Turk Governors Tour Ag Campus Amazement Expressed in Inspection

Amazement was registered and questions asked by the six Turkish governors who stopped at the University Ag campus yesterday as part of a nationwide tour.

Dick Fleming, assistant extension editor in the department of information for Ag campus, spent the day touring with the group.

The governors, six of Turkey's 27 province governors, are "studying through actually seeing things," said Fleming.

A "rounded tour" has been planned by the U.S. State Department for them, including such sights as Yosemite National Park; a livestock show; the Ford Motor Company in Detroit; county extension services and Lincoln's public schools.

Many Questions Questions accompanied nearly every stop on a tour of Ag campus yesterday afternoon.

Some of them reported by Fleming were: "How many quarts of milk are produced by the cows?"

How much does it cost to keep a cow a year? What different kinds of feed are given to dairy cows? How many tons of fertilizer are used each year in Nebraska?

At the answer to the last question, the governors expressed their amazement. When asked how the figure compared with the amount used in Turkey, one of the governor's replied, "No comparison at all."

Turkey, in spite of the fact that it has been farmed hundreds of years longer than Nebraska, has not yet utilized fertilizers to the extent that middle western farmers have.

Republican candidates carried the vote for all Congressional and state political posts.

Approximately 2,650 persons attended Saturday's 1958 Homecoming Dance in Pershing Auditorium.

"We came out better financially this year than we have for the past several years if present figures indicate correctly," Corn Cobs president Larry Schrag reported.

The dance is co-sponsored by Corn Cobs and Tassels. Pictures of the band and crowd were taken at the dance for Downbeat magazine.

The dance was termed "the best since I've been in school," by Gary Frenzel, Student Council vice president.

Two amendments were unintentionally omitted from the ballots used, but all constitutional amendments proposed were passed by the voters.

Homecoming Fires—One Student Referred To Tribunal

One of the two University students arrested after the homecoming display fires was remanded to the Student Tribunal, according to Dean J. P. Colbert of Student Affairs.

Dean Colbert stated that under the bylaws of the Tribunal, students must be given a five-day notice, so the hearing will "probably be next week."

Information on the other student was not known by Colbert.

He commented, however, "I haven't discussed the matter with the police today, but I understand that the others involved were not students."

Eyewitnesses said five men were involved in started the blazes Thursday night.

Long Planning Sally Wilson and Suzie Swingle are in charge of the ceremonies that start the drive which has been in the planning stages since last December. The Union will donate the dinner to AUF as its contribution.

John Glynn, All University Fund president, voiced confidence in the success of the drive and said it would be "as successful as last year's in all aspects, except we won't get money derived from the AUF auction."

Sororities voted to drop their participation in the annual auctioning of AUF officials and campus pledge classes last week. They also voted to continue their part in the solicitation of Lincoln independents, but the Interfraternity Council plans to take up the slack by trying a fraternity voluntary solicitation drive of independents Nov. 11.

Once A Year AUF members emphasized the fact that they collect only once a year, and use the slogan, "You do not give to AUF, but through AUF."

Donna Scriven, vice president of AUF in charge of soliciting, said, "The AUF board is hopeful of complete support for the charity organizations which the students voted to support last spring. We're sure your support will give you insight into the worthwhileness of charity."

Six charities benefit from the collections of All University Fund. The World University Service receives 25 per cent; the national organizations of American Cancer Society and Muscular Dystrophy are allotted 20 per cent each; 15 per cent goes to the Lancaster County Society for Crippled Children; and the Lincoln Community Chest and LARC School, both local groups, receive 10 per cent and 5 per cent respectively.

Other officers of AUF in addition to Glynn and Miss Scriven are vice president Cindy Zschau; secretary, Nan Carlson; and treasurer, Larry Romjue.

Ditch Pride, Hit Books, Grad Warns

Swallow your pride and go back to your books if you forget a fundamental engineering principle, a DuPont Company employee told University engineering students this morning.

Speaking at the annual Sigma Tau convocation, Cecil Doubt, a 1950 University engineering graduate, assured students that "the principles used in industrial engineering will be identical" to those learned in school.

"Only the method in which they are used will change," he said. The fundamental engineering principles learned as a student "are valuable tools" in helping one enlarge his field of engineering endeavor, the former Lincolnite told the students.

Students should also know and use fundamentals in human relationships in dealings with other people, Doubt said.

Bridge Lessons

The second in a series of Union-sponsored bridge lessons will be today at 4 p.m.

Should Wanderlust Plague You, Union Tour May be Solution

By Gretchen Sides

Specially devised for all students with a wanderlust is the first annual Student Tour of Europe sponsored by the University Union.

The tour party will consist of 30 students, most of whom will be from the University of Nebraska, and two escorts.

"The major complaints from students who have taken the European tours has been that they didn't know any of the other tour members or that they were all older persons," said Jan Chatfield, head of the Union tour committee.

This type of tour party will eliminate that complaint, she continued.

The tour was planned by the Union board and Bob Handy, activities director of the Union, and other interested faculty members, with the aid of the Lincoln Travel Agency," Miss Chatfield said.

Best, Cheapest Tour "We've planned the best possible and the cheapest possible tour that we could offer consulting with many people who have been to Europe," she said.

The cost of the tour is $1063. This includes transportation, meals, tips and taxes, transfers, sightseeing and entertainment. The tour will last from June 16 to Aug. 6.

Miss Chatfield explained that many universities provide a similar European tour. "There is no profit involved. This is strictly for the students," she added.

The tour party is limited to 30 persons. Fifteen persons have already signed up, Miss Chatfield commented.

"Best Regions" "The party will tour the best regions of England, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, and France," she said.

The tour will leave Montreal, Canada June 16 on the Empress of Britain.

Then the party will whirl through Britain, sightseeing in London, Oxford University and Stratford on Avon.

Holland—the beach resort of Scheveningen, the Peace Palace, Harlem and Amsterdam—is the next spot on the tour.

From Holland, the party goes to Brussels and from there to Boppard for a trip down the Rhine by steamer.

In Heidelberg, the group will tour the University of Heidelberg, the picturesque Castle and the Student Castle's house.

After lunch at the Red Ox Inn the tour party will continue to Munich and from there to sightseeing in Salzburg and the Bavarian mountains.

Vienna Sights Next city on the trip is Vienna where the party will go sightseeing in the Cathedral, the Imperial Castle and other landmarks.

Venice, with its gondolas and shops, provides the next stop on the tour.

The party leaves Venice by motorcoach for an all-day drive to Ravenna and from there to Florence.

From Florence the tour party takes another all day drive to the "Eternal City," Rome, where they will spend several days sightseeing.

Then comes Pisa and it's Leaning Tower and after Pisa, the Italian Riviera.

Nice will follow and from Nice a day's drive through the French Alps along the river to Cannes and on to Grenoble.

Drive To Geneva The group will motor to Geneva where they will spend an afternoon sightseeing. They will continue to Montreux.

In Lucerne the groups will take a four and one half hour excursion across the lake and up to Pilatus Kulm, one and one third miles above sea level.

Several days will be spent in Paris before going back to London and from there to Montreal and home.

Further information on the European tour may be obtained in the Student Union Activities Office.
