

H-D FELL—Residents of "Dumptyville" are shocked at the news that Humpty Dumpty had a great fall. His miss was a hit for members of Kappa Alpha Theta whose skit was judged best at the 1960 Coed Follies show.

UH-OH — These three members of Delta Delta grabbed first place honors in Traveler's Act competition at Coed Follies Friday with their dramatization of the record "Uh-Oh."

Leap Day More Fun For Boys Than Girls

Here it is again, another election year and also, though maybe not quite so important but possibly more fun, Feb. 29, official Leap Day.

A roving reporter found that University boys look forward more to today than girls.

Eager Male

One male student statesman was rather eager, in fact. "It's a fantastic thing. I think it should be every day and girls pay for everything. Let the boys initiate a three-date rule."

Another male Crib student chuckled. "Why run? It might be a little more interesting to stand still."

When asked what he had planned for today, French Ross, Sigma Alpha Epsilon senior in Teachers, said, "I'm going to leap around campus and haze people."

Taking into consideration today only comes once every four years, Ross rationalized, "If you get pinned you only have to celebrate every four years," adding, "for all those love indoctrinated people living in a fantasy."

'Good Deal'

A more subdued comment came from Jon Ericson, Sigma Chi senior in Arts and Sciences. "Undoubtedly it's a good deal for all single guys."

Kenny Myers, Beta Sigma Psi senior in Business Administration, expressed no desire to be sought. "I'm going to sleep all day."

A fraternity brother, freshman in Business Administration gave his approval of the day set aside for chasing. "I suppose there are some of them (girls) who never get dates any other way."

Theta Xi senior, Dick Basoco, enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, said, "I'm in full flight and unpursued."

Most of the girls interviewed were too shy to have their thoughts printed in the paper, so their intentions will have to go unannounced.

But one group did declare they were planning to set up a kissing booth in front of their sorority house. No charge for merchandise, of course.

USNR Team To Answer University Students' Queries

A Navy Officer information team will be in the Student Union Wednesday through Friday.

The team will answer any questions students may have concerning opportunities for receiving a commission in the U.S. Navy.

Since graduation and a baccalaureate degree is a prerequisite to commissioning, the team is in no way attempting to "sign up" anyone with the purpose of taking them out of school, according to Lt. G. A. Shane, USNR.

"Many students think we are here to recruit them out of school, but just the opposite is true. The more education a man or woman has the more we can do for him," said Lt. Shane.

Lt. Shane will interview men and women interested in applying for commission in the General Line, Supply Corps, Chaplain Corps, Medical Corps, Engineering Corps and others.

A Naval aviator will be with the information team to represent the Naval Aviation Cadet (NavCad) and Aviation Officer Candidate (ACC) programs.

Representing the Women's Officer Candidate programs will be Lt. Jean L. White, USN.

KUON-TV To Televis

Specialists in fields from family relations to foods will appear in a series of six television programs entitled "Your Home—focus on management," beginning Wednesday at 8 p.m. on KUON-TV.

The series is based on the theory that homemaking can and should be intellectually stimulating.

"Using what you have to get what you want," is what the home ec department experts at the college of agriculture define as home management. "And what you have consists of the human and material resources of the family members," they said. In each show a family of professional actors will portray members in the different situations. The scripts for the shows were written through the combined efforts of the home economics staff.

Jean Davis, associate professor of Home Economics will be chairman of the first presentation on home management and coordinator of the series.

Those in charge of the following shows on housing, nutrition, foods, clothing, textiles and family relation will be Jerre Withrow, extension specialist in housing; Helen Linkswiler and Mary Guthrie, professor of Home Economics; Josephine Brooks and Esther Meacham associate professor of Home Economics and Ruby Gingles, instructor of Home Economics.

Judy Cox, chairman of the tea committee, says that the tea will be held with the Lancaster County Republican Women's Club.

Nebraska Art Association Opens Annual Exhibit Today

The Nebraska Art Association's annual exhibition opens for the general public today at Morrill Hall. It will continue through March 27.

Norman Geske, director of the University's Art Gallery has assembled a collection of paintings and sculpture featuring recent works of contemporary artists.

Included in the exhibit are works of San Francisco Bay area artists Richard Diebenkorn, David Park and Elmer Bischoff.

Mrs. Martha Jackson of New York has loaned a $10,000 oil of a man seated on a white bench. It is titled "July" and is the work of Diebenkorn.

Elmer Bischoff is represented by a landscape of dark green trees against a mountainous background.

Park is represented by "Rowboat, 1958," a figure painting. Other artists represented are Pollack, de Kooning, Ad Reinhardt, Alfred Leslie, Alfred Jensen and Leon Golub.

The sculpture in this year's exhibition includes works of Jorge Oteiza, Dimitri Hadzi, Elisabeth Frink and James Boynton.

There will also be an Oriental sampling with works of Samant, James Suzuki and Seon Moy.

Suzuki, a Japanese-American, is represented by an oil called "Sudden Change." Seon Moy, who formerly worked in prints, has a brown and black parchment scroll called "Spring Rain."

Other works in the exhibit include: "Red Rocks", an oil by Rudy Pozzatti. Pozzatti is a former University art instructor and now is at the University of Indiana.

"Portrait of Jo," an oil, by Lester Johnson.

PEANUTS

I HEARD WHAT YOU WERE SAYING IN THAT LETTER! A FINE BROTHER YOU TURNED OUT TO BE!

LOOK I WAS ONLY TRYING TO TELL SANTA CLAUS THAT I DIDN'T THINK HE SHOULD PASS UP OUR HOUSE AND NOT LEAVE ME ANY PRESENTS JUST BECAUSE OF YOU!

IF HE THINKS YOU'VE BEEN BAD ALL YEAR WHY SHOULD I SUFFER?

DON'T LOOK AT ME... I'M ONLY THE SECRETARY!
