three game series with the conference cellar-dwellers. Last week the Huskers grabbed two out of three games from Oklahoma to knock them two games behind the league leaders Missouri and tighten their hold on fifth place.

Oklahoma State, one half game out of the top spot will tangle with Missouri this weekend in a series that will decide the championship. The Tigers have an 11-3 record compared to 13-4 mark posted by the Cowboys.

Kansas and Oklahoma, either of whom could wind up in the second slot, will vie Wednesday and Thursday. Kansas is a game and a half out, and Oklahoma is two games back of Missouri.

Nebraska, with a 9-9 conference mark, is 4 1/2 games out of the money. They have a mathematical chance of winding up in fourth place if they sweep the K-State series and Mizzou take three from Oklahoma State.

The Huskers will be led in the conference wind up series by Jim Kane and Gary Reimers, Kane, who will complete his third year at backstop for Tony Sharpe's diamond crew, is the leading batter for the Huskers with a mark of .360. Kane has 18 hits in 50 times at bat to stand sixth among the league batters.

Reimers, a hustling little outfielder who stands in at second base occasionally, is in ninth place on the batting chart with a .340 average.

Leading the race for the hitting title is Oklahoma State's shortstop Jerry Adair. He has 19 blows in 49 at bats for a hefty .594 average. He is ahead of Nebraska's Dwight Siebler by 128 percentage points. Siebler is batting .466 for second place on the chart, but he has not played in a sufficient number of games to be eligible for the crown.

Oklahoma State also has the top pitcher in the league in Ron Peterson, who has a perfect conference record of 4 wins and no losses. Siebler is leading the Husker mound staff, with a 4-1 record.

DU's Grab IM Game Krommenhoek Pitches, Win

Bill Krommenhoek pitched and batted Delta Upsilon into the semifinals of the intramural softball tournament last night as the DU's downed Pioneer house 4-1.

The game was shaping up as quite a pitchers' duel between Krommenhoek and Pioneer's Larry Tetzloff until the last inning. With the score knotted at the end of five innings, Steve Finn led off the sixth by getting on an error. He went to second on a wild pitch, and Krommenhoek poled a long home run to left field.

The DU's added another run on a hit batsman, a stolen base, and an error.

The scoring was opened in the third when Tetzloff issued two walks and a single to Bill Edwards. Pioneer came back in the fifth with two solid hits and a DU error to tie the game and set the stage for the last inning rally.

Jet Refuses Relays Offer

Columbia Games; Meet In Conflict

Nebraska's Keith Gardner has refused an offer to compete in the Compton Relays to be held in Compton, California early in June. The meet conflicts with the British Columbia Games.

Gardner was invited to compete in the high hurdles and 440-yard dash, against Ed Southern of the University of Texas, John Telford of Wayne University in Detroit and Mal Spence of Arizona State University. Southern holds the best time in the nation this year in the 440 with the 46.1 clocking. Gardner has run 46.6.

Gardner had previously committed himself to run in the British Columbia Games, a Centennial celebration to be held June 6 and 7 at Vancouver, British Columbia.

The same Nebraskans who will compete in the NCAA at Berkeley, California, June 13-14 will make the trip to Vancouver. The Huskers will be running unattached at Vancouver because of an NCAA ruling.

Future Husker?
 Bob Cross of Boys Town crosses the finish line ahead of Ken Saunders of Columbus in the 440 in the class A district track meet at Columbus last week. Cross won the 440 at the state track meet in Lincoln last Saturday with a :49.0 clocking. Earlier, Cross had set a new state record in the 440 in Friday's preliminaries when he ran :48.4.

The End

The last week of classes, the last week of Daily Nebraskans, and the last week of skirts in sports... thank heavens!

I thought and thought (and I'm still thinking) about what to write about in my last column. Surely it should be something spectacular, memorable and lasting... I have strange misgivings about this somehow. I must not live right. Anyway, throughout this past year, I've explained, griped, complained, confused people, and exaggerated about P.E. Actually I don't hate it, I'm just glad my two years duty is over.

Good luck to all next semester's freshies and sophomores — you may need it.

Here's a word of warning from an old non-athlete: Beware of field hockey. I almost had my ankle broken: look out for softball, I got hit in the head with a bat; take it easy in body mechanics, at least I learned to walk; watch yourself in swimming, I practically drowned taking the skill test; be careful in bowling, I was on crutches a week after one game; to say nothing of pin-setting, when every moment in the pits means disaster; take care in tennis, someone broke their racket over my head; and lastly, be on guard in golf, especially if anyone like me is practicing next to you.

