

Jennings Honored

AIR FORCE PLAQUE—Head football coach Bill Jennings receives a plaque from Col. W. B. Atwell of the department of air science in appreciation for work Jennings did in Europe this summer as an instructor in the United States Air Force football clinic. Jennings received the plaque along with a letter from Col. Guy N. Blair, chief of the special services branch of the personnel services division, directorate of military personnel. The engraving on the plaque said, "Presented to William A. Jennings for outstanding services to the United States Air Force Special Services Sports Program, 1959." He received the award at a special ceremony Thursday afternoon with Air Force ROTC students participating.

New Procedure—

Everyone Can Vote For Military Queen

Procedure for the election of a 1959 Honorary Commandant has been changed to enable all students to vote on all nine candidates before the service branches select their queens.

The nine will be revealed at half-time of the Nebraska-Colorado game Saturday. On Nov. 20 all students may vote for three girls for the title even if they do not plan to attend the Military Ball. Ballots that are marked with the numbers one, two and three for preference will be discarded.

Nov. 23 and 24 the service branches will vote in their classrooms for the service queens. The elections committee will select three representatives for each service from the nine.

Previously the services selected their queens before the students voted on Honorary Commandant. Only people who held tickets for the ball could vote. This year only student identification cards will be necessary to cast a vote.

Colonel E. R. McCarthy, staff advisor to the elections committee made this statement, "I realize there will be a certain amount of campaigning going on and I hope it will be carried on in a dignified manner which is fitting to the occasion."

"The Military Ball is more dignified even than Homecoming and the campaign should not be carried on in the same rah rah nature," said a member of the publicity committee.

Two Queens Will Reign At Pep Rally

The Girl Most Likely to Stop the Colorado Buffalo and the Activities Queen will share the limelight at tonight's pep rally.

The presentation of the Activities Queen will be made by Fred Bliss, AUF vice president. The queen will be one of four finalists interviewed for the final time Thursday night. She will be attended by the other three candidates.

Finalists are Sharon Demars, Lynn Wright, Sharon Rogers and Gladys Rolfsmeyer.

The Girl Most Likely to Stop the Colorado Buffalo will be selected for her audience appeal, appearance, originality and costume. She will also be presented at half-time during the game Saturday. Her prize will be a two-foot teddy bear.

Parents Reception

Students' parents will have the chance to informally meet and visit with administrative and faculty members Saturday morning.

An informal reception will be held from 10 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. in the main lounge of the Student Union.

Chancellor Hardin, Jim Pittenger, assistant to the Chancellor, Bill Orwig, director of athletics, deans of the colleges and faculty members will be on hand to visit with students and parents.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be served during the reception.

Cornhusker Pix Deadline Extended

Due to popular request individual pictures for the Cornhusker may be taken for three more days.

The last opportunity will be Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Photo editor Dick Bosoco said, "I had hoped we would wind up the picture taking by today, but many have called saying they were unable to get down this week and asked for an extension."

He said many have put it off as they felt the date would be extended as it had in the past.

"I was reluctant to do so, but I hope everyone will take advantage of the three day extension now," he said.

Those who have had pictures taken this week may pick up the proofs in the temporary studio in the Commuters lunch room of the Student Union.

Bosoco reminded all Mortar Boards and Innocents to have their individual pictures taken this week also.

Dorm Thief Pleads Guilty To Petty Larceny Charge

A Lincoln woman is awaiting sentencing for stealing in the Women's Residence Halls.

Mrs. George Boghossian, 20, of 1845 E, pleaded guilty to a petty larceny charge Thursday in Lancaster County Court.

Her sentence was deferred, pending further investigation by Robert Metcalfe, probation officer.

Mrs. Boghossian, who is not a University student, admitted stealing a television set from a housemother, Mrs. Robert Moodie, and cash from a number of purses and billfolds.

According to University police Captain Eugene Masters, more than $100 has been reported missing by dormitory residents, but Mrs. Boghossian claims she took only about $50.

No Record

The Lincoln woman, whose husband is an employee at the State Hospital, had no previous record of theft, Masters said.

Captain Masters said all dormitory residents had been alerted to watch for mysterious persons in the dormitory. Mrs. Boghossian had been seen, but no one realized she was the thief, he said.

