

SENATOR PAUL DOUGLAS was showered with questions from panelists John Metcalf, Neal Stanford and Kenneth Crawford at the All University Convocation Monday.

Douglas Broadens Ike, Dulles Formosa Policy at Convocation

... Favors Civil Rights Bill

President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles came under fire yesterday as Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas criticized their handling of the Formosa situation.

Speaking before an All-University Convocation, the senator from Illinois answered questions posed by a panel of newsmen—Kenneth Crawford of Newsweek, Neal Stanford of the Christian Science Monitor and John Metcalf, Washington news analyst.

"Agile Young Lady"

Dulles' foreign policy could be compared, said Sen. Douglas, to an "agile young lady rotating a hula-hoop." The senator said Dulles first adopted a "standfast" policy, then a "withdrawal" policy regarding the islands off the coast of Red China.

"I don't think the president knows what's going on," said the Democratic senator, still speaking of Formosa.

Formosa is an essential link in a chain of islands,

Sen. Douglas pointed out. Its loss could mean the loss of the Philippines.

Against UN, Control

The senator objected to United Nation's control of the islands which would be so weak that it would invite communistic infiltration.

The recent elections were "primarily a vote of no confidence in the Republican party, not a vote of confidence in the Democrats," said Sen. Douglas.

Most of the men elected were liberal, Democrats or Republicans, an "indication that the country is moving towards liberalism," he said.

"The recession had a big influence on the election," commented the Illinois senator. The Republicans were hurt in the election first by refusing to recognize the recession and second by failing to take steps to correct it.

Civil Rights

The Democratic senator spoke in favor of civil rights. "A preliminary road block (to civil rights legislation) that will have to be removed is rule 22." This Senate rule, he explained, permits almost unlimited debate by senators.

Two previous attempts to change the rule were unsuccessful but the Senator said he felt that support of such a change was steadily increasing.

Potential candidates for the Democratic nomination for president in 1960 were listed by Sen. Douglas.

They were Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

"Don't be foolish," replied Sen. Douglas when asked if he were willing to accept the 1960 presidential nomination.

"I'm now 66 years of age," he commented, "a marvelous age for a senator but a poor age for a president."

Students Question Stanford

Discussion revolved around politics and journalism as potential newsmen questioned veteran newsman Neal Stanford yesterday.

Stanford, a Washington correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor, told journalism students that labor investigations would probably tone down now that the Democrats have gained control of Congress.

Information, he commented, is more difficult to obtain under the Eisenhower administration than it was when the Democrats were in power.

"The Republican party has become a minority party," the Washington correspondent said.

"The party has to, possibly, shift its base a little closer to social issues, as Rockefeller did in New York," he added.

Moon Show Simulates Trip

"The Moon Show" began Sunday as the new feature at the Ralph Mueller Planetarium.

Observers will explore the moon by taking an imaginary trip to the moon. The conditions that would be met and the appearance of the sun, stars and other planets from the moon will be discussed.

The show will run until Dec. 1, when a special Christmas show will begin. The moon show will again be shown in January.

Narrators are George Eagleton, Douglas Kent, John Howe and Vale Kane. Shows are given at 2:45 p.m. Monday through Friday, 8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, 10:30 a.m. Saturday and 2:15 and 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Poetry Readings

The second of a series of poetry readings sponsored by the English department and Art Galleries, will be held tonight.

The program entitled, "People of the Old West," begins at 8:30 p.m. at the University Art Galleries, Morrill Hall. There will be no admission charge.

Talent Show Guitarist, Pianist Tie For First

A pianist and a guitarist tied for first place in the University Talent Show which was attended by a capacity crowd Sunday.

First place trophies will be given to both Bill Gingles, who performed "Scherzo in B Minor" on the piano, and Leonard Kluthe, who accompanied himself on the guitar as he sang novelty numbers.

Dixie Lee Teebken stole second place with an exhibition of baton twirling with fire batons. Third place winners were The Nebraskans, a vocal "barbershop quartet consisting of Jim Pinkerton, Ken Peterson, Wayne Robertson and Karl Bauman.

The contestants were judged on ability presentation, and audience appeal. The five judges who picked the winners were Van Westover, assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs; Dallas Williams, University Theatre; Rod Walker, co-chairman of Sigma; Betty Jean Holcomb, law student formerly with KUON-TV and Sharon Johnson, president of Delta Omicron music sorority.

