

Counseling Service Offers New Study Skills Courses

The University Counseling Service is introducing a new study skills and reading program this school year.

Dr. Clay Gerken, director, said three different types of courses will be offered free of charge this semester, but no credit can be earned toward graduation.

For Freshmen
According to Dr. Gerken, the first course, study skills, will commence today for freshmen students who were in the lower halves of their high school graduating classes and for transfer students whose records are inadequate.

The second course, remedial reading, will run from October 13 through November 20. Designed to improve reading comprehension and speed, the course will be open to all students, particularly those who discover during their first weeks of school that they cannot cover their assignments adequately.

Reading Efficiency
The third course, speed reading, will help top-notch students become even better and will emphasize the importance of increasing reading efficiency to the maximum so that students can read more widely than they have in the past.

The course in speed reading, which begins Dec. 1, is open only to freshman students who were in the top quarter of their high school graduating classes and to other undergraduate students whose grade averages are 80 per cent or above.

Union Salesmen Buttonhole Frosh

It takes just $12.05 — to rid yourself of all the hucksters in the Student Union.

Not many students were that cooperative, but the freshman who wandered into the Union with a full billfold and little will-power last week easily could have shelled out this amount.

Frosh Barbecue tickets sold at $1, and no one should be caught without a Builders calendar — only 50c.

Red and white pens cost 30c. Or perhaps music is your love — $4 for a Community Concert series ticket. Cornhuskers run $5.50, and don't forget the Frosh Hop for 75c.

Loud Cries—No Numbers In Directory?

"No telephone numbers?" worried students wailed to each other with the discovery that the Student Directory cards this year had omitted that all important campus communications device.

The directory committee, however, said that the oversight might cause even more telephone numbers to be printed than last year.

Gretchen Saeger, chairman, reported that many students were asked for their numbers personally by the persons at the check stand, and that the rest of the numbers would be obtained from lists at Administration.

Miss Saeger added that the directories would be distributed before Thanksgiving vacation, and possibly by the first week in November.

Lancaster Rites

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret F. Lancaster, wife of Lane Lancaster, professor of political science at the University, were held Monday at St. Matthews Church.

Mrs. Lancaster, 64, died Saturday.

Survivors include her husband and two stepdaughters, Mrs. R. E. Hopkins of Lincoln and Mrs. J. Gordon Logue of Philadelphia.
