

Hardin's Greeting...

The sincere welcome that the University extends to the Summer Session students of 1958 is, for many of you, a "Hello again!"

But whether you are returning to resume your University work program, or whether this is a completely new experience for you, we are very pleased to have you with us.

The Summer Sessions afford many opportunities for learning beyond the routine of class work. This summer's program, for example, includes a series of lectures and forums on world affairs. The series begins on June 23 when Mr. Toshiro Schimanouchi of the Japanese Embassy, Washington, will be on the campus.

This is the first summer, too, that the Ralph Mueller Planetarium Theater has been in operation and I heartily recommend it to you. I am sure you will thoroughly enjoy your visit there and profit by it.

The 1958 All State Fine Arts courses for high school students are under way during June and I am sure that some of you will want to attend the concerts, plays, and the musical comedy which these young people present.

May I also suggest that you take advantage of the programs offered by the Student Union. Our Student Union, as you probably have noticed, is in the midst of growing pains. The services offered by the Union, however, are continuing and we hope you will bear with us the inconveniences that new construction always brings to a center of this kind.

I want to extend a special welcome to those of you who are coming to the University for the first time. This is one of the great educational institutions of the Middle West. For some 87 years, now, it has served as Nebraska's principal center of education. The University's heritage in teaching and scholarship is strong and deep. Here you have an excellent opportunity to learn amid a friendly atmosphere.

If you have questions, please do not hesitate to ask them. You will find your instructors willing to help and I am confident that as your acquaintance grows and friendships develop, you will find yourself enjoying one of the most memorable experiences of your lifetime.

The University is pleased to have this opportunity to be of service to you. This is your scholastic home and we are glad to have you here.

Sincerely yours,
Clifford M. Hardin
Chancellor

... Sorenson's Forecast

The forecast for the 1958 Summer Sessions should be of interest to all students.

The total University enrollment will be about 3300 students, slightly larger than that of previous Summer Sessions. Of the total number approximately 2200 students will be taking undergraduate courses; the remaining 1100 will be enrolled in graduate courses.

The largest enrollment, about 1400 students, will be identified with the Teachers College. It is expected that the Colleges of Engineering and Agriculture will enroll a substantially larger number of students than in the summer of 1957.

The summer academic staff of 264 persons includes 40 highly qualified instructors from across the nation. This staff will be assisted by 76 graduate students.

The greatly enriched program of instruction should be well received by students and their families. This program includes the carefully planned world affairs seminars, the clinics on the teaching of moral and spiritual values and attacking the problem of juvenile delinquency, also the weekly summer artist series and the high-quality film program.

While summer students will be inconvenienced somewhat with the changes now being made in the Student Union Building, all will be glad to know that in the summer of 1959 one of the finest Student Union centers in the nation will be at the University of Nebraska, especially equipped with its own airconditioning.

Sincerely,
Frank E. Sorenson
Director of Summer Sessions

Flight Acquaints State With Kellogg Center

Reactions Favorable From Trip

Nebraska businessmen and educators last week took a flight that may have as its ultimate result the construction of the proposed Kellogg Center for continuing education.

Two chartered planes took 34 Nebraskans to East Lansing Mich., for a two-day visit to the Kellogg Center at Michigan State University.

First reports from the travellers expressed highly favorable reactions to the sights of the Michigan 7-story hotel-classroom structure.

The Michigan center is described as a city all itself.

To Acquaint

The trip, sponsored by the University Foundation, is for the purpose of acquainting Nebraskans with the role of an adult education center.

Perry Branch, secretary-director of the Foundation, said the trip is preliminary to a proposed campaign to raise funds for a similar center at Nebraska.

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation in February granted the University $1.5 million for use in construction a $2.6 million Center for Continuing Education on the Ag Campus. To receive the grant, the University must raise an additional $1.1 million.

Architect Travels

Later this month another trip scheduled in connection with the Kellogg Center is that of Selmer Solheim, architect for the proposed Nebraska structure.

Solheim and some of his staff members will study existing Kellogg Centers at East Lansing and in Athens, Ga.

The men making the trip to East Lansing last week were drawn from throughout the state. The list, headed by Governor Victor Anderson included the chancellor and other University officials, men from virtually every type of business in the state.

The Nebraskans flew by chartered Braniff plane and in the governor's Air Guard plane. Individual representatives of some 10 communities paid their own way.

No Omaha representatives attended, although the group said 27 had been invited from that city.

Union Wastes No Time Starting Entertainment

The Union is wasting no time in starting its summer program of entertainment this year.

Wednesday, "My My Lincoln" will open the summer artist series as well as the Union recreation activities for hot weather students.

Fay Tracey and Norman Gaumer star in this adaptation of the life of Abraham Lincoln. The story is told through the eyes of the mature Mary Todd Lincoln. Paul Shyre, adapter of "My Mr. Lincoln" toured the country several years ago with his version of "The Theatre of Mr. Poe."

Curtain Time

The curtain goes up on the performance at 8 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. There is no admission charge.

Miss Tracey recently appeared in the off-Broadway production of "Playboy of the Western World."

Gaumer, who studied at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City, has appeared in all of the forms of the theater, including musicals, television, summer stock as well as numerous plays.

The play itself opens with the meeting of a tall young lawyer with a fascinating girl in Springfield, Illinois, in 1839. Through the eyes of Mary Todd Lincoln the epochal years are played out.

Other Presentations

Five other presentations of the Summer Artist Series will take place on Wednesday nights in the Union.

Nadja Witkowska and John Gillaspay are scheduled for a musical program June 18. June 25 the All-State Chorus and Band will give a concert. Dylan Todd will sing folk songs July 2.

Emanuel Wishnow will conduct the Summer Symphony Orchestra Concert July 16 and David Foltz will direct the Summer Choral Concert July 23.
