Tryouts Tonight For Coed Follies

Five skits will be chosen tonight at Coed Follies tryouts for presentation in the AWS sponsored "Hits 'n Misses" Folly show Feb. 28. In view of the present day glamour and feverish preparation which go into the preparation of a skit for Coed Follies, it is interesting to know that originally the skits were of secondary importance to the show. The big feature was a style show of the latest fads and fashions. The candidates for Ideal Nebraska Coed were the models and the Coed was chosen on her modeling appearance. The skits served as intermissions similar to the traveling acts of today's show. The "Follies" were presented on two different evenings in the Nebraska Theater and only females were allowed to enjoy the show. A paragraph discovered in a February, 1943, Daily Nebraskan indicated an objection to this rule. It stated, "Sad but true this annual event is still barred from the boys on campus."

The sponsoring organization, AWS, gave way to popular demand in 1954 and opened the show to the public. It was received with such enthusiasm that Coed Follies moved to Pershing Auditorium in 1958 in order to accommodate the audience. Tryouts will be held this evening in the ballroom of the Student Union.

The schedule of skit tryouts is:

Panhel Gets Certificate From 'Army'

The University Panhellenic organization has been presented a special certificate for outstanding achievement in the Salvation Army Tree of Lights campaign. Of the 12 women's groups which participated, girls who represented Panhellenic took in more money for one day than any other organization. The total amount was $144.68. Six girls from each house participated under the direction of Sharon Rogers, community service chairman, who organized the event. Ordinarily a trophy would have been presented but Panhellenic has a rule that it cannot accept trophies or plaques.

—Nineteen Submit Works—

NU Art Exhibit Includes Top Printermakers Work

Nineteen of the country's leading printmakers are included in the major exhibition of contemporary relief prints at the University Art Galleries.

The exhibition included woodcuts, wood engravings, paper relief prints and other experiments with the relief technique.

Relief Technique

The relief technique, according to Director Norman Geske, explained in contrast to the other popular print media, is that the print impression is obtained by the inking and printing of the surface of the block which remains after the cutting has been completed.

The other popular print media are intaglio, etchings, engravings, aquatints, drypoints, and combinations of these, and the planographic, better known as lithography. The Art Galleries invited 10 best known American practitioners in the media to exhibit from one to five prints, Geske said. In addition each of those 10 was invited to nominate one additional artist whose work they believed to be of interest.

Younger Artists The work represents both that of well-known artists as well as younger artists whose work may indicate the direction which future development in art may take.

Artists represented in the exhibition are Leonard Baskin, Edmund Casarella, Robert Chapman, Robert Conover, Worden Day, Antonio Frasconi, Thomas George, Raymond Jacobson, Max Kahn, Misch Kohn, Vincent Longo, Seong Moy, Malcolm Myers, Leona Pierce, Michael Ponce de Leon, Rudy Pozzatti, Louis Schanker, Andrew Stasik and Carol Summers. The exhibition will continue through Feb. 7.

Shannon Airs Views About Birth Control Points Out Catholic Church Stand

Shannon

"Certainly the startling population growth is a crucial problem of our time."

In an interview with the Daily Nebraskan, Prof. Jasper Shannon, chairman of the political science department, commented on the relation of the current world issue of birth control and the Catholic Church's stand on the same, to presidential hopeful Sen. John Kennedy's Catholic faith and the coming presidential election.

"The birth control issue is certainly one that must be faced by politicians, churchmen, and educators alike, as well as citizens," said Shannon.

"As to how far a candidate should be judged by his religion—Nixon is a Quaker, as was Hoover, and the question was raised during Hoover's candidacy as to whether Hoover, as a Quaker, and because of the Pacifist tenet of the Quaker religion, could qualify as commander-in-chief of the armed forces."

"It should be pointed out," continued Shannon, "that the Catholic Church is not opposed to all means of birth control, only those which it regards as an interference with nature and hence contrary to natural and moral law."

"The issue is then, whether birth control is a matter of faith and morality, and binding on private conscience."

"Kennedy has stated expressly that he regards his Constitutional oath as supreme. Hence any law passed constitutionally would be binding upon him in his public capacity as an official. It would seem therefore, that any policy adapted by Congress would be binding upon Kennedy as president and that he accepts this as an expression of his point of view."

"It is possible that many persons will use the birth control issue as a rationalization for opposing Kennedy on other grounds. The issue could well serve as a screen for intolerance as prohibition did in 1928."

—Union Tour— First European Group Encountered Unexpected

Plans for this year's Student Union European tour have been completed.

The itinerary includes travel through nine European countries and visits to London, Brussels, Rome and Paris as well as many others.

A special feature of the tour will be a visit to Oberammergau, Germany to see the famous Passion Play which is presented by the townspeople once each decade.

35 U.S. Students

A group of 35 American students, two Canadians, a chaperone and French guide made up the first Union European Tour held during the summer months of last year.

The 35 Americans hailed from eight states, 11 of them from Nebraska.

Their adventure started June 19 when they sailed from Montreal, Canada, on a 1,500 passenger British ship. While on board the ship the group wrote and produced a show of international flavor which was repeated by popular demand on the return voyage.

The 3,500 mile tour in Europe encountered several experiences not scheduled on the trip.

The first came when the tour stopped in Brussels on the wedding day of Prince Albert, brother of the King of Belgium.

Unscheduled Visit

Miss B. J. Holcomb, chaperon for the group, cited the most outstanding of the impromptu situations as an unscheduled visit to the University of Louvain in Louvain, Belgium. The group took a tour through the library, which was gutted by fire during WWII.

