High Schoolers Taste Governing

High School juniors from all over Nebraska converged on the University campus Sunday for Cornhusker Girls' and Boys' State.

Three hundred girls registered for Girls' State. Boys' State attracted 324.

Groups met throughout the week, holding conventions, primary and general elections, and put state government into action by experiencing it themselves.

Two Parties

Monday the Girls' State delegates divided into 2 groups, the National and Federal parties, registered for offices, and held their primary election.

Following the general election Tuesday, the winners took part in inaugural ceremonies and assumed their offices in the Capitol.

Girls who were not victorious in winning state offices in the general election received appointive offices Wednesday.

Thursday evening, the girls will be honored at a banquet in the Student Union Ballroom, following a tour of Morrill Hall and the Nebraska

Historical Society.

Girls' and Boys' State will end Friday, highlighted by a dance in the Student Union.

"Girls' State has been a wonderful experience," said Judy Domingo of Weeping Water. "I wish it were possible for every girl to experience it."

Cornhusker Boys' and Girls' State is sponsored by the Nebraska American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Pre-College Counseling Cost Added

A charge of $15.00 for pre-college counseling service to Nebraska high school students, is not intended to discourage prospective University students, Lee W. Chatfield, Director of the Junior Division, said.

The Board of Regents approved on June 7 a University Counseling Service proposal containing this feature. Chatfield said that this figure was arrived at with the percentage of counseling cost as it relates to tuition. Chatfield drew up the proposal along with Clayton d'A. Gerken, Director of Counseling. Chatfield said that up till this time the University Counseling Service had performed this function as "sort of a state agency" without benefit of state aid.

The service had been furnished at no charge. Student counseling service for University students will continue to be given this way.

In counseling Nebraska high school students, Chatfield said that the Counseling Service hoped to help eliminate scholastic deficiencies of high school students before their entry in college.

'Forbidden Film'

"Forbidden Planet" is the movie billed for Sunday night in the Union Ballroom. The showing gets underway at 7:30 p.m. with "Tweety's Circus," a cartoon.

Pre-Fab Registration Faces Fall Tryout

The University of Nebraska has laid the foundation for a plan that they hope eventually will eliminate the woes of registration.

Mastermind of the plan which will face its first test with the new crop of freshmen entering the University this fall is Lee W. Chatfield, director of the Junior Division.

The plan is known as pre-package registration, or the completion of registration for freshmen before they arrive at the University in the fall. It is Chatfield's hope in the future to be able to pre-package three out of four freshmen entering the University.

If the plan works, we will eventually be able to reduce new student week from a full week to two days, he says. "Thus, we'll be able to combine New Student Week and fraternity and sorority Rush week into one calendar week."

The freshman pre-packaging plan will get under way with the official admission of the new student by the Office of the Registrar.

With the information from a form filled out by freshman and the results of placement tests taken during the summer, the Junior Division will send a packet to the new student. Included in the packet will be the college bulletin of his choice, an information and preference sheet, a description of social studies for choice by the student, a sheet explaining how to remove deficiencies; Reserve Officer Training Corps and physical education requirements; and a glossary of terms.

When the student has returned his preference sheet with the choices of courses checked, the Junior Division and Office of the Registrar will pull as many cards as possible for the student. Some students may be completely registered when they arrive for New Student Week, Chatfield indicates.

The success of the venture will depend upon the assumption that the new student will read and study the information, Chatfield says.

Degree Applicants

Candidates for degrees or teaching certificates must apply at the office of the registrar by June 24. Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Thespians Sought For Outdoor Show

Students and Lincolmites alike have been invited to try out for the University's summer theater production, "Charley's Aunt."

The play, to be presented in Pinewood Bowl, Lincoln's outdoor amphitheater, July 26 and 27, netted author Brandon Thomas a million dollars in royalties.

Tryouts for the production will be June 23 and 24 between 7:30 and 10:00 p.m. in Howell Theater in Temple Building. Harry Stiver, director, said there are 10 principal parts, six male and four female.

Persons interested in production work, including scenery, lights and costuming, should come to one of the tryout periods or contact Dr. Charles Lown of University Theater. Anyone unable to attend the tryout sessions should contact him by the 24th, Stiver said.

Rehearsals will not begin until the first of July and will be mostly in the evening, Stiver said.

"Charley's Aunt" is an unusual theater opportunity because this type of drama is very rare and will offer a very unique theater experience for those who participate," Stiver said.

The plot centers around two Oxford students who are expecting Charley's aunt to chaperone a luncheon to which they have invited two young ladies. When Charley's aunt never arrives, the plot takes one unusual twist after another.

"Charley's Aunt" has been translated and performed in practically every known language and is in itself considered a classic. It is considered one of the finest examples of the farce.
