

Intramurals Offer Variety Of Sports

Manager's Meeting Tonight Kicks Off IM Season

"A Sportsman's Paradise" would be a name befitting the Physical Education Building, the home of the University of Nebraska intramural program. As in the past, a sport for every student's taste is what the University intramural program will offer again this year.

Many incoming freshmen who have participated in athletics in high school will not be able to play on varsity squads at the University. The intramural program is set up to provide these students with a chance to continue to participate in competitive sports during their stay at Nebraska.

Higginbotham Chief

The men's intramural facilities are provided by the Physical Education Department and are under the leadership of Ed Higginbotham. Men participating in this program of Mr. Higginbotham's are competing in a program that is recognized as one of the finest and most complete in the country.

Mr. Higginbotham has arranged the program in such a way that every student will have a chance to compete in his favorite sport and compete in other sports which he may enjoy, but are unfamiliar to him.

The Physical Education Department also offers many courses that students may want to take to improve their skills in certain activities. These activities can help provide the student with much enjoyment in later years after graduation time. Some of the activities included are:

Archery, Badminton, Bait and Fly Casting, Basketball, Bowling, Fencing, Golf, Gymnastics, Handball, Squash, Swimming, Track and Field, Baseball, Football, Tennis, Volleyball, Body Conditioning and Wrestling.

The intramural program has set up some objectives by which they run their program. Some of these are:

1. To encourage self-participation, transforming students from passive spectators into very active performers.
2. Offer a wide variety of activities balanced between vigorous and light exercise, and team and individual sports, to meet present interests and future needs.
3. Seek to provide a welcome incentive to the far larger number of those most in need of a competitive experience on a reasonable equal basis rather than limiting itself to the few super-performers on the varsity.
4. Furnishes a wholesome outlet for otherwise repressed play instincts, and acts as the most effective safety valve against either dangerous and anti-social practices.

5. Reasonably safeguarding health by choice of activities, preparation for them, medical examinations, safety rules, good equipment and proper supervision.

6. Believing that social relations and attitudes can be developed through intramural participation by upholding high standards of sportsmanship, fair dealings with all individuals and groups, and providing multitudes of opportunities for leadership and cooperation.

7. The program should act as a proving ground for the discovery and development of high-class athletes who might fill the gaps left by graduation, or otherwise, in our athletic teams.

First Event

The introductory activity on the intramural program year in the Hole-In-One golf contest which starts Sept. 17 and runs thru Sept. 19. Those persons interested can secure additional information from their fraternity, residency hall, or independent manager.

All intramural managers are also reminded that there will be a meeting of all managers tonight at 7:00 p.m. in room 114 of the Physical Education Building. It is important that all managers be there because plans of the year's schedule and eligibility rules will be discussed.

KU Without Stilt

What will the loss of "Wilt the Stilt" Chamberlain do to Kansas University basketball?

Coach Dick Harp, who was supposed to have been furnished three national titles by Chamberlain, thinks the team will suffer primarily from the loss of height and speed. Not that Wilt was a 9.3 sprinter, but he did cover a lot of ground around the key-hole. The zone defense Kansas used will be very weakened by the loss of Chamberlain.

Coach Harp is hoping to fill the gap with either Bill Bridges, 6-5 sophomore from Hobbs, N. M., Dick Keith, Blue Springs, Mo. junior, or Gary Mowry, St. Joseph, Mo. senior, both 6-7.

Theatre Tryouts Begin Today

Tryout dates for the University Theatre's production, The Merchant of Venice, are:

Tuesday, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Wednesday, from 3 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

Thursday, from 3 to 5 p.m.

All undergraduate and graduate students, with the exception of first freshmen girls, may read for parts in the cast of 10 men and 3 women.