In 1947, universities and colleges throughout the United States raised funds to restore the library. The University was one of the schools contributing through a nationwide AUF fund drive. The tourists were able to identify contributions from their school.

Cost of this year's tour is $1,160. It includes trans-Atlantic transportation and travel fees in Europe.

The price also covers hotel, meal and sightseeing costs as well as admission fees to places visited.

Discussion Thursday

Service charges and taxes for standard European hotels also are included in the fee.

A travel agent will discuss the tour and answer questions of persons interested in the trip Thursday at 4:30 p.m. in the Union.

Book Swap Set Again By APO's

Students who want to sell their text books through the student book exchange may bring them to the exchange booth in the Student Union Jan. 22, 23, 25 and 26.

Operated by Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity, in co-operation with the Student Council, the exchange offers the students an opportunity to sell their books for about 10 per cent more than the bookstores pay and buy them for about 10 per cent less than the bookstores used price.

The books will be sold during the first week of classes of the second semester.

Those who sell their books through the exchange will receive the full sale price of the book. For those who purchase a book, a 15 cent service charge will be attached to the purchase price.

Hours for the exchange will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Students selling their books set their own price on the books. Both buyers and sellers profit through the use of the book exchange since there is not the 20 per cent markup on the book.

Union Plans Annual Photo Competition

Entries for the 15th annual College Photo Competition must be turned into the Student Union Activities Office by Feb. 19 at 5 p.m.

Pictures will be judged in four classifications including news reports, human interest, portrait and character sketches.

The pictures should be 8 by 10 inches or larger and must be mounted on standard 16 by 20 inch boards. They must have been taken between April 30, 1959, and Feb. 19, 1960.

Judging will take place March 1 at the Union. Judges will be chosen from the members of the School of Journalism and art department faculties.

Winners will be awarded gift certificates for merchandise from local merchants. Winners of the local contest may enter in the National Contest and will receive a traveling trophy.

Rules and entry blanks may be obtained at the main desk of the Union.

NROTC Contracts Criticized

Kansan Says Non-Marriage Clause Should Go

A recent editorial appearing in the Daily Kansan severely criticized the non-marriage clause in Navy ROTC contracts.

The clause, which forbids Navy ROTC students to be married before receiving their commission upon graduation, should have been "thrown out with the use of Grog," according to the editorial.

Young men entering the Navy program in college are not capable of knowing whether they will escape marriage or not, the Kansan suggests.

Capt. James R. Hansen, USN, professor of naval science, commented freely on the editorial in the Kansan, and explained the legal and naval stipulations and obligations upon signing of a Navy ROTC non-marriage contract.

"I have been asked to comment on the reason for the non-marriage clause in the NROTC legal contract. This undergraduate restriction has never become a serious issue or conflict with our program because the young men who enter the NROTC are normally mature and responsible persons who are fully cognizant of these restrictions, and they agree to such limitations of their own volition."

"The U.S. Navy has had many years of past experience associated with the demands and requirements placed on newly commissioned naval officers. It has been found that an unmarried midshipman can adapt and adjust himself much more readily to Navy shipboard life than a young man who already has a family. "The requirements placed on a newly commissioned naval officer can and often do differ greatly from the requirements placed on young officers in the Army and Air Force. A newly commissioned naval officer is normally assigned to shipboard duty for his first two years of commissioned service."

Faculty Concert Set Thursday

A faculty concert of chamber music will be presented Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union ballroom.

—University Starts Campaign— Nebraskans Will Voice Foreign Affairs Views

Nebraskans will be given a chance to voice opinions on foreign affairs directly to government officials.

The University recently announced the formation of a statewide campaign to give Nebraskans the chance to voice their opinions on foreign affairs and the crop surplus question.

The opinions of these Nebraskans will go directly to U.S. foreign officials, senators and representatives.

A yet undetermined number of groups of laymen including farmers, teachers, businessmen, professional men and housewives are expected to take part in discussions and balloting throughout the state.

The Extension Division and the Agricultural Extension Service at the University have joined forces to promote and administer the balloting. In addition, steps have been taken by Dr. Everett Peterson and Dr. Otto Hoiberg, University faculty members, to aid those who will form the first discussion groups.

National Review

The state program, "Great Decisions," is part of a nationwide citizen review of eight critical foreign policy issues and will begin Feb. 7.

This is the first time the program has been officially introduced in Nebraska although several states have through several states have maintained the Foreign Policy Association for the past four years.

More than 400 persons in the state, including agricultural extension agents, church and other community leaders already have been contacted and requested to start the discussion groups in their communities.

Not Restrictive

Participation will not be restrictive and all adult Nebraskans will have a chance to be a member of the discussion and balloting groups, according to Dr. Peterson.

In addition to the surplus crop disposal method issue and issues of foreign policy, Nebraskans will be questioned in a poll after the eight-week discussion period.

Some of the questions will deal with: increased aid to India; how best to give this aid to India; changes in U.S. relations with Cuba; further improvement in our capacity for all-out nuclear retaliation and relations with Africa.

Sending Literature

Coordinators at the University are now in the process of disseminating literature on each of the eight issues to be discussed this year.

The 1960 topics will include: Communist Timetable for 1960; Divided Europe; Red China on the March; What Chances for India's Middle Way; Middle East's Hope for Stability; What Goals for Africa's New Leaders?; Cuba's Revolution and U.S. Global Strategy.
