Husker Cagers Return Home; Face Improved KU Jayhawks

Cornhuskers on Three Game Losing Streak

By Tom Davies
The Nebraska basketballers will return to the Coliseum Saturday and attempt to snap a three game losing streak. However, the Bushmen will have their work cut out for them as they take on a fast-improving Kansas Jayhawk squad.

A Husker win over Kansas along with a KU loss to K. State tonight would throw the two teams into a tie for fourth place in the Big Eight standings.

Heights Even
For once, the Huskers will not be at a height disadvantage. The tallest Jayhawker is center Bill Bridges at 6' 5 1/2", while Cornhusker center Bob Harry is 6'6". Both teams have identical height averages.

Ron Loneski, who has been hampered by a leg injury throughout the early part of the season, will start against Nebraska, fully recovered. The Indiana senior leads the team's scorers with a 19.0 game average. Al Donaghue has been one of the main factors in the Hawk's improvement. He dumped in 20 points in the Jayhawk's 82-74 losing battle against Louisville last Saturday night. Donaghue's sudden scoring surge has added needed depth to the Kansas squad.

Bridges
Although center Bill Bridges lacks the tremendous height of his predecessor Wilt Chamberlain, he has certain other attributes which help to make him a very fine center. Two items that he carries with him are 226 pounds of streamlined bulk and a pair of the largest hands in college basketball. Those, plus jumping force that hoists him rim-high, make him a very dangerous boy. Bridges' hands measure nine inches from tip of the middle finger to wrist-break and 10 inches from spread thumb to spread little finger. Playmaker Bob Billings has been another vital link in the Kansas lineup. Billings, who also has been slowed by an injury, is an outstanding floorman and is capable of supplying a potent scoring punch. Dee Ketchum, one-half Delaware Indian, is also a fine floorman and a potential scoring threat.

Turner and Maxey
Huskers aces Herschell Turner and Al Maxey have been somewhat saddled in the last of two games and will look to snap out in time for Saturday's game. Coach Jerry Bush will also count on the outside shooting of Wayne Hester and the board play and inside shooting of center Bob Harry.

Kansas remembers only too well the upset they suffered at the hands of the Huskers last year and will be out for revenge. However, Nebraska also remembers that game and will be shooting for a repeat performance.

Kansas Scoring Leader:
Ron Loneski High On Jayhawk's Point List
By Sehyan Joh
High flying Ron Loneski has lifted himself into 8th place among Kansas' all-time career scoring titans. He will lead the Jayhawkers against Kansas State tonight before their Saturday night engagement with the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Hitting 285 points in his first 15 outings this year, the brawny senior raised his career aggregate to 758. Above him are Clyde Lovellette, 1979; Wilt Chamberlain, 1433; Charlie Black, 1082; B. H. Born, 918; Otto Schnellback-er, 913; Gene Elstun, 888; Dallas Dobbs, 837; The top four, Clyde Lovellette, Wilt Chamberlain, Charlie Black, and B. H. Born were All Americans.

500 Club
Loneski started the season just outside the 500-Club, which numbers only 17 men, at 473. He now can achieve one seasonal goal by surpassing Born as the most prolific lefthander in Jayhawk history. However, he would have to average 27 points a game.

By maintaining his 19.0 average through the season, which can be an extremely difficult task, Loneski can close his three-year tenure at 872.

Although he is hitting only .332 of his field goal tries which may be attributed to a leg injury, the 6-4 1/2 forward is carrying almost 30-percent of the scoring load.

Dependence
An idea of the Jayhawk dependence upon Loneski can be gleaned from his performance against Denver at the beginning of the season. He could get down only six of 33 field tries and the Jayhawkers absorbed a 60-73 pasting from the Pioneers.

Nebraska Wrestlers After First Win Tomorrow Night

By Keith Bland
Nebraska matmen will host the Fort Hays State grapplers tomorrow night in the Coliseum at 7:30. This will be an first meeting between the two teams.

For Hays State is bringing Jim Peckenpaugh, a former Kansas champion in the 137 pound division, against Dennis Aten of Nebraska. Dick Votapaka, another former Kansas champion in the 123 pound division, will vie against Nebraska's Ted Rethmeier.

Husker Leader
Ken Lott, 177 pound entry for Nebraska, is still leading the team with points and most falls. He has accumulated 13 team points and two falls in seven meets so far this year. Both teams have gone against the Air Force Academy and Kansas State and fared equally in the outcome. The Air Force Academy won over Fort Hays State by a point score of 17-9 and over Nebraska with a score of 25-3. Kansas State beat Fort

Hays State 25-3 and Nebraska 24-10.

Fort Hays State has been handed a total of 5 losses and gained a win over Adams State, Colorado, so far this season.

Nebraska will be seeking its first win tomorrow night as they have experienced seven losses this season, against the best competition in the country.

Probable starting line-up for the Huskers tomorrow night will be:

Weight
123—Ted Rethmeier
130—Darryl Freeland
137—Dennis Aten
147—Harold Thompson
157—Lee Bigelow
167—Norlin Cooper
177—Ken Lott
