

It's Colder Than...

COLD SNAP — Freezing cold weather yesterday, with temperatures hovering near the zero mark, slowed down campus activity. The frigid readings, along with remaining ice and snow left over from the weekend storm, made driving and walking unpleasant to say the least. The University power plant appeared to be working overtime (at left) as black clouds of smoke and white clouds of vapor rose nearly straight into the air. And it was just as cold downtown as on campus. The Continental National Bank temperature sign (at right) reminded passersby of what their cold faces already told them.

Juniors' Worksheets Due Today

Junior worksheets will receive priority at Administration today as acceptance of the sheets and card pulling moves into the second day.

Students who fail to turn in their worksheets on the correct day may do so the following day or next Monday. Students not turning in worksheets by that date may register Jan. 29-Feb. 13. New and returning students also may register at that time.

Students in Junior Division, Business Administration or Agriculture may leave their add and drop worksheets at their dean's office before Jan. 20 and the changes will be made during early registration.

Students are to pick up their cards and pay fees at the Men's P. E. building according to the schedule Jan. 22, A-G; Jan. 25, H-M; and Jan. 26, N-Z.

Those who do not claim their packets of cards and pay fees on the correct day, may do so Feb. 1-6 but a late fee of $3 will be assessed. If payment is postponed to Feb. 8-13 the late fee is $4.

Graduate College students and teachers advanced professional students register Jan. 29-Feb. 13.

Firemen Make Call At Library

Alert students prevented what could have been a serious fire in Love Library Tuesday night, a library official told the Daily Nebraskan.

They reported seeing a live spark on the rug in the Orr American Literature Reading Room on second floor about 9 p.m.

Seven local fire trucks rushed to the library, and firemen tore out a radiator panel where a cigarette had fallen.

The library had smelled of smoke during the day, but the source had not been detected, the library official said.

He said a similar incident several years ago resulted in considerable wall damage.

There was no damage to the wall, rug or books this time, he said.

Home Ec Elections Tomorrow

Madge Haumont and Rosemary Kuhl will vie Thursday for the presidency of the Home Economics Club.

Students with Club membership cards will be eligible to vote in the election which will be held from 4 to 5:30 p.m. in the Ag Union Lounge.

Other nominees are secretary, Gladys Rolfsmeier and Mary Anne Weber; treasurer, Virginia Sagehorn and Jeanne Spanhake.

Publicity chairman, Elaine Bath, Vera Egger and Judy Yaryan; membership, Carma Anderson, Nancy McGath and Sonya Erickson; and historian, Kay Anderson, Gayle Blank and Janice Scott.

Members are asked to work on their service projects while voting.

Nebraskan Opens 'Outstanding' Bids

Nominations for "Outstanding Nebraskan" opened today.

Letters may be submitted to the Daily Nebraskan office, Room 51 in the basement of the Student Union until 5 p.m. Tuesday. One and one faculty member will be selected for the award which will be announced in the Jan. 15 issue of the paper.

Semester Awards
Both men and women are eligible for the title, presented at the close of each semester. Any student or faculty member may nominate a candidate.

Letters stating the reasons for nomination must be submitted in writing and signed by the person making the nomination.

Names of persons making nominations will be kept confidential. Nominating letters become the property of the Daily Nebraskan and any or all parts of the letter may be printed in the paper.

Outstanding Contributions
Faculty members nominated must have been on the University staff for at least two years. Both students and faculty members must have made outstanding contributions to the University. Candidates may not be a paid staff member of the Daily Nebraskan.

The new officers will be installed next Monday.

YW Cabinet Applications Available

New Program Is Inaugurated

YWCA cabinet applications are now available.

Persons interested in a chairmanship of a Y committee should pick up their applications at the YWCA office in the Student Union.

The deadline for applications is Monday. Interviews will be held Jan. 12 from 3 to 5 p.m. and Jan. 13 from 2-4 p.m.

Positions Open

Positions open include chairmanships of the following committees: membership, publicity, worship, love and marriage. Bible study, faculty firesides and community service.

A student Christian Council representative will also be chosen.

Other possible committee chairmanships may be added. They would include campus problems, religious groups, public offices and projects.

The Community Service committee is inaugurating a new program this year. It will serve as a clearing house for volunteer service in the community.