Mike Breiner of Bradshaw entertained with his guitar as master of ceremonies. An exhibition ballroom dancer from Lincoln Air Force Base, Clarence Garrett, also performed.

Others featured in the show were "The Mary Anns"—Mary Anne Timmons, Mary Ann Ryan and Mary Ann Harris—vocal trio; Terry Moshier, pianist; Karma Anderson, vocalist; "Four Hits and a Miss"—Kent Murray, Merlin Montgomery, Martyn Bowden, Rich Lenington and Lexy Lou Bell—vocal quintet.

Karen Costin, modern jazz dancer; Gary Rosenblum, vocalist; John Biere, humorous reading; Gary Kahler, vocalist; and Le Nette Wiese, organ and piano.

Seven Vie For Farmer Queen Title

Farmers' Formal Queen will be chosen from seven candidates by vote of all students present at the formal Friday.

Tickets may be purchased for $1.50 per couple from any Ag Executive Board member. The formal will be held Friday in the College Activities Building.

The seven finalists for queen were selected by an all-campus election from senior women in Agricultural College who had a 5.5 average or above.

The names of Jan Montgomery and Patsy Kaufman were omitted unintentionally from a previously published list of candidates. Other finalists are Merca Dee Bonde, Joyce Evans, Marilyn Jensen, Lois LaRue and Ethel Oeltjen.

Miss Montgomery is president of Fedde Hall. She is treasurer of Home Ec Club and is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and the Vocational Homemaking Education Association.

Miss Kaufman of Love Hall is a Mortar Board and president of the Vocational Homemaking Education Association. She is a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron, Newman Club and Home Ec Club.

NUCWA Meeting

Dr. Robert Sakai, assistant professor of history, will be the speaker at tonight's meeting of NUCWA.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 in Room 315 of the Union.

Dr. Sakai will speak on the events leading up to the crisis in the Middle East.

"Dames Debut" for Follies Ideas, Ideal Nebraska Coed Candidates Due Dec. 8

"Dames Debut" has been selected as the theme of the annual Coed Follies which will be held Febr. 27.

Atom Plant In Nebraska Topic of TV

Dr. Paul Aehersold, assistant director of the Division of Isotope Development for the Atomic Energy Commission, will be a guest on a special television program over KUON-TV.

The full hour program, starting at 8 p.m. Thursday, will be dedicated to discussing atomic energy possibilities in Nebraska.

Featured on the program will be Dr. Emerson Jones, special assistant to the general manager of Consumer Public Power. He will discuss plans for the atomic energy plant at Hallam, Nebr.

Dr. Aehersold will discuss the industrial potential that such a plant will create.

Pictures of plans for the Hallam plant, which is now being built, will be shown along with a film of a prototype of the Hallam plant that now exists in California.

Dr. Aehersold will also appear at the auditorium of the Biochemistry and Nutrition Building on Ag campus at 3:30 p.m. Friday. He will discuss the use of isotopes in agriculture.

Skit ideas for the AWS-sponsored event must be turned in to Linda Walt, 1545 S Street, by Nov. 25. Only general ideas need be turned in. Miss Walt said, so that skits will not have to be rewritten in case of duplication.

Complete Scripts

Complete scripts should be handed in by Dec. 8. Names of two ideal Nebraska Coed candidates from each organized women's house must also be turned in by that date. Skitmasters should be chosen. Skit tryouts are Jan. 13.

"We want to emphasize that skits do not need to be polished for the tryouts," Miss Walt, Coed Follies chairman said. "We also want to emphasize the flexibility of the theme. It's very general so that any type of skit would fit in."

Tryouts for traveler acts are Feb. 4. They are scheduled following skit tryouts so that skits not selected to participate may possibly convert into traveler acts. Miss Walt added.

Judging Points

Skits will be judged on cleverness, originality, audience appeal and costuming. They are limited to 8 minutes in length, and $100 in price. All outside help on skits is ruled out.

Coed Follies will be held on a Friday night for the first time. In previous years, the show has been held on a Monday, Pershing Auditorium is the site of this year's show.

Ideal Nebraska Coed candidates must be juniors with a 6.0 weighted average, or over registered for at least 12 hours. They will be chosen on a basis of school activities, scholarship, personality and poise.

One Act Scripts Due by Friday

The deadline for original one act play scripts to be turned in to the University Theatre is 5 p.m. Friday.

Nebraska Masquers Chapter of National Collegiate Players is offering $25 for the best one-act script. The contest is open to any student, faculty member or employee of the University.

