Delta Sigs Join Phis, Theta Xis In Display Wins

Oriental themes took top honors for Theta Xi fraternity and Alpha Phi sorority in the University's Homecoming house display competition.

Delta Sigma Phi's "Corn Huskers Den" was first place winner of the men's small house division.

"The Big Red Buddha," Theta Xi's display, showed a Missouri tiger bowing before a Buddha. Theta Xi was winner of the men's large house division and men's grand champion.

The Alpha Phi display, "So Solly", featured "Confucius," a 20-foot high animated paper mache Chinese weighing a tiger and a Cornhusker.

Women's Places
Kappa Alpha Theta won second place in the women's division. Delta Delta Delta was third. Honorable mentions were given to Zeta Tau Alpha and Alpha Xi Delta.

Second and third place honors in the men's large house division went to Sigma Nu and Kappa Sigma, respectively. Phi Delta Theta and Delta Upsilon won honorable mentions.

Beta Sigma Psi won second place in the men's small house division. Third place went to Acacia. Alpha Gamma Rho received honorable mention.

'Best Overall Displays'
Campus judges called the displays "the best overall house displays ever held on campus."

Judges of the house displays were Frank Hallgren and Helen Snyder, associate deans of student affairs; Duard Lagling, professor of art; Frank Clark, head of displays at Ben Simon's; and Norma Carpenter, advertising manager at Miller and Paine's.

Float winners in the Saturday morning parade were Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Towne Club and the Union.

"Alums Remember," the Sig Alpha float, took first place in the men's division. A series of cars represented the years in which Nebraska had beaten Missouri in the Homecoming game.

Ag's Takes Second
Alpha Gamma Sigma took second place in the men's division. Honorable mentions went to Farm House and Phi Gamma Delta.

The Towne Club's "Drag'n in the Tiger" took first place in the women's division. Fedde Hall won second place. "Close the Book on Me,"

2 NU Students Nabbed After Display Burnings

Sigma Kappa, KKG, Alpha Xi Suffer Pranks

Two University students were arrested after an epidemic of fires at Homecoming displays during pre-dawn hours Friday.

Eye witnesses said five men were involved in starting the blazes.

Names of two men who were turned over to campus authorities are being withheld pending further arrests, according to Sgt. John Furrow of the campus police dept.

Blazes
Sometime between 4 and 5 a. m. Friday, guards posted at several fraternities saw blazes start at the Sigma Kappa and Kappa Kappa Gamma displays.

The Sigma Kappa damage was estimated at $25, with all work that had been done to that time being totally destroyed, according to Nancy Herse.

Ron Seeley suffered burns on his hand and arm as he and five other Sig Alphas

Math Colloquium

Dr. H. L. Hunzeker, assistant professor of mathematics, will be the featured speaker at a mathematics colloquium Thursday.

The colloquium will be held at 209 Burnett at 3 p. m.

The topic of Dr. Hunzeker's speech is "The Torsion of Upshafts of Variable Cross-Section."

Largest Group of Jr. Journalists Expected for Press Assn. Meet

The largest group of high school journalists since World War II are expected at the 27th annual convention of the Nebraska High School Press Assn. Friday and Saturday.

The sessions will be held in the Union, at the school of journalism and other campus buildings.

Greater Pre-registration
"More schools pre-registered than at any other year," was the word from James Morrison, executive secretary of the NHSPA and assistant professor of journalism.

More than 130 awards will be at stake with the Journal-Star Printing Co. of Lincoln giving a sweepstakes award for the first time to worked to put out the blazes at the Sigma Kappa's and Kappa Kappa Gamma's.

Raiders' Route
The raiders apparently started at the north end of 16th St., then worked their way down the street, finally being chased off after starting a fire on the Alpha Xi Delta display.

Guards posted at Sigma Nu and Phi Delta Theta chased the raiders. Doug Keill reported that he and Gene Tice saw the car the five men were using.

Meanwhile Alice Baumgartner and Lois Johnson were standing the 4-5 a. m. guard shift inside the Alpha Xi

Sig Tau to Hear DuPont Employee

A University engineering graduate, now employed by the DuPont company will speak Tuesday at the annual Sigma Tau convocation.

Cecil Doubt will discuss "Know Your Fundamentals" at the 11 a. m. convocation in the Stuart Theater.

Doubt, who has been specializing in the process development, received a bachelor's degree in chemical engineering and mathematics in 1950.

He is a member of Pi Mu Epsilon, Sigma Tau and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers.

He is a native of Lincoln.

Delta house. Miss Baumgartner said she glanced out the window just in time to see two men in N jackets spraying something on the back of their display.

Slight Blaze
Before she had time to call for help, the men had thrown a match on the display. The blaze didn't catch on well.

The raiders had little time to try to start it again, for several pursuers had caught up with them. They evidently had a car parked nearby, Miss Baumgartner said.

As they were making their getaway, Tice took down their license number. He and Keill then chased the car all over town, Keill said.

Police
According to Keill, they saw some police and stopped and gave them the license number. The police later arrested at least two of the men near the Binet cafe.

The city police turned the names of the two men over to the campus police. No charges will be filed in Municipal Court, City Prosecutor Tom Gorham said.

Frank Hallgren, associate dean of student affairs, told the Nebraskan Sunday he was not at liberty to release any information about the affair yet.

However, Hallgren was quoted in the Sunday Journal-Star as saying the cases would be referred to the Student Tribunal.
