

PEK Hits Newman Club 1-0 Seaton I Beats Seaton II 14-7, MacLean Also Wins

Phi Epsilon Kappa stepped into the win column for the second time this season when they edged Newman Club in an overtime 1-0.

Neither team could score during the regulation playing period, but the Newmanites were within inches of the goal line during the second quarter. Mike Cowan, varsity tackle last fall, caught a short pass five yards from the goal line and ran the ball within inches of the winning score. However, PEK tightened up their defenses and held for the next two plays.

Phi Epsilon Kappa also threatened in the last part of the second quarter. Gail Heffelfinger hit with a long pass to his center, who lateraled to Paul Geisenhagen who ran to the Newman Club 15 yard line.

Gail Heffelfinger ran for five more yards, but the drive was stopped when Cowan intercepted a pass near the end zone.

The second half was played mostly near the midfield strip.

Phi Epsilon Kappa took the ball for the first four downs in the overtime. On the first play, Geisenhagen threw to Heffelfinger in a pass that covered 30 yards. On the next play, Geisenhagen passed to Heffelfinger for the touchdown. Throughout the series of plays, the PEK tailbacks were given good protection through the efforts of Bob Rudolph and Gail Baum.

Newman Club had their first pass intercepted by Heffelfinger during their series of downs.

Seaton I won another close game from Seaton II by a 14-7 score.

The first touchdown of the game was made by Seaton I. They scored on a pass play when Gage threw to Boyer for the six pointer. The try for the extra point failed.

Seaton I finished up the scoring in the first half with a safety. The Seaton II tailback had difficulty holding a low pass from center, that went behind the goal line.

At the half, Seaton I left the field holding an 8-0 advantage.

The third quarter provided another score for the Seaton I team. Again it was Gage throwing. However, on the receiving end this time was Jacobs. The try for extra point wasn't good this time either.

Seaton II made their only score of the game when they successfully completed a long pass that resulted in a touchdown. Their try for the extra point was also good.

In action last week, MacLean was forced to come from behind to beat Seaton II 7-6. They still held this lead until late in the third period when the MacLean offense began to roll. Linderholm passed to Jenkins for the score that tied the game. MacLean iced the game when they made their extra point.

Both teams showed good defenses which accounted for the low score.

MacLean also extended their winning streak, and set them up in a challenging position for their league title.

'Star of Week' Award To Clay White For K-State Game

By Normon Beatty

A husky 5' 9", 177 lb. half-back with a lot of hustle and potentiality is this week's "Star of the Week."

Clay White earned this distinction by his outstanding performance against K. State last week.

Averaged 4.9 Yards

Clay lugged the ball 12 times for 59 yards for a nifty 4.9 average last Saturday afternoon.

Clay hails from Toledo, O. where he played football at Libbey high school. It was there that the affable White experienced his greatest thrill. First, by making the varsity and then scoring four touchdowns in a single game while a sophomore.

The best player Clay has ever played against was Ernie Spicosky while in high school. Spicosky is now at Ohio State.

Although he received bids from five other schools, Clay picked Nebraska because he said it offered a chance to "get out on my own and see the Midwest."

Spirit

White, who is majoring in physical education described the team spirit like this: "It drops at times, but it seems to be up now. If we can keep our spirit throughout a season it will really help."

When asked about the future of the Scarlet and Cream, Clay answered, "We expect to upset a lot of the teams this year. We have the ability. It was our small mistakes that beat us. I'm confident we'll come through—starting with Syracuse."

Injury Bug Hits Huskers Fischer, Zaruba Status Doubtful; Harshman To Play Against Syracuse

When Nebraska's Cornhuskers head eastward this week for an intersectional test with Syracuse, they may be minus several key players.

Carroll Zaruba, junior full-back, who averaged 6.7 in seven carries against Kansas State, is nursing a bruised leg that may keep him shelved.

Pat Fischer, sophomore halfback, hampered the past three weeks by the flu and a bruised shoulder, is another doubtful participant.

Mistakes

The Cornhuskers made too many mistakes Saturday against a sharp Kansas State team. A back in motion set the Huskers back when they had a second and four for a touchdown early in the game.

A snapback from center that sailed over the head of the punter set up a touchdown for the K-Staters and an intercepted Husker pass paved the way for another.

Ironically, the Huskers moved the ball better than in any other game this season, but could not cash the yards gained into points.

It provides the Huskers with a 2-2 mark, victories over Penn State and Iowa State, losses to Purdue and Kansas State.

quarter and sat out the other three periods, was ready to go Monday.

One of the few bright spots for the Huskers against Kansas State was the performance of Clay White, sophomore halfback from Toledo. The 5-9 177-pounder came up with a 4.9 average on 12 carries. He had a net of 59 yards.

White is quick and hits hard. He was nipped from behind once when it appeared he might break for the entire route.

Nebraska's punting, which had been one of its top weapons in previous games, suddenly folded.

Fumble

LeRoy Zentic's tackle of Terry Lee, K-State halfback, caused a fumble that spurted into the hands of Captain Dick McCashland. He ran 22 yards with it to get the only Cornhusker points.

This will be the tie-breaker for Syracuse and Nebraska Saturday when the teams meet in Archbold Stadium in Syracuse. Each has won four in the series of eight games which have been played. The first contest was in 1917.

Returning lettermen Herschel Turner, Bob Harry, and Wayne Hester, plus squad members Bill Lundholm, Dick Shipwright and George Swank are expected to form the nucleus of this year's team.

Minus Nine Men

The Huskers lost nine of last year's team via the graduation route, but have picked up six good boys from the freshman ranks.

Former freshman stand-outs, Mel Harmon, Jim Kowalke, Albert Maxey, Elmer Walin, Dean Prazak, and John Cahill will add needed strength and depth to the Husker squad.

Turner, who was a main spark on the 1958 team, will be one of this year's big guns. The 6'2" junior is an amazing ball handler and an excellent outside shooter. Maxey, who hails from Turner's home town of Indianapolis, is also an outstanding player and will be a welcome addition to the team.

Commenting on the conference, Coach Bush said, "In the last five years the Big Seven has been chosen as the outstanding basketball conference in the country. It's now the Big Eight with the addition of Oklahoma State. I am positive that under the guidance of Coach Hank Iba, the Aggies will make the Big Eight just as tough if not tougher."

Kansas State will be the team to watch again this year. The Jayhawks finished their 1958 season among the top three teams in the nation.

Coach Bush expressed optimism about his squad. He said, "I am extremely pleased with our prospects despite the fact that we have a young team that is lacking size. But I am positive that what they lack in size and experience, they will make up in ball handling and scoring ability. Of this I am sure: you will see a hustling ball club with an intense desire to win."

Last year the Cornhuskers amazed the basketball world by knocking off both Kansas and Kansas State.

This year Nebraska will meet all their conference opponents twice during the regular season and will also play in the Big Eight Conference Tourney over Christmas vacation.

Non-conference foes include Northwest Missouri, Montana State, Marquette, Texas Tech and Detroit at home, while on the road they will face Minnesota, Bradley, and Michigan State.
