

Ag Faces Mobility Problem

... Society Must Help, NU Economist Says

By Marilyn Coffey
"Society must help the farmer become mobile, to move from his land into those areas of production where he is needed by society," Bert Evans, research economist at the University, said.

But how can we achieve this re-allocation of human resources?

Solution Asked

The answer to this important question will help solve the "farm problem," Evans said.

A continually lower income will eventually drive many farmers off their land. But, said Evans, do these ex-farmers become skilled workers, technicians, and provide the doctors, scientists and school teachers our society needs? "I think not."

Price System

A varying of the price system itself does not solve the problem.

"Farmers, even when they can see that prices are lowering, often just can't move," he said.

For instance, when price supports on butter were lowered in 1954, Evans said what each farmer did depended on his situation.

Butter Supports

The Southern farmer with his one cow, kept on milking it and feeding the milk and butter to his family.

The typical Mid-Western farmer who sold butter and eggs in town for a Saturday night check that he needed to spend on groceries and shoes for the kids, kept taking his eggs and butter to town as before. There was no method of obtaining income that he could substitute.

The large dairy farmer in Wisconsin could still sell butter easier than he could dispose of his initial capital investment in his dairy.

Lower Prices

The lower prices failed to reduce the amount of butter. The actual amount increased. And lower prices failed to move the farmer from agriculture to another area of our economy, he said.

On the other hand, a stable income has never been enough to tie people to the farm.

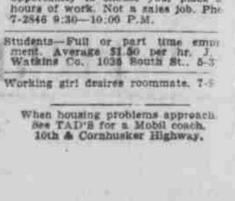

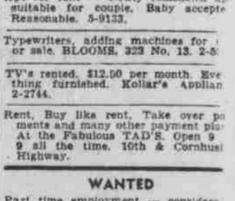

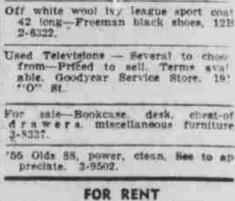

Opportunity for mobility from agricultural production to areas whose products are more in demand is needed, Evans said.

"Since the agricultural problem is not the problem of the farmer alone, but of society, it is only economic justice to say that the costs of solving this problem be borne by the entire group," Evans said.

'Grants' Is Topic For Wise, Manter

Digest Humor Lampoons Melting Pot, Hangovers

Reader's Digest, long famed for its capsule humor, offers the following material:

America is no longer a melting pot—it's a pressure cooker.

This is the country where people in all walks of life prefer to ride.

Defined Points:

Hot Dog—the only animal that feeds the hands that bites it.

Hangover—something to occupy a head that wasn't used the night before.

Grandfather—a grandchild's press agent.

Patience—the ability to idle your motor when you feel like stripping your gears.

One way to save face is to keep the lower half shut.

A word to the wise:

It's better to give than to receive—and it's deductible.

The best place for your bathroom scales is in front of your refrigerator.

On the collegiate scene:

Girl graduate: "Four years of college! And whom has it got me?"

College glamour girl to suitor: "By secret engagement I suppose you mean no ring."

A student who was asked by his dean whether he was in the top half of his class replied: "Oh, no sir, I'm one of those who make the top half possible."

Fabian to Sing

Fabian, 17-year-old teenage singer, will be the entertainer for the Lincoln Centennial Youth Dance, May 8.

The dance will be held at the University Coliseum. Rev. Rex Knowles of the Presbyterian Student House is chairman of Youth Day.

Hi-fi Required

Hi-fi is required listening at Columbia University in New York.

A course in music survey is compulsory for undergraduates. Hi-fi has been installed in classrooms to get the most out of the course in recorded music.

'Little John' Here Friday With Smiles

John Beecher, the 300 pound bandleader known as "Little John," will appear at the Union Ballroom Friday.

"Little John" and his orchestra will play at the Union from 9 to 12 p.m.

Beecher joined Lee Williams' band several years ago and later developed into an entertainer and comedian. He now leads his own band and has his own floor show.

Admission charge is 65 cents per person and $1.00 per couple.

"A danceable band is all important, start them dancing at 9, keep them dancing all night, and leave 'em with smiles on their faces," is Beecher's motto.

Lewis to Speak

At Church Meet

"How Christian Science Brings Security and Peace," is the topic of the next annual lecture sponsored by the Christian Science College Organization.

The lecture will be given Wednesday, at 5 p.m. in Union Parlor X. Students and Faculty may attend.

J. Hamilton Lewis will speak. Lewis is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

A Pealenik

"Don't you love Shelley? I'm going up on a high mountain and pray to him for forgiveness."

This is cited by Nelson Algren in "The Nation" as a beatnik promise.

His terse answer for the beatnik is:

"Shelley wouldn't listen to God, why would he heed a beatnik? Particularly a Norman-Vincent-Pealenik."

Copperfield Will Appear On KUON-TV

The classic "David Copperfield" will be brought to the TV world by KUON-TV on Thursday March 19 at 9 p.m.

Charles Dickens' novel was originally published in serial form and is easily adapted into the TV series. On-location films from England are used.

The novel deals with two crucial periods in a man's life: early childhood disillusionment and first love. Experts say that this work remains a favorite because Dickens wrote from his own experience.

Congress Gets TV Aid Bills

Six bills offering Federal aid for the construction of educational television facilities have been introduced in the first session of the 86th congress.

Five of the bills introduced provide for aid to expand existing stations and thus could affect KUON-TV.

University director of television, Jack McBride said KUON-TV would definitely plan to take advantage of any bill that was passed if possible.

Reps to Discuss Medical School

Representatives from the University College of Medicine in Omaha will meet in Union parlors XYZ Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The group will discuss general medical school requirements and information.

The meeting was originally slated in Bessey Hall.

WHO SAID IT FIRST?

A column of incidental intelligence
by Jockey brand

"GENTLEMAN AND SCHOLAR"
High praise, indeed, for any man! But did you know that the description comes from Robert Burns—who said it first about a dog? Here's the quote:
"His locked, lettered, brow
brass collar
Showed him the gentleman and scholar."
You'll find the couplet in Burns' "The Two Dogs."

"THE MORNING AFTER"
This horrible time was first immortalized by George Ade in "The Sultan of Sulu." Here's the way he put it:
"But, R-E-M-O-R-S-E!
The water-wagon is the place for me;
It is no time for mirth and laughter,
The cold, gray dawn of the morning after!"

"MAN BITES DOG"
That's everybody's definition of news, and we're all indebted to John B. Bogart, city editor of the old New York Sun (1873-90) who first said:
"When a dog bites a man, that is not news, because it happens so often. But if a man bites a dog, that is news!"

Jockey Underwear
What's true about expressions is also true about styles. Somebody always got there first. Take Jockey brand underwear. Jockey brand is made only by Coopers.
