

THE SUBMARINE SANDWICH is attacked by Judy Lang at the Know-How Jamboree for over 190 Union workers. The 17 ounce treat will be introduced to the entire campus when the Union grill moves into its new building.

Regents Accept Over $1 Million Outside Grants

Over one million dollars in research and training grants have been accepted by the University Board of Regents for the first six months of the fiscal year.

The Board accepted $291,924 in outside grants Thursday during its annual tour of outside facilities. This amount brings the total accepted to $1,084,934, as compared with $684,101 at this time last year.

Dr. John Weaver, research administrator, predicted that the University would surpass the $2 million mark this fiscal year, which ends May 31, 1959. An all-time high of $1.4 million was set last year.

More Regents

Twenty-five $100 scholarships were also added to the present Regents' Freshman Scholarship program. These additional scholarships will be awarded to the top 25 winners of the state-wide Regent examination regardless of school apportionment.

Under the present program 300 scholarships are awarded with one going to the top senior in each of 300 Nebraska high schools. With this program, Chancellor Clifford Hardin said, it was possible for three or four students from one high school to rate higher in the examination than the winner from another high school.

"With the additional scholarships the top 25 students, regardless of high school affiliation will be offered a $100 scholarship," he added.

Government Loans

The Board also instructed the Chancellor to obtain more facts on the government financed student-loan program before the University decides whether to seek the funds.

Hardin told the board that the University is approaching the time when it will need additional help on its loan program. Some Nebraska banks are now setting up loan programs for students.

Business Manager Carl Donaldson was authorized to sell Loomis Hall, 1411 North 37th. Loomis Hall is a former women's cooperative house which has not been used for the past year.

Two appointments were approved in other Regents' business. Dr. R. Burt Maxcy was appointed professor of dairy husbandry, and Homer Judge was appointed administrative assistant with the University staff in Turkey.

Maxcy

Maxcy replaces Dr. L. K. Crowe, who will be on a two year assignment with the Nebraska Field Mission in Turkey. Maxcy has been in private industry in Chicago, Ill., for the past six years.

Judge has been community development advisor for the Near East Foundation in Iran for the past four years.

The resignation of Helen Rocke, effective Dec. 21, as associated extension home economist, was also accepted. She has been a member of the staff since 1925.

The low bid of $51,780 for improvement of the University power plant was accepted by the Board. Ray Martin Company, of Lincoln, will take the job, including the building of a pipe line to the former Elgin building.

The Board also received a resolution from the Fish and Game Committee of the Legislative Council asking that a meeting be held between the University Regents and State Game Commission. The meeting, which was tentatively set for Nov. 15, will concern the joint use of the Ft. Robinson Beef Development Station.

Prep Journalists Gather

UPI Supervisor, Dean to Speak

Murray Moler of United Press International will be keynote speaker today at a convocation of Nebraska High School Press Association.

"Incongruous Places I've Been, or What the Heck was I Doing There?" is the topic of Moler's talk. He is district supervisor from Omaha for UPI.

Awards Spark Press Contests

A brand-new sweepstakes award will be the highlight of the 27th annual Nebraska High School Press Association convention today and Saturday.

Some 650 high school students have pre-registered for the convention, which is sponsored by the School of Journalism and the High School Press Association. The number is the largest since World War II.

Fifty-two high schools have registered their students for the convention.

The sweepstakes award, to be presented by the Journal-Star Printing Co., will go to the school which accumulates the most points in journalism contests. Fred Seacrest, co-publisher of The Lincoln Journal, will present the trophy Saturday at an awards banquet to the school whose students amass the most points in 14 contests Friday.

Besides the contests, the prep journalists will face a full schedule of panels, tours, parties, sectional meetings and exhibits.

NU Students Help

University students will be playing a large part in the convention, with two organizations administering and judging contests and another offering an award.

Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, men's and women's respective professional journalistic fraternities, will judge the Friday contests. Gamma Alpha Chi, women's professional advertising fraternity, will present an award for the best promotional idea developed by a student publication in Nebraska.

Members of the Cornhusker and Daily Nebraskan staffs will conduct panels Saturday on yearbook and school newspaper. Sharon McDonald, Carolyn Lang, Nancy Lewis, Sue-Ann Schnable and Bobbie Jo Bible will be on the yearbook panel.

Emmie Limpo, Gretchen Sides, Diana Maxwell and George Moyer will compose the newspaper panel. Dr. Robert Cranford, professor of journalism, is chairman of both panels.

Registration of delegates is 8 a.m. to noon today. The first general session is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 11:30.

An advisers' luncheon will be held at noon in Parlor X, Union. Contests will be held from 1-2:30 p.m.

