

The New System

Registration Worksheets Due May 18—Juniors, Seniors

Registration worksheets for juniors and seniors must be turned in by May 18. Sophomores' worksheets are due May 19 and freshmen on May 20. Late worksheets may be handed in May 21.

list alternative courses on the worksheet for specific courses. Alternative sections are to be listed in multi-section courses, in order of preference.

The bottom half of the worksheets must also be filled out so that the Registrar's Office can use it as a guide in pulling the cards when shifts are necessary in courses and sections.

Students who have a work schedule or practice time for intercollegiate athletics must indicate this on their worksheets. Employer's name, address and telephone number should be given if they are known.

If a student has followed the suggested procedures and cards cannot be pulled to make a workable schedule, the Registrar's Office will contact the student and ask him to come in personally for consultation.

Students preferring to pull their cards in person may do so for Summer Sessions June 8 and for fall on Sept. 9, 10, 11.

Fall semester cards will be claimed and fees paid as follows: A-G, Sept. 9; H-M, Sept. 10; N-Z, Sept. 11. They will be paid at the Men's P.E. Building.

Air ROTC Wives Get Orientation

For the third year, wives and fiancées of Air Force ROTC Cadets who are scheduled to receive commissions at the University in June can ask about "what they're getting into."

The University Air Force ROTC detachment is holding the question and answer sessions which include two more meetings in the Student Union A and B from 7-9 p.m.

Meetings yet to come are: May 5 Air Force Living, conducted by Lt. Col. Richard Hamilton, Maj. Charles Arpke, Capt. Wayne Handshy and their wives.

May 7 — Flying Training, Temporary Duty Tours and Problems of the Flyer's Wife, conducted by Capt. Gordon Ware, Capt. Leslie Fosterman and their wives.

A "graduation party" is scheduled May 8 at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officers Club.

Late Minutes May Bring Probation

A privilege probation for very severe offenders of the late minute rule was suggested at the AWS workshop last week.

"The probation would mean that the girl would be required to be in her room at 6:30 p.m. every night for a minimum of a week," Polly Doering, AWS president explained. "She would report to the president or some other officer."

"Of course this would be used only in very severe cases."

The possibility of combining the offices of AWS representative and standards chairman was also suggested.

Miss Helen Snyder, assistant dean of student affairs, spoke at the meeting. Miss Doering led a panel evaluating the AWS program.

Smith to Speak Before Chemists

Dr. Fred Smith, a professor of biochemistry at the University of Minnesota, will be a guest lecturer Monday at a meeting of the Nebraska section of the American Chemical Society.

He will discuss "Some Recent Advances in Carbohydrate Chemistry" at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Biochemistry and Nutrition building on Ag campus.

Statuette Seeks Moniker

Masquers to Hold Naming Contest

Nebraska Masquers is conducting a contest to find a name for the golden statuette presented to outstanding individuals in the University Theatre.

The eight-inch gilded ceramic figure will be presented to Theatre participants at the annual Awards Dinner May 15.

Anyone except the members and workers of Nebraska Masquers is eligible to enter. Suggestions should be submitted on a piece of paper with the proposed name, a reason for the choice and the person's name and address.

Explanation Each entry must have a sentence explaining the reason for the selection to be used as a judging basis in case of duplication of names.

The contest closes May 12. Entries may be deposited in the contest box in the hallway outside Room 108 of Temple Building.

The winning contestant will receive two season tickets for the 1959-60 University Theatre season and his selection for a name will be used thereafter.

Judges Judging of the entries will be done by the Executive Council of Nebraska Masquers and the winning entry will be announced at the Masquers' "Curtain Calls of '59" banquet.

The banquet will be held at the Terrace Room of the Lincoln Hotel May 15. Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from Masquers members and workers.

The statuettes to be named are on display on the first floor of Temple building.

12th and O to be Scene Of Outdoor 'Shrew'

By Sondra Whalen—"Taming of the Shrew," the University Theatre's contribution to the Lincoln Centennial, will be presented tonight at 7:30 p.m. in an open air theatre at 12th and O Streets.

No curtains or scenery will be used for the production. Blackouts will mark the time between scenes and characters will use properties to give the audience the feel of the play.

"With such different surroundings, this is going to be a lot of fun," Gerald Carlson, director of the show, said.

Experienced "It should be very good too," he said, adding that the cast consisted of many people with University theatre experience.

The audience will sit on the 12th street sides of the street on bleachers. The performance is free and seating capacity is approximately 500.

"Our dress rehearsal Sunday night attracted almost 200 people," Carlson said.

Costumes The costumes will be stylized Elizabethan, with "more concentration on color and design than authenticity." They were designed by Mrs. Doris Quist, a '55 graduate of the University and a speech major. She was assisted by Bonna Tebo Hays, who plays the leads.

"Taming of the Shrew," one of Shakespeare's earliest comedies, is the story of two sisters. Bianca; who is popular, cannot marry until her older sister Katharine is married.

Katharine is a shrew and no man will have her; thus the problem develops.

Bianca's suitors find Petruchio, who is able to tame the shrew for a sizable dowry.

Cast Katharine will be played by Bonna Tebo Hays. Bianca is being interpreted by Sally Wengert. Lucentio, Vincentio's son, is played by Steve Schultz. Lucentio's servant is Roy Willey.

Baptista, a rich gentleman, is John Gerber. Bianca's suitors are Gremio and Hortensio, played by Zeff Bernsten and Howard Martin. Lucentio's other servant, Biondello, is being played by Francis Hamer.

Petruchio, a gentleman of Verona, will be acted out by James Baker. Grumio and Curtis, two servants of Petruchio, are being played by John Erickson and James MacDonald. Other servants of Petruchio will be interpreted by John Turner, and Dave Pretty.

A&S Recount Will Be Asked

Diane Tinan, Arts and Science candidate for Student Council, told the Daily Nebraskan late Monday that she would ask for a recount of the Arts & Sciences ballots.

Miss Tinan lost by one vote 162 to 161 in the Arts and Sciences election.
