. She will advise local collegiate chapters on their activities during 1958 and 1959.

"Acquainting underclassmen with the purposes of the organization is always one of the goals of Omicron Nu," Dr. McKinney said. "Here at Nebraska we have an annual tea honoring freshman and sophomore home economics students for high scholarship."

"A second aspect of the program is cooperating with students from foreign countries. A lot of this is done indirectly by the girls themselves—in the classroom and by inviting foreign students to their homes for weekends," Dr. McKinney explained.

Dr. McKinney is one of the few life members of Omicron Nu.

This year marks the new vice-president's twenty-fifth year of active membership in Omicron Nu. She was initiated as an undergraduate in 1933 at Kansas State.

Dr. McKinney will attend the executive committee meeting at Michigan State University in June.

Pollock Named Top Journalism Graduate

Speech, Initiation Highlight Sigma Delta Chi Banquet

Jack Pollock, senior in the College of Business Administration, majoring in journalism, was announced Sigma Delta Chi's outstanding graduating senior in the School of Journalism.

Pollock has been a copy editor and managing editor and was first semester editor of the Daily Nebraskan. He is now working on the desk at the Lincoln Star.

Pollock was honored at the Friday evening initiation banquet held by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity. Main speaker at the banquet was Victor Blue-dorn, national secretary of the fraternity, who spoke on the organization's fight against suppression of information from the press.

It can not be emphasized too often that government business at all levels—except that which is distinctly in the nature of military secrecy—should be transacted in public, he said.

Governors Poll

In a poll of the nation's governors by the organization concerning the matter of open and closed meetings, 24 of the governors stated a policy favoring open meetings. The statements of nine were too general for any definite qualification.

Ten other governors set stringent limits for the press' use of information. Another five failed to answer.

Governor Victor Anderson was listed among the nine who stated general policies but did not pin-point their views.

In 1957 the organization drew up two model laws, one to require open meetings, the other to require open records. The reason—31 states still do not have laws that demand the meetings of government bodies be open to the press and public. And 19 states do not have laws guaranteeing citizens the right to inspect the records of their government.

The campaign for the adoption of the laws has seen the passing of an open meetings law in the Michigan Senate and introduction of similar bills into state legislatures in three other states, with more action expected, Blue-dorn said.

New Members

Initiation of new members and officers for 1958-59 was also held. Dick Shugrue was installed as president; Lyman Cass will be vice-president, Bob Ireland will be secretary and the new treasurer is Carroll Kraus.

Undergraduate initiates were Ireland, Kraus, Ernie Hines, Del Hood, Don Willey, George Moyer, Sam Hall and Ron Spear.

Four new professional members were also initiated. They are Del Black, Lincoln Journal sports reporter; Loyal Gould of the Associated Press, Lincoln Bureau; Bob Bogue, editor of the Oakland Independent and Harold Hartley, city editor of the Grand Island Independent.

FINAL CONCERT—Lincoln Community Concert Association's Fifth and Final Concert of the 1957-58 season Friday will present "America's Favorite Ambassador," Carroll Glenn and Eugene List. Miss Glenn, violinist, and List, pianist, will appear at the Pershing Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Friday. 1958-59 Community Members will be admitted free of charge to see the husband-wife team that recently circled the globe giving concerts.