Community Service

Fraternal, sororities and other organizations may contact the YW committee for information concerning community services available as possible projects. The committee will serve as a mediator between social service agencies in Lincoln and University groups.

The new cabinet members will be introduced to the Y members at a YWCA Coke party to be held Feb. 4 at 7 p.m. at the Lutheran Student House. Interested persons may sign up for committee work at this time.

Outstanding group workers will be selected as part of the new program this semester. Selection will be announced at the May Morning breakfast.

Japanese Film Showing Tonight

A Japanese film, "Samurai," will be the foreign film society presentation tonight at 8.

The color film is an Academy Award winner presented by William Holden. A war movie, the theme is built around the "Legend of the Musashi."

NU Health Service Develops Diabetes Detection Technique

'Do-It-Yourself' Test Strips Involved in Approach

By Nancy Whitford
A new technique for the early detection of diabetes, which may have nationwide significance, has been developed by the University Health Service.

The new approach to diabetic case finding consists of mailing "do-it-yourself" test strips to persons who are then asked to return the results. Significance lies in the fact that the method is both cheap and effective.

Some 1,600 of these tests were recently mailed to University employees. An additional 3,400 were placed in University buildings to be picked up by students.

To date, 585 tests have been returned by employees and 123 by students. Of this number, 16 were positive. Seven of the 16 have been proved to be definitely diabetic. Four of the seven were aware of the condition and three were not. Three additional persons who tested positive have been identified as "probably diabetic."

"The significance of these figures lies in the fact that 2 to 2½ persons per 1,000 on the University campus have been found to have diabetes without being previously aware of it," said Dr. Kenneth Rose, director of research for the University Health service.

"This means that there are probably 200-250 persons in the city of Lincoln who may also have diabetes without realizing it," he said.

1.7 Cents Each

Cost of the tests is approximately 1.7 cents each, while similar testing done in a doctor's office would cost about $2. However, once a year during National Diabetes Week, Nov. 15-31, all doctors cooperate to run free tests on individuals who desire them. Due to lack of initiative on the part of the public, this method has been successful to only a limited degree.

Suggested by a consulting physician to the University Health Service who wishes to remain anonymous, the new idea was given impetus by Dr. Samuel Fuenning, director of the health service. Much of the "legwork" also was done by Dr. Rose and Miss Celeste Knipmeyer, public health nurse.

The importance of early detection cannot be overemphasized, according to Dr. Rose. One example of this is the fact that when the body fails to burn sugar, it burns fat instead. This causes the formation of certain fatty substances believed to cause hardening of the arteries. Still another result may be blindness.

Persons who have family histories of diabetes should be especially careful to have frequent test checks, Dr. Rose noted. All persons are recommended to be tested once a year though he said.

Additional possibilities for the method are seen in the future when similar test strips may be used to discover kidney ailments and other diseases.

'Most Eligible' Finalists To Be Named at Follies

Eligible Bachelor candidates have been interviewed but the 10 finalists will not be revealed until Coed Follies Feb. 26.

Candidates were judged on personality, appearance and their "unattached status," according to Bunny Aikens, Cornhusker royalty section head.

Houses or residences could submit one candidate for each group of 25 yearbooks sold at the beginning of the year.

Judges selecting the 10 finalists were Mrs. Bernice Randolph, Mrs. Amile Pearce and Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Bengston. The five most eligible will be selected at a later date and they and the runners up will be announced in the 1960 Cornhusker.

Candidates for the titles and their sponsors are Archie Clegg, Don Epp, Rus Edeal, George Fritts, Fred Bliss and Morris Beerbohm, Farm House; Jim Brown, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Art Blackman, Alpha Tau Omega.

Jim Moore, Phi Delta Theta; Jim Samples, Larry Frazier and Jim Glather, Selleck Quad; Jim Hoge, Phi Kappa Psi; Dave Anstine, Kappa Sigma; Jim McKenney, Beta Theta Pi; Tom Gilliland, Phi Gamma Delta.

Al Krizelman, Jerry Rosen, Howard Lipton and Howard Kenyon, Sigma Alpha Mu; John Zauha, Harlan Haaberg and Richard Eberspacher, Alpha Gamma Rho; Fred Howlett, Ken Tempero, Bernice Votava and Dave Godbey, Theta Xi; Henry Bauermeister, Beta Sigma Psi; and Doug Sieler and Jim Kowalke, Delta Upsilon.

