CAMPUS CHATTER
By—
Wendy Makepeace

Rainy days on any Campus are a dreary occasion. Here is a chance for you to brighten them up.

Debutorg suggests this new all weather coat. The outstanding factor of this natural colored coat is the lining and matching scarf.

Bright orange, canary yellow and a splash of green are combined for a gay addition to the lining of this stylish coat.

You have to see it to believe it. Only 17.98 in sizes 7-15. There is one for you in Gold's Campus Shop — Second Floor of Fashion.

to be made by the panel during their one-week tour. The convocation is sponsored by the University Convocations Committee and the Union Talks and Topics Committee.

Sen. Douglas will be in the Union ballroom at 2:30 p.m. Monday for informal questioning. Journalism classes will hear Stanford in the afternoon.

Serving Second Term Re-elected in 1954, Sen.

Douglas is serving his second term in the U.S. Senate. He has been active on the Banking and Currency Committee and the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

The author of several books on economics, the senator was awarded a $5,000 prize in international competition for his book, "The Theory of Wages." He was named to the presidency of the American Economic Association in 1947.

2-Hour Parking Is Here to Stay

Council Rejects 3-Hour Zones, Selects Pub Board Member

The University has rejected the Student Council's request to extend the two hour parking zones on the campus to three hours.

In an extensive report to the Council Wednesday, Jack Nielsen, chairman of the council parking committee explained the reasons of the rejection.

Nielsen pointed out that the dental clinic in Andrews Hall and the planetarium and Morrill Hall museum were used by the public and they needed a place to park.

The only objection voiced by the University to three hours limits other than around these places was the fact that it would cause a confusing, hard to enforce split system.

Nielsen asked for suggestions from any member of the council or from any interested students concerning improvement of the parking situation.

Renny Ashleman was selected by the Council as sophomore representative on Publications Board.

Ashleman is a member of the debate squad, the IPC rush committee, a former reporter on the Daily Nebraskan, and treasurer of Kappa Sigma. He is in Arts and Science college.

The council activities committee reported that they had been requested to investigate the worth of certain campus activities such as Coed Follies and the Kosmet Klub fall show.

Tom Smith, chairman of the committee, told the Council that, in the opinion of the committee, the decision to participate in these activities is up to the individual and it is thus up to each individual student to regulate his own time.

This opinion was endorsed by the Council.

IFC Votes To Support AUF Drive

$1,300 Granted To Hungarian Project

The Interfraternity Council unanimously voted to back the All University Fund in any drive it may sponsor.

A resolution passed by the IFC Wednesday night read:

"The Interfraternity Council recognizing the obligation of leadership borne by fraternity men of this university encourages its members to back the All University Fund solicitations and actively support any fund raising campaign which the AUF may sponsor."

In discussion on the motion it was pointed out that since Panhellenic had withdrawn their support of the Lincoln solicitations seven days before the drive started this would be a good opportunity for fraternity men to show their support of AUF.

The IFC also appropriated approximately $1,300 to the support of two Hungarian students now attending the university.

They will receive $5 per week spending money and $50 per month will be paid to the fraternity where they are staying.

AUF Collections—Community Chest, LARC Help Youth, Aged, Needy, Retarded

This is the fourth and last article in the series, "Where Your Money Goes," concerning contributions collected by the All University Fund. The articles will explain each of the charities to which AUF will donate this year, and the various purposes the charity serves.

Ten per cent of the money collected during the All University Fund drive will go to the Lincoln Community Chest, and five per cent of the money will be given to the Lancaster Association for Retarded Children. Both are local charities.

One of the Community Chest's main provisions is to provide permanent care for aged men and women. Twenty-six organizations are supported by the Community Chest. Among the organizations it supports are the Y's, the Ag YMCA and the University YMCA, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army, Community Centers, Missions, Family Associations and Veteran's Services.

There are six general types of services given by the local Community Chest agencies: Relief and Rehabilitation, Community Health, Care of Children and Aged, Military Services, Youth Guidance and Coordinating Services.

Studies indicate that in most communities each year 40 out of every 100 families benefit directly from Community Chest drives. Less directly, but just as concretely, everybody in a community benefits when a homeless child is given a home, when boys and girls find wholesome outlets for their energies in youth centers, clubs and summer camps, when community health is guarded and improved, and when family life is steadied and strengthened.

The Lancaster Association for Retarded Children school was founded four years ago by the parents of retarded children in Lincoln. Tuition is around $20 a month per child. It is supplemented by charity contributions. The only other source of income for the school are the annual National Association for Retarded Children drive in Lincoln and individual contributions.

Through LARC school, many retarded children are taught to take a measure of responsibility and adapt themselves to useful lives in a community. LARC school recently moved to new headquarters, a state-owned farm formerly used as a Nebraska home for boys. Nebraska University's old Student Health Center building was obtained by LARC to house a shelter workshop.

Besides contribution to these two local charities, AUF will give to World University Service, an international charity, the American Cancer Society and Muscular Dystrophy, two national charities, and the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children, a state charity. The annual drive will begin Tuesday.
