

Robert Beadell Chosen for Trip To Observe New York Opera

Robert Beadell, assistant professor of composition at the University, has been selected to spend 10 days with the New York City Opera Company.

He will be one of a few young American composers with a particular talent for lyric theater who will visit the opera's rehearsals and performances April 16-26.

Observe Opera
Composers, librettists and conductors have been invited to observe all steps involved in presenting an opera. The company is trying to encourage the development of American opera.

Beadell, who wrote the original music for the Lincoln Centennial pageant, "Tower on the Plains," will have his expenses paid by the Ford Foundation.

Winners were selected by a committee after making application to the company.

Writing Opera

He is now writing an opera based on a true incident in frontier history that took place in the Sweetwater area of Wyoming. The principal character will be a woman named "Cattle Kate."

"I don't think there are too many operas based on this type of person," Beadell said. "I haven't quite decided on a title for it yet."

The libretto for the opera is being written by Bruce Nicoll, assistant director of Public Relations. The writing of the opera is being supported by a University Research Council grant.

Beadell joined the University staff in 1954. His major work since then is "Elegy for a Dead Soldier," a choral and orchestra composition based on Karl Shapiro's poem.

In 1950, Beadell was a Thor Johnson Award winner for original composition. He has composed music for the University band, chorus, singers and Sinfonia and has several pieces published.

The audience will be seated on the 12th St. sides of the stage. Four large spruce trees will decorate either the corners of the stage or be just next to it. The entire area will be landscaped.

Admission to the Shakespeare classic is free. Jerry Carlson is directing the play and Ann Prentice is the production manager.

The guild is being held at the Cornhusker Hotel April 25. Any Nebraska writers or would-be writers may attend.

Miss Fisher, whose clients include Marjorie John Hersey, John Stearns and Patrick Dennis of "Auntie Mame" fame, is an authors' agent associated with McIntosh and Otis, Inc.

She will speak on "The Writer and the Literary Market Place."

Others on the program are Mrs. Nellie Snyder Yost and Dean Ballenger. Mrs. Yost will talk about the writing of her latest book, "The West That Was," while Ballenger will describe his experiences in writing for men's magazines.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made through Mrs. H. P. Doole, 2300 Calumet Ct. A small registration fee will be charged non-members, according to Mrs. Mildred Bennett, guild president.

Minimum Park Space Proposed

Minimum off street parking requirements for fraternity, sorority and rooming houses were proposed by the City County Planning Commission last month.

The proposed minimums would affect only future building or expansion of present houses which would be in non-conformance with the ordinances, according to Planning Engineer Douglas Brogden.

The minimum requirement for fraternities would be one parking space for each 300 square feet of the building's floor area. A minimum of one parking space for every 700 square feet of floor space would be required for sororities and rooming houses.

A public hearing is scheduled for May 27 on the proposed zoning regulations following discussion of a minimum parking study requested by the City Council. There is presently no minimum requirement.

Singers to Give Concert Tonight

The University Singers will present Brahms' "Requiem" tonight at 8:15 p.m. at First-Plymouth Congregational Church, 20th and D St.

Rodney Walker, junior in Teachers, and Sharon Johnson, senior in Teachers, will be the principal soloists.

Directing the 98-voice group will be Earl Jenkins.

Admission to the concert is free.

New Rules For Games Announced

Several Spring Day games rules, different from those in past years, and several amendments to this year's rules were announced following the Spring Day house chairmen meeting Monday.

New rules affected the tug-of-war, push ball, the three-legged race, pig catching and the pushup contest.

Tennis Shoes

In the push ball contest and tug-of-war, the Spring Day committee is requiring all contestants to wear tennis shoes. This is being done in order to give everyone nearly equal traction, according to Bob Paine, competition chairman.

In the three-legged race, instead of haphazard arrangements, the Spring Day committee will pair off the entrants prior to the contest. The committee expressed hope that some "new friends" might be made in this way.