Sports—No Skirts

I decided it might be a fitting tribute, in my last column, to name a few sports around campus—sports that don't wear skirts, that is. But these people deserve recognition because of their undying loyalty and interest in girls' sports.

After all, as some wise journalist once said (Dick told me), names make the news. So here is the group just selected at random, and not particularly having any connections with one another: Black Art, Fredrick Holberto, Tiny Lady, Mom Sulkerson, Tom Paul, Old Samburg, Don Ding, Kold Joe, Roaming Jim, Shell Crane, Bosco Boy, Gone Geese, Hick Hedge, Rossy Vince, Straight Harp, Pro Herbie, Wicked East, Sinning Lot, Sassy Chuck, Son Loan, Robbin Robby, All Hob, Hare Race... that's all.

You know, a lot of comments are always made about the mistakes the Rag makes all the time. Well, there's a few in that iron-bound memory book, the Cornhusker, too! (That we were happy to notice!) At least a Rag can be thrown away into a corner and never seen again, but you can't hide a yearbook.

I wonder who that fellow is who's a member of both Beta Theta Pi and Delta Tau Delta. He's got a different name with each group, and neither one is right! The things a person can get away with these days...

Also noticed that poor old Jim Bunz will be sitting around here for another 11 years. He won't graduate '69... too bad.

Well, the Cornhusker really turned out pretty good—last year the Alpha Phis and the Alpha Xis were living in the same house. Get confusing, doesn't it???

Well, don't look too hard for Marlboro boxes, Phi Psi, maybe somebody will leave some on your doorstep.

What some people won't do for tape recordings these days...

Kubacki, Kane, Siebler Boosted For Award

... Junior Nominated

Two seniors and one junior are the latest Daily Nebraskan nominees for the Athlete of the Year award. Jim Kubacki, Jim Kane and Dwight Siebler were added Monday to a growing list that includes Dan Brand, Gary Reimers, George Fisk and Keith Gardner.

Kubacki takes the spotlight for his three year performance on the University basketball squad plus his fine play for coach Tony Sharpe's baseball squad the past two seasons.

The letter nominating Little Jimmie stated, "Who can ever forget the dramatic, last second plays that brought Nebraska basketball victories over Missouri and nationally rated Kansas?" The letter also mentioned his fine relief pitching during last year's baseball campaign and his brilliant, though brief career as a third baseman this spring.

Kubacki's letter of nomination also lauded the little fellow as one of the finest of sportsmen who was willing to keep hustling in spite of the fact that he was not on the starting lineup during most of the basketball season.

Kubacki received a knee injury in the final seconds of the Colorado basketball game. A recurrence of the injury forced him to the sidelines in baseball this year and seriously hurt Nebraska's chances of a Big Eight pennant.

Squad To Appear At Vancouver

Lincoln, Neb. — The University of Nebraska will be represented in the British Columbia Centennial Games at Vancouver, C.B., June 6-7, Coach Frank Sevigne announced.

The same athletes who will compete in the NCAA at Berkeley, Calif., June 13-14 will make the trip to Vancouver. Sevigne said the squad would be picked on the basis of their showing in the Big Eight Conference championships this week end at Columbia, Mo.

Kane was nominated for his outstanding play behind the plate for Nebraska's baseball squad the last three years. Jim has nearly been the entire Nebraska catching corps since his sophomore year and has developed into one of the finest receivers in the Big Eight. Last year, the Wisner senior was named to a second team all-conference berth and this year will bid strongly for a first team berth. Kane got a slow start in the hitting department this year but has improved steadily with each game. He is now hitting a respectable .325 for the season with 15 runs batted in. Moreover, against Oklahoma the past week, he fielded perfectly in two games to boost his fielding percentage to .980, a good record for a man who handles the ball on almost every play.

Siebler First Junior
 Siebler is the first junior nominated for the award. The right handed fireballer is the ace of Sharpe's pitching staff. So far this spring he has collected six wins against two defeats. One of the losses was a heartbreaking 2-1 decision to Oklahoma last weekend. Siebler had a no-hitter going for five innings against the Sooners and lost the game in the last of the seventh inning with two out.

During his college career, Siebler has had the dubious distinction of losing a no hitter to these same Sooners. Last year, Siebler pitched seven innings of hitless ball but lost, 2-1.

This year, Dwight has an earned run average that is mark, a good record in college ball. His average leads the Nebraska pitching staff. Siebler is also the leading hitter on the club with a .444 average for the first 21 games. Against Oklahoma, it was his single that scored the lected off Eddie Fischer.

Nominations for Athlete of the Year will close midnight Tuesday. The winner will be announced in Friday's paper.
