

Big Eight Bowling Tourney

To Be Held At Kansas City

During the Big Eight Basketball Tourney that runs December 26, 27, 29, 30, the first annual Bruce Rice Big Eight Bowling Tourney will be held at the Pla-Mor Bowl in Kansas City.

The bowling tourney, which runs during the same days as the Big Eight Basketball Tourney, in no way conflicts with game times of the basketball tournament.

Preliminaries

The preliminaries will be rolled on December 26 and 27, and may be bowled any time on any of the Pla Mor alleys after 9:00 a.m. Bowlers will roll four games, but may re-enter and bowl four more games, with the highest score applying.

The entry fee is $2.50 per person and there will be no handicaps.

The top five bowlers from each school will qualify for the finals, making a total of 40 finalists in all. Each of the five finalists from each school will receive engraved trophies and, in addition to these, the winners will get larger trophies.

Winners

Winners will be announced following the finals of the Big Eight Basketball Tournament.

Bruce Rice, sports director of KCMO radio and TV in Kansas City, Missouri, is the namesake of the tournament; and he will have the winners appear on his televised sports-cast on December 31.

Any University of Nebraska students that are interested in entering may do so by going to the Pla Mor Alleys and paying the entry fee any time during the days the preliminaries are bowled.

Those wanting definite times reserved for them should either call the Pla Mor Bowling Alleys in Kansas City, Mo., or write them reserving a time. However, in order to enter it is not necessary to write or phone for reservations. Since the Pla Mor contains 54 alleys there should be no trouble securing an alley at certain time.

NEBRASKAN SPORTS

Husker Wrestlers Beaten 32-0 By Oklahoma State

By Randall Lambert
The Nebraska wrestling team was shut out 32-0 in the season's opener by last year's national champions, Oklahoma State.

Although the Huskers didn't win a match, they only were pinned in three of the seven matches wrestled. The eighth match at 123 pounds had to be forfeited because Nebraska had no one who could wrestle that weight.

There was not much doubt of the outcome after Husker Coach Bill Smith introduced the members of both teams. The Cowboys fielded a team that included two national champions, Dick Beattie, 157 pounds, and Duane Murty, 177 pounds, plus three national runnerups, and one fourth place finisher in the nationals. The other two members were sophomores.

Nebraska went against the Oklahomaans with three lettermen, two sophomores, an athletic trainer, Dennis Aten who had never been in a wrestling match before, and Bruce Russell, a tennis letterman who had been wrestling only three days.

The best two matches were turned in by sophomores Pat Fitzgerald and Harold Thompson who wrestled against the two OSU national champs. Neither was pinned as they gave good accounts of themselves before dropping decisions to their more experienced opponents.

University Offers Ice Hockey As New Intramural Pastime

By Larry Novicki
Tired of the everyday grind? Ever dream of a life of romantic adventure? Want to get away from it all? We offer you—intramural ice hockey, an escape into the realm of savage delight. A violent outlet for pent-up inner emotions and physical energies. So sharpen your blades during vacation and polish up your speed skating. Join a team when you return.

Seven Teams
Seven teams took the ice this year, and Les Roberts, who is in charge of the new IM sport, hopes that enough interest will be shown in the future to field around 16 clubs. Gus I, Gus II, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa Psi, Alpha Gamma Rho, and a team of independents who call themselves the Royal Canadians are the squads who are in action this year.

Games are played on the regulation hockey court at Pershing Municipal Auditorium. Each team has to pay $7.50 per game for rental of the ice and equipment. Equipment, which includes sticks, shin guards, pucks, and protective helmets, is all furnished by the intramural department. Skates, of course, must be furnished by the individual. Games are played in three 15-minute periods. Each team is supposed to furnish a referee.

Everything is regulation, fast skating, body checking, tumbles, board crashes, flying pucks. But in regulation hockey the players not only wear shin guards, but also hip pads, rib and shoulder pads, knee and elbow guards and calf protectors. So the intramural version of the game produces a few bumps and bruises.

But the fellows seem to like it. And some of the players are even quite proficient at the sport.

Royal Canadians
The spiked up Royal Canadians tore through their first two encounters easily. They drubbed Gus I 8-2 in the season opener last week and came back to rack up 12 goals against the Betas while their goalie Bob Otten fashioned a neat shutout.

Track star Joe Mullins scored seven goals and two assists in the two contests. Mullins and several of his mates are natives of Canada, where the national sport is hockey. Despite their defeat at the hands of the high-powered Canadians, Gus I seems to shape up as the second best team in the league. Harvey Jensen, a fast driving, good sticking wingman has kept pace with Mullins in the scoring department by netting seven goals. He led the way as Gus I rebounded to belt Phi Gam 8-2 Tuesday.

The Phi Gams, headed by Joe Vaccaro, a transfer from the Canadians, humbled AGR in their first outing 11-0. Vaccaro zeroed in five shots for unassisted goals.

The Phi Psis have split their two starts, downing Gus II 7-3 and being nosed out by the Phi Deltas 4-3.

The Phi Deltas, in addition to their win over Phi Psi, own a victory over the Betas, 6-1. Dick Kelley, a product of Omaha's amateur league, has scored four goals and two assists.

In the only other game played this week, Gus II outskated AGR 11-1. Art Witte scored four goals while Charles Charlton and Kermit Erickson each contributed three goals and an assist.