Panel Discussions

Sectional meetings are scheduled for 2:30 and 3:30 p.m. Friday and 9, 10 and 11 a.m. Saturday. These sectional meetings consist of panels which discuss various phases of high school publications. Speakers at many of the panels are high school students, with the chairmen being either advisers, professional newsmen or professors.

Kappa Alpha Mu, professional photographic society, will play a dual role in the convention. KAM students will take a picture story of the convention for publicity and record purposes, and will take pictures of first place winners in all contests. Since schools are broken down in three categories according to size, this will mean taking 42

Parking Change Approved SC Amends Resolution

The Student Council has amended its Oct. 15 resolution asking for extension of the two-hour parking limit on campus.

Jack Nielsen, chairman of the council parking committee, reported that the committee wished to change the resolution to ask the University to extend the parking zones "on 16th between Vine and Q and on S St. between 14th and 16th" to three hours or more.

Nielsen explained the reason for this change was that the University had pointed out that the two-hour parking zones along 14th were needed for the dental clinic patients, visitors to Morrill Hall, etc.

This resolution was passed unanimously by the council.

In his first official report to the council, Larry Novicki, chairman of the new campus beautification committee, reported on immediate and future plans for campus beautification.

Novicki described future plans for the area between Love Library and the Coliseum which would include removing the 27 parking spaces in this area.

He stated that the first two projects of the committee would be to provide more stone benches of the type outside Love Library for the rest of the campus and to beautify the area between Morrill and Burnett halls.

Chuck Huston of the Council final exam committee reported that several students had approached him asking that the Council investigate the possibility of asking the University to go back to a two-week period for final exams.

The reason for the request for a return to a two-week period instead of the eight day schedule now in use is to give students a chance to review during the first three days during which no exams would be held.

A poll of student opinion on the matter was proposed, but no action was taken pending further checking with the faculty final exam committee.

When it was pointed out in the discussion on the matter that the earliest possible date for the change would be 1961, the Council president remarked, "Well in any case we can at least help our children."

NU Prof Elected Obstetrics Fellow

Dr. Roy Holly has been elected a Fellow of the American Association of Obstetricians and Gynecologists.

Professor and Chairman of the department of obstetrics and gynecology at the University College of Medicine since 1954, Dr. Holly was educated at the University of Minnesota. After receiving his M.D. and Ph.D. degrees, he was also a faculty member of that institution.

Another honor will come to Dr. Holly in May, when he will become an associate examiner for the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology.

NU Student Dies

Donald Camerzell, 22, senior in Teachers College, died Wednesday in a Lincoln hospital of a kidney ailment, according to University officials.

Camerzell had been ill for some time, officials said. His home was in Scottsbluff.

The other major speaker at the NHPA convention represents the academic side of journalism. He is Dr. Gayle Waldrop, dean of the College of Journalism at the University of Colorado.

Dr. Waldrop will speak on "The Awards and Rewards of Journalism" at an awards luncheon Saturday in the Student Union.

In his work with UPI Moler covered the atom bomb experiments and developments and was one of the first American correspondents into atomized Hiroshima. He is Nebraska chairman of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society.

Dr. Waldrop is vice-chairman of the American Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism and served as a Fulbright lecturer in Finland, 1955-1956.

Dr. Rex Knowles will be speaker at a banquet Friday at 6:30 p.m. in the Union.

Dr. Knowles, Congregational- Presbyterian student pastor at the University, will speak on "What is YOUR Line?"

Other speakers include representatives of national journalistic societies.

Lester Benz, executive secretary of Quill and Scroll Society, will speak at the general session Friday.

Elizabeth Jacobs, University student and national president of Kappa Alpha Mu, photographic society, will also speak.

Others working with the convention, either speaking, presenting awards, or conducting panels include:

Dr. William Hall, director of the School of Journalism; James Kirkman, advertising manager, North Platte Telegraph Bulletin; Dick Jung, representative, American Yearbook Company; William Oliver, manager, the Delmar Studios, Omaha; Bob Stevenson, manager, Northeast Printers, Lincoln.

Don Harpst, editor and publisher, The Curtis Enterprise; Fred Rose, editor and publisher, The Bayard Transcript; Robert Pickett, manager, duplicating department, Linsch Bros., Lincoln; Prof. Ray Muzich, assistant professor of journalism; John Gebbie, editor and publisher, The Bellevue Press; Robert Munster, sports staff, The Lincoln Journal.

Everett Waters, editor and publisher, The Bertrand Herald; Dr. Robert Cranford, associate professor of journalism; Mrs. James Morrison, former high school principal; David Clark, journalism instructor; Richard Armat, production manager, the Hastings Daily Tribune; Arch Jansell, editor, the Grand Island Independent; William Bell, Nebraska City; Ron Speer, sports staff, The Lincoln Star.