Women's events include an entirely new contest, the shot put. Regulation form as demonstrated by an N club member will be used by all participants.

In the push ball contest, team members must stay on their own side of the ball or they will be disqualified. In the pig catching, the pig must be put in a sack after it is caught in order to win the race.

House representatives voted to eliminate one push ball rule which had been proposed by the Spring Day committee. This rule stated that the ball could not be intentionally lifted off the ground.

AUF Gives One-Third To Dystrophy, Children

This is the third article in the series, "Where Your Money Went," concerning contributions collected by the All University Fund. The articles will explain each of the charities that AUF will donate to this year, and the various purposes the charity serves.

By Eunnie Limpo

The Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America and the Lancaster County Committee for Crippled Children received 35 per cent of the money collected by AUF.

Twenty per cent went to Muscular Dystrophy and 15 per cent to the Committee for Crippled Children.

Some of the functions of the Muscular Dystrophy Association are conducting and sponsoring research, establishing clinics and distributing information about the disease. An estimated 200,000 children and young adults suffer from Muscular Dystrophy.

The Association gives grants-in-aid to research and provides new knowledge about the disease for professional groups. There are 316 active MDA chapters with representation in every state except South Dakota.

The chapters assist in purchase and repair of wheel chairs, braces, lifts and other orthopedic devices; arrange for transportation of patients to clinics, schools and recreational centers. They also have developed social and recreational programs.

Eighty one scientific projects are sponsored by MDA. These studies are in the field of muscle structure and function, including special work on muscular dystrophy.

The Institute for Muscle Disease in New York built by the MDA is a center of research and a repository of information on all aspects of muscle study.

The Lancaster County Committee for Crippled Children is an affiliate of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc.

The services offered to handicapped children in the community include: appliances and rehabilitatory programs for individual children; transportation for handicapped children to and from their special education classes in Park School, clinical services for speech and hearing handicapped children at the University, craft instruction for handicapped children in Larc School; and a summer day camp for handicapped children at the Boy Scout Camp.

The Society buys wheel chairs, braces, hearing aids and orthopedic equipment for crippled children. The national organization has helped train more than 2,010 doctors, therapists, teachers, and social workers through scholarships and fellowships.

AUF also contributed to World University Service, American Cancer Society, Lincoln Community Chest and Larc School.

Kathy Roach Picked For YW Trip

Kathy Roach, University junior in Teachers College, is one of six American girls selected to participate in the 1959 "YWCA Volunteers Abroad" program.

The six girls were chosen by the national YWCA board. They will go in pairs to Berlin, Mexico City and Istanbul. Miss Roach will leave June 15 for Istanbul and a girls' camp on the Sea of Marmara.

The girls will pay their own transportation; board and room will be furnished at their destination.

"There will be a two-weeks training period before I begin the camp counseling," Miss Roach said.

"Then I'll find out if I must learn any other languages," she added.

A past chairman of the Hungarian Student Project committee, Miss Roach has been active in campus YW, is corresponding secretary of Student Council, and is a member of Pi Lambda Theta and Chi Omega.

'Golden Comedy' Showing Planned

Charity's Plans Draw Criticism

Automobiles coming to Ames, Ia., for the Veishea parade May 9 may be stopped and their occupants solicited for charity, the Iowa State Daily reports.

The campaign will be called "College Day for Crippled Children" and is affiliated with the same organization that sponsors the Easter Seal Drive.

An official of the Iowa Highway Commission said the drive surprised him, and he added that he was "disturbed."

A Veishea spokesman said he felt the people who planned for the drive are "Certainly opportunists," calling the move "the most aggressive one by a charity that I have ever heard of."

If you're the kind of person who thinks for yourself... you use judgment in your choice of cigarettes, as in everything else. Men and women who think for themselves usually smoke VICEROY. Their reason? Best in the world. They know that only VICEROY has a thinking man's filter and a smoking man's taste.
