

Thomas Dooley Visits Campus On Wednesday

Dr. Thomas A. Dooley, the "Bac Sy My" of countless thousands of refugees in Indo-China, will be in the Student Union at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

The jungle doctor, famous for his work in Laos, will receive the Mutual of Omaha Criss Award in Omaha Tuesday night.

The $10,000 and gold medal award is given for outstanding contributions in the field of health and safety.

Dr. Dooley will meet for an hour with faculty and students here.

Dr. Jonas Salk, discoverer of the Salk polio vaccine who was to have accompanied Dr. Dooley, now will not be able to participate in the Omaha or Lincoln activities.

Dr. Salk was the 1955 winner of the Criss award, named after Dr. C. C. Criss, founder of Mutual of Omaha.

Dr. Dooley will be accompanied by John Van Bloom, president of the Mutual of Omaha Lincoln agency and V. J. Skutt, Mutual of Omaha president and founder of the Criss award.

Dr. Charles W. Mayo of the Mayo Clinic, chairman of the Criss Award board of judges, said the selection was made last spring.

Dr. Dooley received word of the award Thursday in New York City. He said: "I'm overwhelmed — the first really direct award I've ever received as a doctor."

Dr. Dooley first became interested in the work in Laos, when after the fall of Dienbienphu and the political division of Indochina, he was a Navy doctor attending 600,000 refugees fleeing Communist domination in North Vietnam.

He returned to the United States and raised money by writing a best seller, "Deliver Us from Evil" about his work in Indochina.

Dr. Dooley has since established two hospitals and a clinic in Laos.

No Decision On Removal Of Old Ad

The Chancellor has not yet decided how to solicit $250,000 for the removal of the former Administration Building and for the construction of a new art department building.

The Board of Regents has authorized Hardin to solicit private funds for the project adjacent to the proposed new $2.5 million Sheldon Art Galleries.

Dean of Faculties Adam K. Breckenridge, chairman of the University Building Committee, says any recommendations the Chancellor may have for solicitations must be approved by the Board of Regents which will meet Friday.

The Board announced its decision to remove the old Administration building, built in 1905, at the last meeting on Oct. 21.

It is now being used by the department of architecture, and for conferences, institutions and community services. At present the art department holds classes on the second and third floors of Morrill Hall where the University Art Galleries also are located.

LARC Kids Will Get AUF Money

This is the second article in the series, "Where Your Money Goes," concerning contributions collected by the All University Fund. The articles explain each of the charities that AUF will donate to this year, the various purposes the charity serves.

The 14th annual AUF drive started Monday and ends Nov. 21. The Lancaster Association for Retarded Children was founded five years ago by the parents of retarded children in Lincoln. Tuition is about $20 per month and is supplemented by charity contributions.

The only other sources of income for the school are the annual National Association for Retarded Children drive in Lincoln and individual contributions.

Through LARC school, many retarded children are taught to take a measure of responsibility and adopt themselves to useful lives in the community.

LARC School is located on a state-owned farm formerly used as a Nebraska home for boys. The University's old student Health building was obtained by LARC to house a shelter workshop.

Deadline Near For Cornhusker Picture-Taking

This is the last week for the taking of individual Cornhusker pictures.

Anyone not yet having their picture taken should report to the Commuters Lounge in the Student Union basement anytime this week between the hours of 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m.

Cornhusker staff members issued a special appeal to members of Innocents and Mortar Boards. Only four of each group have reported for pictures, they said.

At 10 a.m. these people will be in the lounge of the Student Union and hold informal chats with students and parents.

MB's, Innocents Host Mortar Boards and Innocents will act as hosts to the many parents who are expected to be present, according to Bob Blair, chairman of Parents Day activities. Free coffee and rolls also will be served during the morning reception.

In the afternoon, parents will be honored at the Nebraska-Colorado football game. Blair reported that tickets for the special parents sections may be obtained from A. J. Lewandowski at the Coliseum business office.

He said that students who wish to sit with their parents in this section must pick up special slips at the office since the activities cards will not admit students to that section.