On Tuesday she went into a girl's room, "thinking the girl was not in," she went on, "but she was," and Mrs. Boghossian told her "she was sorry, she had the wrong room."

Took License Number

Then she went to a phone booth, and the coed summoned Mrs. Moodie. According to Masters, the housemother followed Mrs. Boghossian when she left the dorm and took her license number.

Masters traced the car and went to the Boghossian home, accompanied by a policewoman, Mrs. Hulda Roper.

He said he found the television sitting in the front room.

On the way to the police station, Mrs. Boghossian admitted she had done the stealing, Masters said.

Threw Purses Away

She admitted that she usually took purses and billfolds and left them in the rest

Council Asks Student Views On Extended Library Hours

Library hours was the subject of much discussion in the regular Wednesday meeting of the Student Council.

J. B. Fournier, Law School representative, stated that the value of Love Library was well over two million dollars and interest rates on this, at six per cent, amounted to thousands per year.

"With this much going out the window every year, we may as well use the library as much as possible," he said.

Up To Council
Dave Godbey, member of the Library Committee last year, told the Council it must decide the hours desired and the days that they wanted the library to be open and then gather student support to back the Council. He also stated that longer hours had been sought in the past, but that the situation now is similar to that of the past two years.

Jack Nielsen, Council President, said that the opinion of the Council members is more than just any 33 students and that the Student Council recommendations carry weight, although only when these recommendations are made on and supported by a strong foundation.

"We must start with a well defined course of action," he said. "First, we must get a good sample of student opinion and then make a vigorous, all-out effort to attain the students' wishes. Student Council members must really push an effort like this and gather as much information as possible which we may then build a foundation upon."

Research Books

It was stated that Frank Lundy, Director of University Libraries, wanted to purchase more books for research purposes. He is also not convinced that students want extended and increased library hours nor is he convinced that students would use these if they were adopted.

It was further stated that the staff of the Love Memorial Library thinks the library should be used more for research purposes than for simple place in which to study.

Henry Baumgarten, Council Faculty Adviser, told the Council that the recent boost in the library's budget was used up on the increasing costs of the library and not on new books. He said that there are numerous demands from every channel that books and journals be obtained and the administrators of the library have to be thoroughly convinced of a plan before they will approve it due to the shortage of funds.

He also told the Council that it would be a matter of "taking money from one pocket and moving it to another" if the library were to extend and increase hours.

Chuck Wilson mentioned the earlier vote of the Council that was submitted to the Library Committee and also told the Council of a poll taken last year which had included over 700 University students which was submitted to the library as a sample of student desires.

He said the Council must get views of the student body and then express them in a motion by the Student Council. Then, he said, we should get a "yes" or "no" answer.

Hardin Will Direct College Association

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin recently was elected president of the American Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities.

The organization is composed of 68 major institutions in 50 states and Puerto Rico. More than 1300 college presidents and administrators were present in St. Louis for the meeting where the announcement was made.

A University First

This is the first time that a University representative has been elected to such a high and important national post. Dr. Hardin, 44, is also believed to be the youngest president the association has had.

"I was highly pleased to be selected for this post," said the Chancellor. "I have long been an enthusiastic supporter of the programs and philosophy of the Land Grant Institutions," he continued.

The position will be for one year and the custom is that after serving as president, the following year he will serve as chairman of the executive committee. The executive board is composed of 12 other members from colleges and universities.

He succeeds D. C. Clement French, president of Washington State University, who has held the post for the past year.

Committee Member

Dr. Hardin has been a member of the Association's executive committee and chairman of the steering committee for the celebration of its 100th birthday in 1962.

On the national education scene, the Chancellor is chairman of the committee on Institutional Projects Abroad and a member of the new committee for Educational Liaison Between U.S. and Countries of Sub-Saharan Africa, both of the American Council on Education.

He is also a trustee of the Midwest Research Institute of Kansas City.

Chancellor Hardin has been at the University since 1954 and was instrumental in obtaining the $2.9 million Nebraska Center for Continuing Education which was partly financed by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation.

Directories Sales End Next Week

Advanced sales for Builders student directories end Nov. 18.

