

KNUS Swings 5 Days A Week

Campus Station Features Music, Immediate News

"It swings," that's the word from Steve Hansen, general manager of KNUS radio, about his station.

Student operated, commercially sponsored, the University's campus station goes on the air Mondays from 5 to 11 p.m. five days a week.

Program director Pro Sherman has announced that the basic format will provide students with more music per hour than other stations plus immediate campus and world news.

"It's really a six hour program featuring popular music, a dash of news, sports and weather," Sherman said.

"Disc jockeys will give only the time and temperature between music, thus doing away with endless ad-libbing," he added.

Under the supervision of the Speech Department, the station will continue to offer realistic training in radio and a professional sounding entertainment media for the entire campus, Hansen said.

New Management

Because many of the students on last year's staff are currently employed in off-campus stations, the management of KNUS has changed.

Department heads are: general manager, Steve Hansen; program director, Pro Sherman; sales manager, Chuck Piper; promotion director, Mary McKnight; traffic, Dixie Helms; continuity, Beth Toomey; news, Jim Seacrest; and sports, Steve Greenberg and Bob Wirz.

Lincoln radio stations will cooperate with KNUS members in general station operation.

KNUS will broadcast all the home football games starting with the first game this Saturday at 1:30.
