

Walker's Jumpshot In Final Second Nips Husker Quintet

Spartans Win 82-80

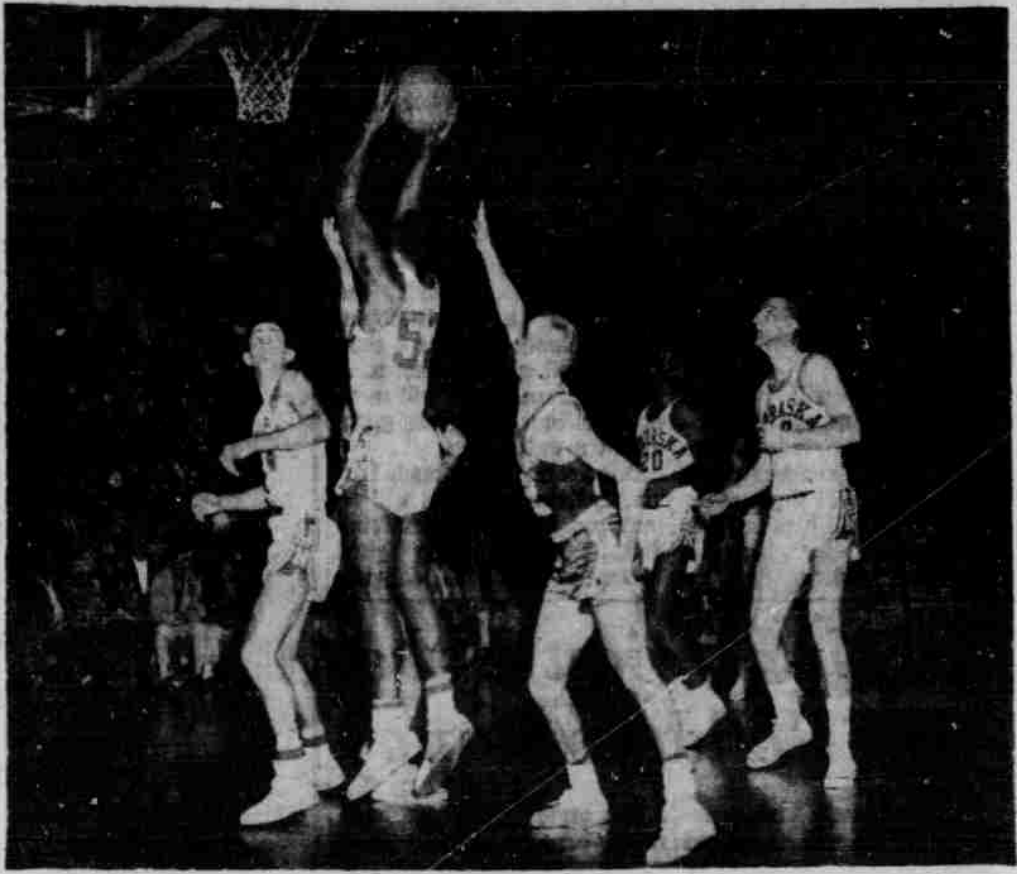

By Hal Brown
A jump shot by Horace Walker as the final gun sounded in the second overtime period gave Michigan State an 82-80 win over the Huskers at the Coliseum Thursday night.

After the Huskers' Hersch Turner tied the game at 80-all with 41 seconds remaining, the Spartans called timeout and stalled until with four seconds left Dave Fahs, Michigan State's playmaker, passed to Walker who turned and let fly with a jumper. The ball was just settling in the net as the gun went off.

Halftime Deficit
Nebraska fought back from a 45-40 halftime deficit to tie the score at 68-68 on a layin by Al Roots with 2:18 left to play. The Huskers regained control of the ball again with 1:45 left, and the score still knotted.

Coach Jerry Bush's quintet then held onto the ball with Turner taking a shot in the final seconds and missing, sending the game into an overtime.

The Huskers gained the lead on two free throws by Kowalke early in the second overtime period but the Spartans' Art Schwarm, in the game for the first time, hit

Second Overtime
Nebraska got control of the ball with 22 seconds remaining in the first overtime and Rex Sweet tried a shot with less than five seconds remaining but missed as the game entered the second overtime period.

Jim Bechinski scored on a layin for Michigan State as the Spartans controlled the tip. The Huskers' Al Maxey came back with a set shot from the corner but Bechinski broke loose for another layin.

Gowens made two free throws to give the Spartans a four-point margin as Nebraska's Jim Kowalke fouled out. Husker sophomore Jan Wall scored on a jump shot to pull Nebraska within two points.

However, Gowens made a layin to increase the Michigan State margin to four points again.

The Huskers weren't out of it yet, though, as Turner scored on two layins to knot the score at 80-all, with 41 setting up Walker's game-winning bucket.

Largest Lead
The largest Nebraska lead of the evening was a seven-point margin at 21-14 midway in the first half. After Kowalke hit a twisting jump shot giving the Huskers that lead, Michigan State began a full court press and pulled within one point at 21-20 before Kowalke and Turner hit successive jump shots.

The Spartans took the lead at 34-32 on a jump shot by Walker with 5:11 remaining in the first half and never trailed again until Kowalke made two free throws at the beginning of the first overtime period.

Nebraska outshot the Spartans from the field 33 field goals to 30 but Fordy Anderson's club hit eight more free throws than the Huskers.

Maxey and Turner each scored 19 points to lead the Huskers with Al Roots adding 16 to the cause. It was Roots first start for Nebraska. Lance Olson and Walker scored 21 and 20 respectively for the Spartans.

"Do you realize what you might have done?"

This man didn't know he was speeding. He didn't see that stop sign he passed! Last year, nearly 40,000 died in traffic accidents. In too many of these cases, the drivers who caused them didn't realize they were at fault—until too late. Suppose the officer hadn't stopped this driver in time!