Navy Rules Against TV For Ball

The Military Ball will not be televised this year as it has been in recent years, according to Dick Basoco, publicity chairman of the Ball committee.

Several factors figured in the no TV decision, he said. "The original purpose of televising the Military Ball was to call attention to the Ball throughout this part of the state. It is the opinion of the staff that this has been done," Basoco reported.

"Another consideration is that televising requires extensive lighting and other facilities that the Navy, sponsors of the Ball this year, feels would detract from the extensive interior decorations that have been planned," he added.

"It is hoped," he concluded, "that the removal of the lights needed for television will add greatly to the atmosphere and spectator appeal of the Ball."

Twenty-one campus coeds, contenders for the Nebraska Sweetheart title, will be interviewed tonight by Innocent's Society.

The interviewing board will select 10 finalists on the basis of poise, beauty, personality and general appearance.

The finalists will be announced Dec. 4 at the same time as the 10 Prince Kosmet contenders.

Early Interviews According to Don Epp, selection chairman, the Sweetheart interviews are being held at this early date because the individual sororities and residence halls already have submitted their candidates.

The method of choosing Prince Kosmet also has been changed this year. Later interviews of both groups would cause unnecessary rush and confusion, he said.

Fraternalities and men's residences are required to sell tickets to the Kosmet Klub show in order to nominate a candidate for Prince Kosmet. Each organization must sell 50 tickets for each nominee.

The candidates must then be interviewed by the Mortar Boards who will select 10 finalists on the basis of appearance, personality and attitude.

The finalists will be announced at the same time as the Sweetheart finalists, Dec. 4. This date is one week before the Kosmet Klub show and provides for a one-week campaign period.

Choice Only Before Epp said originally Prince Kosmet candidates were selected in the same manner as the Sweetheart contenders. The sponsoring group simply chose a candidate to represent them at the interviews.

KK devised the new system of requiring the houses to sell 50 tickets for each nominee for several reasons. Epp said the Club feels it does a service for the organization which justifies the request.

He added that KK felt the publicity afforded the fraternities and organized houses warranted this return service.

The candidates are: Joyce Clark, Residence Halls for Women; Barbara Jahn, Residence Halls; Sally Markovitz, Residence Halls; Pat Johnson, Chi Omega; Pat Salisbury, Alpha Xi Delta; Polly Doering, Alpha Omicron Phi; CeCe McClain, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Angie Holbert, Delta Gamma; Virginia Sagehorn, Fedde Hall; Ann Billmyer, Pi Beta Phi; Janet Hansen, Delta Delta Delta; Marian Brayton, Alpha Phi; Alma Heuermann, Love Memorial Hall; Shirley Shiff, Sigma Delta Tau; Sharon Baughman, Kappa Delta.

Suzanne Tinan, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Laurie Abernethy, Zeta Tau Alpha; Kaymarie Swartz, Sigma Kappa; Judy Holmes, Alpha Chi Omega; Valerie Roggow, Residence Halls; and Sharon Harvey, Terrace Hall.

Theatre Events Are Not Social

... Schedule Conflicts Explained

University Theatre follows the same rules as any other campus organization when scheduling productions.

However, the Theatre can plan events for closed nights — Homecoming, Military Ball, Chancellor's Reception — since it is considered a departmental function rather than a social event, according to Mrs. James Eller, assistant to the dean of student affairs.

Complaints Heard Student Council heard complaints last Wednesday that Theatre productions would occur during Military Ball weekend, Kosmet Klub and Coed Follies.

Complaints were that students were required to miss the events if they participated in the productions. The Theatre season opened Homecoming weekend.

Mrs. Eller, who has charge of preparing the activities calendar each spring, said every group submits a tentative schedule to her office by April 20.

Two Dates Picked

"Organizations are contacted if there is a conflict," she added. She also said the Theatre had been notified last spring that Homecoming and Kosmet Klub had been spoken for earlier.

The Coed Follies date was set April 28, eight days after the Theatre had submitted its schedule.

Dr. James Baldwin, acting Theatre director, said Monday the Theatre administration "certainly didn't intend to 'kill' any activities."

