

Extension Division: Fiftieth Anniversary Celebrated By University's 'Extension Arm'

The University Extension Division celebrates its 50th anniversary this year.

In addition, its high school correspondence program, the largest of its type in the world, celebrates its 30th anniversary.

'Not Separate'

"The Extension Division is not a separate college, as is often thought," Dr. Knute Broady, Division director said.

"We are only an 'extension arm' of each college and department and extend our services to those who cannot come to the campus for full-time study."

The 'extension arm' of the University serves more than 20,000 students each year.

Its off-campus classes have been in legislative news this year. The University discovered last spring that it had no legal right to hold off-campus classes and discontinued them, temporarily. They have resumed them, now, since a law has been passed authorizing the classes.

'World-Wide'

The high-school correspondence program is a world wide one, twice as large as any other similar program.

"We have students in more than 60 foreign countries," Dr. Broady related, "and it is surprising how little difficulty we have with high school testing on these courses."

Among other services offered are: audio-visual aids; education for citizenship applicants; dramatic loan library which loans plays, free, to high schools; medical extension, clinics at the Omaha Medical School;

Trade related courses offered by night classes; traveling art galleries and a music department which coordinates orchestras throughout the state.

Future plans of the Division include an expansion of post-graduate courses for high school students and of summer high school courses plus a general broadening of short courses.

Kellogg Addition

The construction of the Kellogg Regional Center for Continuing Education should facilitate teachers' conferences, according to Broady.

The correspondence courses offered allow a student to do as much as one half of his college work away from campus. The University requires residency for the last year of work on an undergraduate degree, although each college sets up its own specific residency requirements.

An advisor is provided for students taking correspondence courses and, with a few exceptions, the stipulated procedure of taking prerequisites is followed.

Off-campus courses are taught by the University faculty. The organizing and cost of the courses depends on each local community.

All the courses, whether off-campus or correspondence, are graded by a University faculty member.

Professors' Donations Boost AUF

Donations are still coming in from the All University Fund Faculty Drive which ended last Friday, according to Chairman Betty Noerrlinger.

Each faculty member was sent a letter explaining AUF and containing a donation envelope to kick off the drive.

"In addition, we personally talked to new faculty members during the two-week drive," Miss Noerrlinger said.

"We appreciate everyone's support. Those who have lost their envelopes or would still like to contribute may send donations to the AUF office in the Student Union," she added.

AUF also holds a student drive in the fall of each year. A poll of the faculty and student body is taken to determine what charities the fund will support during the next year.

The charities for this year are Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, World University Service, American Cancer Society, LARC School, Lincoln Community Chest, and Lancaster County Committee for Retarded Children.

Pi Sigma Alpha Elects Members

Five University students have been elected to membership in Pi Sigma Alpha, political science honorary society.

They are: Undergraduates—Tom Naiman, Robert Grit and Claris Robinson. Grad students—Martha Borgstadt and Joan Wadlow.

Builders Needs More Workers

Builders is sending out a call for new workers.

Students are especially needed to sell advertising for the Special Edition and Student Directory.

Other committees requesting workers are the Husker Handbook, Special Edition, First Glance, Calendar, Parties and Conventions, Publicity, Tours, Ag Sales, Ag Tours, Ag Publicity and Ag Public Relations.

NU Biochemists Isolate Protein

A newly-discovered protein has been isolated from egg whites by three University biochemists, Dr. R. E. Feecey, Marvin Rhodes and Nell Bennett.

The protein combined with Vitamin B2 forms a flavoprotein, Rhodes said, where as all previously identified flavoproteins consist of a protein with some modified form of B2.

Since certain bacteria requiring B2 are inhibited by the new protein, it may defend against infection and serve as a Vitamin B2 storehouse for the embryo, Rhodes added.

The three biochemists have conducted this research nearly two years.

Committee Kills Education Bill

The Legislature's Education Committee killed a measure that would have allowed the University to supply teachers to junior colleges on a contract basis.

LB 537 was indefinitely postponed by a 4 to 1 vote Thursday.

Foreign Students Invited to LAFB

The Lincoln Air Force Base has invited all of the foreign students at the University to an open house on May 1, according to G. W. Rosenlof, adviser to foreign students.

Rosenlof urged all the foreign students to take advantage of the opportunity to visit the air base.

"LOVE IS BLIND"

Next to the Bible, Shakespeare is the richest source of common quotes. He's responsible for this one, too. See his "Merchant of Venice," Act II, Scene 6:

"But love is blind, and lovers cannot see
The petty follies that themselves commit."

"THIRTY DAYS HATH SEPTEMBER," ETC.

No need to recite further from this bit of doggerel which has served us all as a pony ever since grade school. For this universal handy reference we are indebted to a man named Richard Geoffroy who was nice enough to compose the rhyme way back in 1570.

"PUT IT IN YOUR PIPE"

No, Sir Walter Raleigh didn't originate this smoker's challenge. It was R. H. Barham, in "The Lay of St. Odille":

"For this you've my word,
and I never yet broke it,
So put that in your pipe,
My Lord Otto, and smoke it."

Jockey T-Shirts

The most respected, creative name in underwear is Jockey brand. It stands for reason, then, that Jockey brand T-shirts are unmatched for quality as well as styling. You can choose from standard T-shirt, "taper-tee" shirt, sleeveless T-shirt, and V-neck T-shirt models. Every man needs a drawer full of T-shirts—and the label to lock for is Jockey brand. Let it guide you to the world's finest underwear.
