

22 Members—

Debate Squad To Begin Season Nov. 6

The University's 22-member debate squad will be equally divided between veteran and beginning debaters this year.

The squad will open its competitive season the weekend of Nov. 6 at Omaha U.

Varied Civil Service Jobs Open

Science, Ag Trainees Needed

Applications for student trainee and training instructor positions are now being taken by the Civil Service Commission.

Student trainee positions open to college students are in scientific, technical, agricultural, accounting and statistical fields. They pay $3,255 to $3,755 a year. Some positions are located throughout the United States; others are open in the Washington, D.C., area only. Applicants must file before April 2 of next year. Anyone interested should see Civil Service Announcement No. 172 for full details.

Other student trainee positions are open in the veterinarian field. The salary is $4,040 a year. Veterinarian student trainees might be placed in the Department of Agriculture at locations throughout the United States. Applicants must be junior students in veterinary medicine and must pass a written test. Further information may be found in the Civil Service Commission's Announcement No. 173-B.

Training instructors are needed in the field of electronics. Positions would be at Keesler Air Force Base, Biloxi, Miss. Appropriate experience or education is required by the commission. Applications will be accepted until further notice. Full information can be found in Announcement No. 5-118-4 (58).

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the Examiner in Charge, Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners, U.S. Post Office, Lincoln, or from the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D.C.

Ag Team Places 6th In Contest

A University Dairy Judging team placed sixth out of 16 teams in the Midwest Regional Collegiate Contest held in Chicago, Ill., this week.

The contest was held in connection with the International Dairy Show.

Robert Paine placed first in judging Ayrshire classes while Harold Johnson placed sixth. The third member of the squad was Keith Glauhaus.

As a team, they placed first in Ayrshires, sixth in Brown Swiss and fifth in Holsteins. The College of Agriculture team was coached by Jack Kuiken, member of the department of dairy husbandry staff.

Panel to Discuss European Tour

The first in a series of panel discussions called 20th Century Highlights will be given Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in Union 315.

The panel will discuss the Union European tour that is being planned for this summer. Students from several midwestern colleges will be taking the tour.

Things to see, places to go and the way to go will be discussed by the panel.

Panel members are Barbara Bacon, Jan Charold, Burr Smith, professor of Architecture, B. J. Holcomb and Carol Larsen.

and Kansas State College. Two teams will be travelling in Kansas the same weekend for audience debates.

Donald Olson, director of forensics, said today that an expanded audience-debating program has been arranged for this year.

"Besides the Kansas trip, several teams will present exhibition debates in Colorado and the western part of Nebraska the latter part of October. Out-of-state teams will be in Lincoln during the year for similar debates," Olson said.

South Dakota Here

The first debate of this nature will be Oct. 18 at the annual High School Institute when the University will meet a team from the University of South Dakota.

This year college debaters will discuss pros and cons of prohibiting the development of nuclear weapons by international agreement.

Returning squad members are: Renny Ashelman, Barbara Bacon, Nancy Copeland, Melvyn Eikleberry, Phyllis Elliott, Donald Epp, Sue Goldhammer, Gary Hill, George Moyer, Richard Shugrue, Eileen Warren.

High School Experience

"Many of the beginning debaters have had previous debate experience in high school," Olson pointed out.

Assisting Olson this year will be Karl Harshbarger, instructor in speech, and two graduate assistants, Robert Kimball, formerly of St. Cloud State Teachers College, Minnesota, and Nance Hansen, formerly of Midland College.

Pub Board Applications Due Friday

Filing deadline for the student positions on the Board of Publications is Friday noon.

Interviews will be held Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. Applicants may sign up for times on a sheet posted outside Union 305, and fill out an interview sheet.

The Publications Board is composed of faculty members and three students—one sophomore, one junior and one senior.

The board will be selected by the Student Council nominating committee. Selection is based on qualifications, grade average and interest.

Insurance Plan Covers Trips

A new insurance coverage plan is available to students making field trips away from the University. The plan includes a lower rate and greater ease of application.

Staff members in charge of field trips now may mail to the Personnel Office a list of students and their addresses, the time of departure and return date and a remittance of 15 cents per student per day.

In the past, individual applications at the Personnel Office were necessary.

University travel regulations require that each student have at least $5,000 of accidental death insurance prior to departure on a field trip.

Olson to Speak

Professor James Olson, chairman of the history department, will speak at an academic conference and convocation at the University of North Dakota Nov. 6-8.

The conference, which is being held on the University's 75th anniversary, will study the heritage and responsibilities of education in the Great Plains area. More than 30 speakers will appear.