"We can take the criticism and will try to schedule so there won't be so many conflicts, but won't guarantee there won't be any," he added.

"This University is just getting larger and conflicts are bound to occur," he said.

No Designs

He noted that the season's opener this year on Homecoming weekend was not designed to "draw the Homecoming crowd."

He said it was planned as "the most convenient date since the start of the term (for rehearsal time)," and it would give ample time to start rehearsal for the next production.

There will be no rehearsal or production the night of the Military Ball, Dec. 4, he noted.

J. P. Colbert, dean of student affairs, said Monday he told a Council representative, "The University Theatre did not receive any special privileges and that it was impossible to avoid all scheduling conflicts."

NUCWA To Feature Labor Talks

They will summarize the local and national structure of labor unions along with recent labor problems. The panel will then open the program to questions.

Included on the panel will be Herbert Stocker of Omaha, area representative of the AFL-CIO; Ronald Smith of Lincoln, president of the Communications Workers Local 7470 and a member of the state AFL-CIO executive board; L. K. Emery, first vice president of the Lincoln Central Labor Union; and Kenneth Lewis, secretary of the LCLU and a member of the AFL-CIO.

Board members will meet at 6:30.

This is the first program to be presented this year by NUCWA. Membership is open to anyone.

Education Directory Available

The Advancement & Placement Institute, a non-commercial professional information and advisory service for the field of education, has published the third volume in a series of "World-Wide Graduate Award Directories."

The directory includes information on fellowships, assistantships, prizes, scholarships and work-study plans for students and professional people.

Many Contributors — More than 350 universities and foundations throughout the United States as well as more than 100 foreign universities have sent information to be listed in the new volume.

Each listing includes the amount of the stipends which range from $200 up to $10,000, the field of study, the candidates prerequisites and the method of application.

Volumes I and II were published in 1957 and 1958.

Copies of all volumes of the Directory may be examined at most deans' offices, university and public libraries and school superintendent offices. It may be ordered from the Institute, Box 99, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N.Y. Each volume is $3 and the set of three is $8.

Placement Journal The Institute also issues a monthly non-fee placement journal, "Crusade for Education," which features an annual international issue.

This issue is especially devoted to foreign positions including qualifications and salaries, administrative, librarian, research and science positions.

Many of these positions pay travel expenses and, in most cases, the language of instruction is English.

The magazine may be ordered from the Institute.

Young GOP To Study Publicity

In cooperation with the University Young Republican club and the State Young Republican executive committee, the State Central Republican Committee is sponsoring a public relations clinic for top level Nebraska party workers.

The clinic will be held in Lincoln Dec. 4-5, according to Loran Schmidt, State Young Republican chairman.

The first clinic of its kind in the state, the two-day program will include a study of daily and weekly newspaper news techniques, a seminar in preparation and release of news, radio and television methods, tips on newsplay and discussions of how the Nebraska Republican party can best explain its program and present its candidates to the people of Nebraska.

A public relations manual that is being prepared for state Republican organizations also will be distributed and explained at the clinic.

No Trip Here For Rockefeller

Nelson Rockefeller, Governor of New York, sent a letter of thanks to University Young Republicans for an invitation to speak to the student body.

However, present plans do not call for a stop in Nebraska so the invitation had to be declined.

In a letter to Rod Ellerbusch, president of Young Republicans, the special assistant to Rockefeller, Owen Root, said, "The governor appreciated your thoughtfulness and hopes that it will be renewed if he does visit your area in the future."

Ellerbusch reported that family friends of the Rockefeller in Lincoln are making further requests for his visit to the state.

Tea Will Honor Vice Chairman

The Young Republicans will have a tea honoring Mrs. Clare Williams, National Republican Vice Chairman, Nov. 18 at 5 p.m. in the Student Union.

Accompanying Mrs. Williams will be Mrs. Ann Batchelder, state vice chairman, and Mrs. Edna Basten Donald, national committee-woman from Nebraska.

Jan. Rhoda, vice-president of the Young Republicans, said that all University women are invited to hear Mrs. Williams, who is in charge of Republican women's activities in the United States.