Students who want directories must purchase them in advance as only the number purchased will be ordered.

Organized houses will be contacted Monday and Tuesday nights and booths will be open in the Student Union Tuesday and Wednesday from 10 to 12 a.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. Julie Kay is in charge of the sales.

Price of the books—which list names, addresses, phone numbers, affiliation, and majors of students as well as information on the faculty—is 85 cents.

Garner To Play At "Sadie" Dance

Stacy Garner's Orchestra will play at the first Sadie Hawkins dance sponsored by the Ag Student Union.

The dance will be held tonight in the College Activities gym 8:30 to 11:30.

Tickets are being sold by committee members of the Ag Union and are also on sale in the activities office of the Ag Union.

Report on Calendar Causes Questioning

A Calendar Committee report was also the subject of Student Council comment at the Wednesday meeting.

Some of the Council members were curious about the absence of Council opinion on the beginning of the 1960-61 school term at the recent Faculty Senate meeting.

Dennis Nelson, Chairman of the Council Calendar Committee, told the Council that all the evidence that was submitted to him was three letters and the straw vote of the Council's preference.

"The Faculty Calendar Committee took a survey of faculty date preferences and based their decision on this since the Student Council representative was not present at that meeting," he said. "Evidence submitted just did not have enough weight for us to try to present our point, and the presentation of our argument would have had to be presented to the Faculty Senate since the Faculty Calendar Committee had already made its decision."

Jack Nielsen told the Council that three letters showed some support, but not enough. He also explained that the reason a Council member was not present at the Faculty Calendar Committee meeting was due to a mix-up in the mail system.

The Council was notified of the meeting in time, but the notification did not reach the Council's hands until one day after the meeting since the letter had gotten lost in the rearrangement of the activity mail boxes in the Union. He explained that it was not the fault of any person or organization, as had perhaps been understood by some.

J. B. Fournier said the Student Council should show student opinion and a 25-3 ratio (straw vote of Council on calendar question) should indicate the student opinion for the campus.

Jack Nielsen told the Council that "members acted as individuals in presenting opinion and not as representatives. Bob Krohn informed the Council that a "straw vote shows only individual opinion and is not representative."

It was stated that the Student Council weight and the letters were found to be insufficient and though a presentation of this evidence to the Faculty Senate would hurt the Council more than help it.

Commencement, Meters Discussed by Council

In addition to school calendars and library hours, parking meters and schedule conflicts were discussed by Council members. Elimination of the speaker at the Commencement exercises also evoked opinions of various activities represented at the Council.

The Parking Board stated that they had submitted a recommendation to James Pittenger, assistant to the chancellor, that the twelve minute meters be changed to either two or four hour meters since very few students used the twelve minute meters. The Parking Board made this recommendation since the Student Union parking lot is still on an experimental basis.

Ken Tempero, social committee chairman, stated that the Faculty Sub-Committee on Social Affairs is planning to make two recommendations to the Faculty Committee on Student Affairs.

One of the recommendations will be: on closed dates, such as Ivy Day, Homecoming and the Chancellor's Reception, nothing else should be scheduled. The other is: there should be no duplications in scheduling dates of events which involve a large segment of the student body and/or paid public performance and that events scheduled first should be given priority.

It was also reported that the faculty is interested in finding a more effective and fair method of punishing students for offenses. The present method consists of either dismissal, conduct probation or conduct warning.

In connection with the opinion upon whether a speaker should be engaged for Commencement, Jack Nielsen received various Council member's individual findings on the subject. Builders Board was in favor of having a speaker, 12-4. The four dissenting votes being cast because of the heat problem in the Coliseum. A. W. S. was unanimously in favor of a speaker, although they thought a time limit should be imposed and a local speaker be considered.

I. W. A. and Tassels were in favor of eliminating a speaker unless the speech were a short one delivered by a member of the University. They believe tradition should be followed and retain the Coliseum as the site of Commencement instead of moving it to Pershing Auditorium or Memorial Stadium where it would be cooler.

Some thought that a speaker for Commencement was very necessary and that the other program should be condensed to avoid the amount of time consumed. They also thought the selection of the speaker was of prime importance in the question of eliminating speakers at Commencement.