Rag Picks Officials For Contest

Three women and one man will judge the Daily Nebraskan-sponsored "Best Dressed Girl" contest.

Interviews will be held Jan. 13, beginning at 7:15 p.m. in 349 Student Union.

The judges are Mrs. Naomi Schweis, buyer at Hovland-Schwans; Mrs. Ginny Holtenbaugh, fashion coordinator at Ben Simon and Sons; Miss Mary Louise Babst, fashion coordinator at Miller and Paine, and Quentin Bengston, owner of Quentin's Town and Campus, and Three Steps Up.

Mrs. Frank Morrison, fashion coordinator at Gold's, may also be a judge.

Seventeen candidates have been entered in the contest. The winner will be entered in the national contest sponsored by Glamour magazine. The 10 national winners will then spend two weeks in New York City as guests of Glamour.

The winner of the University contest will be announced in the Jan. 15 issue of the Daily Nebraskan.

Married Student Dance Is Friday

A dance for married students is scheduled Friday evening in the Student Union Ballroom.

Baby sitting facilities and free movies for the children will be provided in the Ogallala Room from 8 to 11:30 p.m.

Music will be furnished by the Kersten Brothers stereophonic set. Admission will be 50 cents.

AUF Totals Unavailable

AUF drive totals are not yet available, according to Gretchen Shellberg, publicity chairman.

She said that the results of the drive might be ready for release following AUF's Thursday night meeting.

Winter Park Is Invaded:

'Skiing Is Great' Say NU Fans

Nobody qualified for the Winter Olympics, but 14 students and their chaperone returned from Colorado with the opinion that "skiing is great."

The group spent five days during Christmas vacation at Winter Park, Colo., as representatives of the Student Union's annual ski excursion.

One Sprain
Only one member was listed on the casualty rolls and escaped with a sprained knee.

The daredevils of the slopes left Lincoln early Dec. 29 and traveled in the clubcar of the Burlington Zephyr. (Due to overcrowded conditions, the car had been converted from lounging for passenger use.)

Several cars were added to the train which took them from Denver to Winter Park, since skiers from all parts of the country had migrated west for the holidays.

Even Ratio
Whether they planned it that way or not, the ratio of men and women was even, seven to seven, plus sponsor Dottie Holcomb.

Arriving Wednesday noon, the group checked out the surroundings and ended up at a cozy night-spot known as "Adolph's." One Cornhusker became impromptu pianist for the evening.

Early next morning they donned their parkas and had their first taste of skiing via two professional lessons. Most of the say was spent mastering fundamentals and learning how to fall gracefully.

New Year's Gathering
New Year's Eve found our heroes gathered around the lodge's new fireplace, celebrating with students from Minnesota, Texas and Iowa State who also were staying there.

Thursday and Friday were donated to skiing, with three students taking to the lift on the experts' slope.

They also watched jumpers training for the Olympics at Squaw Valley, Calif., next month. One skier was seen coming down the slopes with a baby on her back.

J. MATHIS—One of 10 stops.

Ticket Sales Begin Today For Mathis

Tickets go on sale today at the north entrance of the Student Union for the Johnny Mathis program Feb. 10.

"We want to provide University students with the opportunity to buy tickets first as it is primarily a University activity; however, after Friday we will offer the tickets to the public," said Howard Kooper of Corn Cobs, the sponsoring organization.

"The program is not a money-making project or one only for entertainment but one which Corn Cobs believe will bring prestige to the University and pride to the students," Kooper added.

The Nebraska program is one of 10 stops in the nation which Mathis is making on his special college tour.

Tickets are available today through Friday at prices of $2.95, $2.25 and $1.50.

Famous Novelist Newly Appraised By Dr. Hough

The book, "The Quiet Rebel: William Dean Howells as Social Commentator," written by Dr. Robert L. Hough of the University department of English, is a recent publication of the University Press.

The new appraisal of the famous American novelist is concerned primarily with Howells' role as a social reformer from 1900 to 1920, when he was the occupant of the "Editor's Easy Chair" on Harpers Monthly.

Many observers believed Howells' interest in social reform died with the defeat of the Populist Party in 1896. Prof. Hough writes, but to the contrary Howells continued to speak for reforms such as prison reform, woman suffrage, abolition of capital punishment and world government.