William Miller, advertising manager, The Kearney Hub; H. M. Crilly, editor and publisher, The Superior Express; Jack Lough, editor and publisher, The Albion News and Herb Arnbrust, youth activities director, The Omaha World-Herald.

Panhell Pledges AUF Aid

Panhellenic pledged its full support to the All University Fund, in a letter to the Daily Nebraskan Thursday.

The letter followed a pledge of support to AUF made by the Interfraternity Council last week.

Earlier, Panhellenic had voted to discontinue AUF Auction and participation in the independent solicitation.

However each of the 15 sororities have agreed to give as much of their money and time in solicitation as possible.

'Kangaroos' On Screen Today

"Kangaroo Continent," a color film of Australian wildlife, will be presented today at 4 and 8 p.m. in Love Library Auditorium.

Commentary on the film will be given by Patricia Witherspoon of Denver.

Tickets may be obtained from the bureau of audio-visual instruction or Morrill Hall museum.

Insect Research

Representatives from 12 states and the U.S. Department of Agriculture are meeting at the University this week to discuss two crop insects.

News May Spring From Convocation

Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois and three Washington news correspondents will attempt to create a front-page story during a "Break the News" panel Monday.

The panel will be presented during an All University Convocation at 11 a.m. in the Coliseum. Classes will be dismissed and the program is open to the public without admission charge.

During the unrehearsed presentation, the newsmen will question the senator on areas of current news interest in national and international affairs. The panel will then be open to questions from the audience.

Appearing with Sen. Douglas are Kenneth Crawford, Newsweek bureau chief and senior editor for National Affairs; Neal Stanford, Christian Science Monitor bureau chief and national columnist; and John Metcalf, editor of "Background," a Washington newsletter on world and national affairs. Metcalf will moderate.

Sen. Douglas was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1948 and re-elected in 1954. He has been an active member of the Banking and Currency Committee and of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee.

At 2 p.m. Sen. Douglas will appear in the Union ballroom for an informal question session. Mr. Stanford will speak to journalism classes in the afternoon.

Thirteen Talent Acts Readied

Greenberg Adkins

Greenberg, Adkins, Fill NU Regents

Richard Adkins, third district, and Dr. B. N. Greenberg, fourth district, apparently have been elected to fill positions on the University Board of Regents.

Adkins, 38, is a stock raiser and feeder-farmer and Osmond banker. A former board member of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association, he graduated from Grinnell College, Iowa. He leads his opponent William Spear of Fremont by more than 2,000 votes.

Dr. Greenberg of York has been a Regent since 1953 and is a former president of the group. He was an honorary innocent at the University. He defeated Mrs. Margaret Christensen by nearly 4,000 votes.

No Sunday Movies

There will be no Sunday night movies shown for four weeks since other events are scheduled for the Union ballroom.

"Mutiny on the Bounty" is slated for showing on Dec. 7.

Kellogg Fund Gets $55,500

Lincoln Banks Major Givers

New contributions toward the proposed $2.6 million Center for Continuing Education at the University of Nebraska total $55,500.

Five Lincoln banks pledged $53,000 to be paid in four yearly payments.

North Platte

Contributions of $1,500 from the First National Bank of North Platte and $1,000 from the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin were also received by the University Foundation.

The banks which contributed are the First National Bank, the National Bank of Commerce, the Continental National Bank, the Citizens State Bank, the Havelock National Bank and the Union Bank.

The donations were in response to the present statewide drive to raise $1.1 million as the University's share in the construction of the Center.

If the University raises its share this year, the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Mich., will add another $1.5 million for the construction cost and $386,000 to finance the initial phase of the Center's program.

Increase Agenda

The Center will allow the University to increase its offerings of short courses, conferences, and institutes. It will be located at the College of Agriculture.

Committees to aid in the fund drive were formed in Lincoln Wednesday evening.

Heading the committees are Lester Torgeson of Kimball, chairman of the Kimball County committee, and H. D. Kosman and Al Williams, both of Scottsbluff, co-chairmen of the Scotts Bluff County committee.

A fund drive committee, headed by Gerald Gentleman, was formed at North Platte earlier this week.

Orchesis Initiation

Eleven new members have been selected for membership in Orchesis, modern dance group.

They are Leah Chevront, Karen Costin, Ingrid Dzenis, Judy Grazier, Linda Harm, Glenda Luff, Judy Means, Ann Nordquist, Betty Noerrlinger, Beverly Ruck and Gail Simon.

Initiation for the new members will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the Union.