Plays must be original, not translations. If the play has been previously produced, a statement giving the time and place of presentation must accompany the script.

Authors may submit any number of plays. The author's name must not appear on the manuscript, but an entry blank must be placed in a sealed envelope attached to the manuscript.

Manuscripts must be typewritten on one side of the page and securely bound. Masquers will reserve the right to produce, royalty free, any of the entries during the academic year of 1958-59.

Dessert Ends Counselor Year

Coed Counselors annual Friendship Dessert, honoring the outstanding Coed Counselors and new students, will be held 7:15 p.m. in the Union Ballroom.

The Friendship Dessert will climax the Coed Counselors fall program.

A style show featuring a freshman model from each of the organized women's houses will highlight the evening's entertainment. Freshman men from organized houses will act as escorts.

Smorgasbord—Tickle Your Taster, Say Cosmopolitans

Cosmopolitan Club is offering students and faculty a chance to tickle their palates on dishes famous the world over Sunday.

At the annual Cosmopolitan Smorgasbord, foods from at least 16 countries will be offered in the Union Ballroom at 6 p.m.

100 Turned Away

Last year about 100 persons were turned away from the door, according to G. W. Rosenlof, foreign student adviser. Tickets go on sale today in the Union for $1.75. Sales will be limited to 375 tickets.

Priparing a menu for the smorgasbord might be difficult with such delicacies as gabo gabo, pilaf, wine frille, shiskabobs, toh pai kwut, dolmas, brioche, timbales, malfoof mahshi, curry and sauerbraten sending the typist scurrying to the nearest Webster's unabridged.

The food won't be the only exotic part of the program, as international students will be dressed in the costumes of their countries. These same students will be in the kitchen beforehand putting together the dishes that are famous from their countries.

Meal Entertainment

Throughout the meal, the international students will provide entertainment.

Sharon Faugman, chairman of the hospitality committee, said ticket sales are being limited to 375 because supply of food is limited.

Among the countries whose food will be represented are Austria, India, Germany, France, Iran, Iraq, Hungary, England, China, Japan, Jordan, Pakistan, Latvia, Estonia, Lithuania and Czechoslovakia.

Alpha Kappa Psi Initiates Six

Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business fraternity, has initiated six new members.

They are: George Kendall, Dennis Mullins, Dale Sweeney, LeRoy Verschuur, Ted Schafer and Lawrence Kuhl.

All members of the organization are required to have and maintain at least a 5.5 average in the College of Business Administration.

A professional meeting will be held Thursday evening in the Union. Members are to check the bulletin board for time and room number.

French Program Added to KFMQ

"Songs of France," a special series of French broadcasts will be presented by radio station KFMQ, Lincoln FM station.

The series is produced in Paris by the French Broadcasting System (Radio-diffusion Francaise) for KFMQ," said Herbert Burton, general manager of the KFMQ.

"The entire series is now in the process of being scheduled on our programming but it should be available next week," he added.

As soon as the series is received by KFMQ, further details about the content of the programs will be available, Burton said.

Bus Ad Program Unaffected

The new advertising sequence announced by the School of Journalism will not affect or replace the advertising program offered by the College of Business Administration.

Dr. William Hall, director of the J-School, said the advertising sequence announced Friday is designed to provide a "professional sequence of courses for the future practitioner or seller of advertising."

"Those students primarily interested in advertising as a sales tool for the business executive will continue to enroll in the College of Business Administration," Dr. Hall said.

"Students in the business administration program may complete the professional certificate in journalism if they desire. Likewise students in the journalism advertising program may take additional courses in Business Administration," he added.

Symphony To Feature Violinist

Miss Joyce Flissler will be the guest artist appearing with the University Symphony Orchestra at its annual Fall Concert Nov. 23.

The concert will be held at 8 p.m. in the Union ballroom. There is no admission charge. Tickets are available at the Union Ticket Office, 14th and R streets.

Miss Flissler, a violinist, is the only artist from the West to be a winner of the Tschai-kowsky Competition for violin in Moscow. She will play Beethoven's Violin Concerto.

A native New Yorker and graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, Miss Flissler has appeared in concert at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C. She has been soloist of the evening with orchestras under the direction of Brazin, Morel and Stokowski.

The New York Herald Tribune called her "a brilliant, disciplined, extremely musical violinist... (she played) with every sign of musical comprehension and authority."

Emanuel Wishnow conducts the University Symphony Orchestra.