At the Stag

RICHEL ASHBURN, this year's National League batting champion and a native of Tilden, Nebr., will be one of the featured stars at the Union Stag Oct. 16. Ashburn is the centerfielder for the Philadelphia Phillies and a ten year veteran of the major leagues.

"Diary of Anne Frank"—

Curtain Rises Oct. 20 On First League Play

The first of the four Broadway Theatre League plays, "The Diary of Anne Frank," will be presented Monday, Oct. 20.

"Season subscription sales on the University campus are good but not tops," said Bonna Tebo, headquarters secretary. "Many seats are still available but Friday will be the last day $7 tickets can be purchased."

Homecoming Queen Voting After Rally

Voting for the 1958 Homecoming Queen will be held immediately following the rally from 7 to 10:30 p.m. Friday at the Coliseum.

Eight tables will be set up for the voting. Tassels and Corn Cobs will organize the voters into lines.

The five Homecoming Queen finalists will be announced at the rally. They were selected from 25 candidates at interviews Tuesday night.

The rally will start at the Carillon Tower, go down 16th Street and circle back to the Coliseum.

"We want everyone to be sure and turn out to vote," said Georgann Humphrey, Tassels president. "Remember, this is the entire University's Homecoming Queen and the whole campus should have a part in selecting her."

Young Demos

A meeting of the Young Democrats will be held Thursday at 7:15 in Parlor X of the Union. Frank Morrisson, candidate for United States senator, will speak.

Mrs. Jennings Acquainted To Sharing Mr. With Football

Mary Jennings, attractive wife of the Cornhuskers' head football coach, has to share her husband with football these days, but she's used to it.

The Jennings met during the football season of 1938 when Bill was a sophomore end on the University of Oklahoma football squad. Mary was the school's band queen. Two years later, during Bill's third season as a Sooner pass catcher, they were married.

Although Mrs. Jennings admits it's not easy at times to be a coach's wife, she doesn't seem to mind it as much as being a player's wife. At least she can enjoy games now.

"When we were married, Bill was still playing for Oklahoma," Mrs. Jennings said "and I was so worried about him that I didn't go to any more games that season."

Life as a football coach's wife began for Mrs. Jenginnings in 1941 when the present Cornhusker boss was head coach at Cushing (Okla.) High School. Except for the four years that Bill spent in the Marines and about two years when he worked with an oil company, she has lived this life ever since.

The Jennings were living in Fort Worth, Texas, where Bill was working with an oil company when a phone call from Pete Elliott brought them to Nebraska in 1956 and Bill Jennings back into the coaching game.

"He was tickled pink to get back to coaching," says Mrs. Jennings of her husband's decision to leave the business world. Jennings, like Elliott, is a former Oklahoma University assistant coach.

Excitement According to Mary Jennings, the life of a football coach's wife can be very exciting. However, she points out that anyone who

Slide Rule Instruction To Begin

Sigma Tau, national engineering fraternity, is again sponsoring slide rule classes.

The classes are open to any student enrolled at the University.

The primary objective of the classes will be to give the freshman engineering student an introduction to the use of the slide rule.

Multiplication, division, square root and trigonometry problem solutions will be taught in the classes.

Classes will begin the week of Oct. 13 and end the week of Dec. 1, meeting once a week at any of the following times: Monday, 4-5 p.m., 5-6 p.m., 7-8 p.m.; Tuesday, 5-6 p.m., 7-8 p.m.; Thursday 7-8 p.m.

The slide rule course was offered for the first time second semester of last year. Approximately 100 students completed the 6-week course.

Musicians Prepare For 20th Band Day

... Seventy High Schools Expected

Seventy Nebraska high school bands will take the field Saturday in observance of the University's 20th Band Day.

The bands, totaling 3,243 musicians, will provide the half-time entertainment at the Nebraska-Kansas State game. Prof. Donald Lentz, University Band director, will lead the massive group in forming the word "Band." In previous years the spelling demonstration was limited to a three-letter word.

The bands will play six numbers: "Band Day Salute," written by Lentz for the birthday festivities; "The Star Spangled Banner;" "Law and Order;" "Hosts of Freedom;" "March of the Cornhuskers," and "Dear Old Nebraska U."

Formation

Last year the musicians formed on the field in one minute. Lentz said he hopes to waste less time this year.

Along with the bands, more than 300 high-stepping baton-twirlers will dot the grass as they go through their figure eights, wrist and finger twirls and body passes.

The bands will begin their day officially with a 70-minute parade through downtown Lincoln at 9:15 a.m.

Route

The parade route will be: south on 10th to O St.; east to 14th; north to R; west to 12th; and north to the East Stadium. The reviewing stand will be on Penney's marquee, on the northeast corner of 13th and O streets.

