The Foundation and You . . .

In 1958 the Foundation provided more than $125,000 to various research projects being carried on at the University.

An adequate research program is extremely vital if NU is to continue in its position as a leading University.

The Foundation is able to channel funds into this and other areas because of the contributions received from many alumni and friends who are interested in making YOUR University better for YOU.

Danielsons To Present Duo-Concert

Janet and Martha Danielson, former University students, will present a duo-piano concert at 8 p.m. March 31 in the Union Ballroom.

The program will feature such composers as Bach, Brahms, Clementi, S a n t -Saens, and Rimsky-Korsakov.

The girls are seniors at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. While at the University, they were members of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music fraternity, and Kappa Alpha Theta.

In March, 1956, as winners of the annual student auditions, they appeared as guest soloists with the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra, playing the Concerto in D Minor by Poulenc.

Janet was the 1957 winner in the keyboard division of the National Federation of Music Clubs Biennial Student Auditions and placed second in district competition. She taught piano in Lincoln for five years and belonged to the Lincoln Music Teachers Association.

Janet and Martha began studying piano at the ages of four and six. They attended Rocky Ridge Music Center, a summer camp in Ester Park, Colo., for several seasons.

Kansas U. Also Stiffening Course

Nebraska isn't the only school where courses are stiffening.

The Daily Kansan reports that new undergraduate requirements in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, may include more mathematics and foreign languages.

Discussion will also be on the possibility of eliminating easier courses as filling requirements and substituting "principal courses" which are more difficult.

The newspaper further reports that students and faculty both like the idea.
