Kansas In Familiar Role At Big Eight Track Meet

By Hal Browa
Bill Easton's Kansas Jayhawkers must be rated a heavy favorite to win their 8th consecutive Big Eight Outdoor Track Championship this Friday and Saturday at Norman, Okla.

The Jayhawks tuned up for the big meet with a record shattering performance in downing Nebraska on a muddy track at Lincoln, Saturday. The meet may have been a bit costly to the Jayhawks however, as defending broad jump champion Ernie Shelby pulled a muscle on his first jump of the meet.

Battling for the first place in the broad jump will be Bill Toomey of Colorado, Darwin Ashbaugh and Paul Williams of Kansas, Bob Knaub of Nebraska and Charles Runge of Iowa State.

If Shelby is unable to compete, Toomey appears to be the man to beat. Toomey jumped 24-8 1/2 in an AAU meet last weekend. Williams went 24 feet 1/2 inch to win the event against Nebraska. Knaub was second with a jump of 23-7 1/2. Ashbaugh, the indoor champion, was close behind with 23-3 1/2.

The Pole Vault should develop into a battle among Ken Pollard of Nebraska, Aubrey Dooley and Jim Graham of Oklahoma State and Joe Webb of Missouri.

Pollard regained his winning form, Saturday, against Kansas setting a meet record of 14-6 1/2. Webb won the pole vault for Missouri against Notre Dame, Saturday, with a vault of 14-4 1/2. Dooley and Graham are both hovering around the 15 foot mark.

Oklahoma's Mike Lindsay and Dan Erwin will fight it out for first place in the shot put. With Lindsay and Erwin throwing, the Sooners have won the shot put in every meet they have participated in this spring.

Dick Cochran rates the favorite's role in the discus with a pre-meet toss of 178 feet 2 1/2 inches. No one figures to even come close to Bill Alley of Kansas in the javelin. Alley has a toss of 270 feet 1 1/2 inches to his credit this spring which is far past the record of 222 feet 10 inches set by Ken Yob of Colorado in 1956.

Bob Cannon of Kansas will be defending his championship in the high jump and must be considered the favorite. He jumped 6-5 1/4 Saturday and won the indoor championship at the same height earlier in the spring. The leading aspirants to his throne are Jim Green of Missouri, Steve French of Kansas and Larry Neeley of Oklahoma.

Athlete of Year Nominations

The Daily Nebraskan sports desk is again presenting an award to the outstanding Husker athlete of the year. The award includes a trophy presented by the Daily Nebraskan and the winners name will be engraved on a plaque which is kept in the N club room at the Coliseum.

Keith Gardner received the award last year. He was chosen over such stars as Gary Reimers, Dan Brand, George Fisk, Jim Kubacki, Jim Kane, Dwight Siebler, Jerry Brown, Willy Fitzpatrick, Bill North, and Dick McCashland.

The award was started by Bruce Brugmann in the spring of 1955. The first to receive the award was Bruce Riley, Nebraska's fine all-around gymnast. The award wasn't given in 1956, but was revived by Bob Martel in 1957 when Rex Ekwell, NU basketball star, received the award. Last year sports editor George Moyer presented the award to Gardner.

Any Varsity athlete who is presently enrolled and still competing is eligible for the award. Any University student may make nominations. The deadline for nominations is 5 p.m., Tuesday, May 19. The winner will be announced in the May 22 edition of the Daily Nebraskan. Nominations should be sent to:

Scarlet Tennis Team Goes To Norman For Big Eight Meet

By Keith Eland
Ed Higgenbotham, University of Nebraska tennis coach, will be sending his charges to their final match of the year at Norman, Okla., this week-end at the Big-8 Championships.

Higgenbotham came to the University from Beatrice, where he was a high school coach, and became the swimming coach during the 1945-46 school year. He took on the duties of intramural chairman until 1950, when he received his present position of tennis coach.

Last Year
Last year Nebraska's improved net squad moved into a fifth place tie with Kansas in the Big-8. The Huskers picked up three wins, all in the singles competition for their points. Bill North and George Fisk of Nebraska won more sets than any other of the four teams that met the eventual champions, Oklahoma State.

Nebraska will be carrying a season's record of eight wins in 14 matches. Oklahoma State will again be the big threat according to Higgenbotham, and Oklahoma may well be the second biggest competitor. Although Nebraska was beaten by Oklahoma State, 7-0, it was played on an indoor court early in the season when Nebraska had little or no practice.

Colorado may be a surprise threat due to the limited competition they have had this year because of weather conditions. Higgenbotham does not know what to really expect from this club.

Comparisons
Wichita beat Colorado 5-2 and won over Nebraska by 5-2 also. Kansas lost to Nebraska 4-3 and Kansas State was overtaken by Nebraska 6-1. Nebraska earlier in the season had come out on the short end against Kansas, 2-5, Oklahoma State 0-7, Iowa State 2-5 and Oklahoma 1-6.

Albert Arrigunaga leads the Nebraska team in scoring with 18 points. Bruce Russell follows closely behind with 16. Bill North has 13 points and Bill Kendall and Charlie Kress both have 10 points. Dave Calhoun has rounded up four team points and Jack Kraft has one.

Higgenbotham's comment on the outcome of next week-end's activities was, "All the teams are about equal except for Oklahoma State, and our chances will be better if we don't draw them for our first match."

The draw for pairings will be held Thursday night, which means the Huskers won't know who they will be facing until that time. Match play begins on Friday and continues through Saturday.