Builders will serve the performers snack lunches provided by the Lincoln Promotion Council. University Band members will assist the individual bands during the day.

Parking on O St. from 10th to 14th and on 10th from O to the foot of the 10th St. viaduct will be prohibited during the morning, according to assistant police chief Willis Manchester. There will also only be two-lane traffic on the east side of 10th St., he added. Assisting the Lincoln Police Department in handling the crowds will be Boy Scouts.

Idea

The idea of a Band Day was conceived in 1934 by John Selleck, former chancellor of the University, and at that time business manager of the athletic department. Selleck invited 15 community bands to participate.

Eleven bands attended the first all-high-school band day under Lentz's direction. Since World War II, the number of schools participating has jumped from 30 to 70. This rapid growth necessitated the practice of inviting each band only once every three years.

NU-Meds Schedule First Meet

The first meeting of NU-Meds will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Bessey Hall Auditorium.

All students interested in medicine, nursing or medical technology are encouraged to attend. Meetings are held every second Wednesday of each month.

Speakers and medical films will be featured at NU-Meds meetings throughout the year. Rev. Rex Knowles of the Presbyterian Student House will speak Wednesday on "Medical Ethics."

Mart Fees

Due Thursday

Organizations' fees for the Activities Mart must be paid by Thursday.

The fees can be paid today from 1-2 p.m. or Thursday at 12:30 p.m. in Rosa Bouton Hall. The money pays for the use of the Union Ballroom for the Mart.

Sponsored by AWS Board, the purpose of Activities Mart is to introduce freshmen women to campus organizations.

The Mart will be held Oct. 14.

Freshmen women may sign up for activities at that time. They will be eligible to participate in organizations the following week.

Phalynx Initiation

Phalynx will hold its fall initiation Thursday, 7 p.m., in room 206 of the Military and Naval Science Building.

Twenty-one junior and senior members of advanced Army ROTC will be initiated into the group.

'Nebraska Reader' Picked for Display

Ottawa Conference to Feature 150 American, English Books

"Roundup: A Nebraska Reader" has been selected to represent the Midwest at the English-Speaking Union World Branches conference at Ottawa, Canada, Oct. 26-Nov. 2.

"Roundup" will be one of 150 books on display, representing every country of the British Commonwealth and of the 49 states, including Hawaii.

Building of Nebraska The books were chosen to give a readable picture of the countries as they are today and how their people live.

"Roundup" tells the story of the building of Nebraska through the eyes of native Nebraska writers such as Willa Cather, Mari Sandoz and Bess Streeter Aldrich, and sees the same state from the viewpoint of visitors, including Mark Twain, Robert Louis Stevenson and Rudyard Kipling.

Miss Virginia Faulkner, assistant editor of the University Press, was compiler and editor of "Roundup," a Nebraska reader of 493 pages.

It has been selected for the annual Fifty Books of the Year exhibition of the American Institute of Graphic Arts; was named as one of about 30 top honor books at the ninth annual Chicago Book Clinic; and selected as one of the 15 best books produced in the Midwestern Books Competition.

Favorable Reviews

The book has received favorable reviews from the Omaha World-Herald, Saturday Review of Literature and Publishers' Weekly.

The Saturday Review said, "This potpourri of Nebraska as seen by native sons and visiting firemen provides a fine sampling for those interested in Americana."

New York Publishers Open Contest

A $500 prize essay contest has been announced by Abelard-Schuman Limited, New York publishers.

Seniors in college are eligible for entry.

Essays are to appraise Dr. George Williams' book, "Some of My Best Friends are Professors," a critical commentary on higher education in America.

Freshmen are ineligible for this contest because of their insufficient time experience in college.

All manuscripts are to have no fewer than 3,000 words and no more than 10,000 words. The entry deadline is Feb. 1, 1959 when all manuscripts must be in the publisher's office.

For entry blanks, write to: Professors Contest, Abelard-Schuman Limited, 404 Fourth Avenue, New York 16, N.Y.

A prize of $500 will be given for the best essay. Winners will be announced March 15, 1959.

ROTC Honor Group Selected

Five Army ROTC cadets have been appointed to the Cadet Honor Committee for the 1958-59 school year.

They are; Cadet Col. Richard Hanzel, who will serve as president of the committee; Cadet Maj. Paul Smith; Cadet 2nd Lt. John Dillingham; Cadet 2nd Lt. Roy Stinnett; and Cadet 2nd Lt. Byron Speice.

The five men will act as an advisory board to the commanding officer of the Army ROTC unit and will have the responsibility of administering the cadet honor code. The honor code is the set of standards which all Army ROTC cadets are expected to follow.
