

Charlie Brown Arrested by Cops

Charlie Brown, Nebraska track speedster, was speeding a little too fast for our "fair" police force and after a 10 mile-110 mile per hour chase the cops hauled Charlie to jail. He was charged with trying to resist arrest, speeding, careless driving, and numerous accounts. Explained Charlie after being caught, "All I did was drink a few beers, leave the bar and wander around until I happened to stumble into a house. After I left the house, I got in my car and proceeded home to spend a quiet evening. The sad thing is fans is that Charlie was only going 26 in a 25. He needs us now so lets all help our beloved Charlie.

Notice

The Orchesis, women's modern dance group, is looking for a student manager. The qualifications are simple. You must be male and eligible. The girls would also like to extend their thanks to the previous manager, Herman Hardup, who served them so faithfully for a week before his injury. Herman is presently in Student Health being treated for protruding eyeballs and other minor defects.

Students, Coaches, Officials Call For Women In Sports

By The KIAS

Currently, the university officials are engaged in a heated debate as to whether or not women (nice young girls) should be allowed to compete in college athletics with their male cohorts. This is a topic which has long been considered by the men of all universities throughout the country, but it is the first time that the athletic and administrative officials have dared to consider such a brave move.

Here at our beloved institution, we have nine sports that this writer is sure that girls (nice young ones) would perform admirably in. They are: football, basketball, swimming, gymnastics, wrestling, track, tennis, golf, and baseball. Of these nine, two, wrestling and football, stand out in the minds of all red-blooded American males as being the best sports to admit girls (nice ones) into. In the eyes of these crusading males, these sports are the ones that the girls (nice young ones) could excel in most.

In this small (very tiny) article, I am going to present in my humble way all the reasons for adopting such a policy. (I am NOT going to give ANY reasons for not giving this magnificent plan a try because that would be silly.)

First of all there is the reason of companionship. A star athlete always needs the companionship of a girl (a nice young one). What better way is there to wipe out this problem than to have our male stars playing against and with the fair half of the species. Think of it.

Secondly, girls (nice young ones) are able to hold their own with males any time as most of my fans can testify too. This is absolutely no reason why they couldn't cut the mustard in sports as well.

The third reason is a big one. The students want Co-inter-collegiate sports. This writer has undertaken an exhaustive survey as to whether or not the coaches and the students of this institution really are in favor of this plan. They are. The most outstanding student opinion came from Husker athletic idol Selwyn "Buckshot" Pinkleberry. He was very emphatic in his approval of the plan.

Coach Bill "boy would that be sharp" Jennings summed up the feelings of the other coaches pretty well. He said, "I feel that this plan would greatly improve the morale of the boys especially during those long tedious practice sessions."

Last but not least would be the tremendous upsurge of gate receipts. Think of the thousands of fans that would suddenly swing over to the Husker side if girls (nice young ones) were allowed to participate in sports. They would flock to Lincoln from all parts of the country to witness the spectacle.

Ward Moved Up To P.E. Instructor

Pal Ward was moved up from his head football coaching job to Assistant professor of physical education at Colorado State University.

Ward is replacing Bud Welkinson who will be moved down to Ward's old position of football coach. Although Welkinson didn't show much emotion, it was evident he wasn't happy over the change.

Harold Honeylips, chairman of the athletic board, said Welkinson had been relieved of his duties after due deliberation and consideration and much regret. The board said the school was in need of a younger man.

Ward was given the higher post because of his excellent record as the Buff's head coach. His teams have repeatedly been runnerups to the conference champions, Oil-wellhoma U.

Since 1950, Ward's teams have lost only twice by overwhelming scores. Twice they have been beaten by a touchdown, once by a single point, and once they tied.

Ward was overjoyed when he learned of his new appointment. He hadn't wanted the job for a good many years. His new position will ease the tension and give him a chance to be at home more. All and all, Ward was overjoyed at the prospect of being turned out to pasture and relieved of the duties he had held in good stead for many years.

We Hate Fans

By Mickey Mouse

"We hate fans," said Lolly Hopley, Will Myth, and Shake Slyer in a joint statement to this reporter. The three coaches went on to say that they didn't need supporters at their meets. They said, "We don't need fan support. Our athletes already have all the support they need of another kind. We console them daily. Also, they know that their daddies and mommies stand behind them."

Hopley, who coaches wimmen (excuse me) swimmin, said that fans are a terrible menace at his indoor meets. He said, "It is hot enough in there without all those people. The more people, the thicker the fog on the windows. As you know I am a birdwatcher and the fog impairs my vision. The great number of fans also add to the confusion. Not only have several people been drowned when pushed into the pool, but after the last meet it was such a madhouse that I and several of my swimmers became mixed up and ended up in the girls dressing room. It took me several hours to fight my way out and my wife still isn't speaking to me. I was late for supper."

Myth, who is grappling coach, said, "The people are generally so packed in the Coliseum that many spectators are pushed out into the wrestling mat. We are facing a liable suit at the present time because Ed Tethmeier, my heavyweight wrestler, accidentally grabbed an observer and tore his arm off."

Shake Slyer, who coaches gin-nastics, said that over-enthusiasm is his prime concern. Last week his parched peons were three quarts ahead of their opponents when a fan rushed from the stands and tried to assist Muck Pelvis who was doing a gigantic swing on the high bar while holding a bottle between his knees and catching the contents in his mouth. Whether the fan was trying to assist Pelvis off the bar or assist the bottle is not known. Anyway the fan and Pelvis became entangled and now Coach Slyer's prize athlete lies in Student Health with broken bottle wounds and the broken bottle. Slyer expects him to be back in action within a week. However, he may not be in top physical condition because he cannot take part in the team's daily warm-up exercises. He is unable to do any exercises that require a sitting position.
