Representation Changes Result in Heated Debate

... Student Council Adjourns into Executive Session

By Jim Forrest
Discussion and voting on proposed constitutional changes in representation on the 1960-61 Student Council sent the Council's Wednesday session past the dinner hour.

The two and a half hour session, which was highlighted by some rather heated debate, was climaxed by the Council adjourning into an executive session.

The Interfraternity Council, Panhellenic Council and Student Union's exemption from Council executive and legislative powers was the first proposed change to be approved by the Council.

Bob Krohn, chairman of the judiciary committee, explained, "We (committee) feel that these organizations should be exempt because they are directly responsible to the Board of Regents and not to the Council."

These organizations will remain represented on the Council but will act only in a liaison capacity, according to Krohn.

The constitution was also amended to read that college representation shall be determined by the Council on the basis of one representative for every 500 students.

The hassle between the various members of the Council broke out over the proposed changes in organizational and group representation.

It started when Fran Spoeneman, Coed Counselors representative, presented the Council with a letter voicing that organization's objection to be removed from Council representation.

The letter read: "Because the Student Council is primarily interested in the welfare of all members of the student body, and because the Coed Counselors contribute materially to the orientation and indoctrination of all freshman women, both scholastically and socially, we petition the Council to allow the Coed Counselors to have continued representation on the Student Council."

Krohn, speaking for his committee which is in charge of amending the constitution, said that the Counselors were advised and their president contacted personally on the Council's plans to drop it from representation. "They were given a chance to have a judicial hearing, but they declined," he said.

Counselors Retained

The voting that followed allowed the Counselors to retain their representation on Council.

Tom Frolik initiated an argument against the Corn Cobs retaining their membership on the Council. He said that he couldn't see how the Cobs were representative of general student interest as were the college representative and other groups on the Council.

"This Council is fulfilling a legislative function, and since the Cobs (and Tassels) promote just student spirit, I don't see how you can legislate spirit," he said.

Cobs Remain

Bob Stine, a member of the judiciary committee, said, "Corn Cobs belong on the Council because of their control over rallies and student spirit and because they are directly responsible to the Council."

After several additional volleys, the Council voted to retain the Cobs' representation.

Towards the end of the two and half hour session, President Jack Nielsen called the Council into a closed-door session. After the executive session was concluded and the Council's meeting adjourned, Nielsen had no other comment as to what went on behind the closed doors except: "We discussed the administration of Council's rules."

"I feel that executive sessions are necessary if handled judiciously," said Nielsen. "When the Council is discussing topics that haven't been finalized, it is necessary to call these sessions so that no harmful premature information is released. Such a release could call a halt to Council activities."

Applications For Council Open April 4

Proposal To Use Selleck For Rush Week Approved

The Interfraternity Council Wednesday night passed the proposals from the University and the IFC that next year's fraternity rush week be allowed to stay in Selleck Quadrangle during Rush Week.

The rush week will be allowed to stay in the dorm from 4 p.m., Friday, Sept. 9, through 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 12, when Rush Week officially ends. An open rush day will be held Tuesday, Sept. 13, for rush week not pledging by Monday night.

Three meals a day will be served with the exceptions of the Friday opening day and the final Monday night dinner. The estimated cost per person is $14, of which the fraternities will pay $4.

Fees Announced

The rush week will be charged $10 registration and $6 to go through Rush Week. In addition to this he will be expected to furnish his own blankets, towels, soap and personal needs.

All rush weekers expecting to go through Rush Week must complete their application before midnight, Friday, Sept. 9. University regulations will govern the rush week's conduct during Rush Week.

Next year's Rush Week includes a shortening of the meditation period when the rush weeker returns to make his final pick. The 1960 meditation period will last from 5:30 to 5:45 p.m. on Monday and from 5:45 to 6:30 p.m. for all those who have not decided upon their choice.

Concerning Jewish Rush Week, the General Rules state:

"The Jewish rush week will begin Sunday night with the Jewish boys moving into the dorm. Their rush day will of-officially begin some time Monday morning and end that day when they join the rest of the rush week at 5:30 in the dorm for official pledging.

Jewish Week

"Except for the living in the dorm Sunday night and Monday, pledging at the same times and with the rest of the rush week, and a few minor time schedule changes, Jewish Rush Week will be the same as last year."

Other changes include the rule that rush weekers must visit all 21 houses during open house Saturday and the individual houses will not serve any regular meals to the rush weekers during rush week.

The copy approved by the IFC will now be sent to all house advisors, house mothers, Inter-Fraternity Board of Control, and Deans Frank Hallgren and J. P. Colbert,

Union Organizes First Student Art Contest

Art works by majors or non art majors may be entered for competition in the first contest to be sponsored by the Student Union Arts and Exhibits Committee.

A feature of the program will be the purchase of color works from the entries for the Picture Rental Library.

Judy Brown, chairman of the art contest and show said that $100 had been allotted to buy some selections if the students desire to sell.

Students may enter any type of work. They may specify at the time of entry if they want their work considered for sale to the Union committee or for the general public.

If they do not wish to sell they may still enter the competition.

A maximum of $10 for water color, tempera and gouache and $25 for oils will be paid by the Union committee.

The entrant should set his purchase price at or below the maximum at the time of entry.

Entry blanks and rules can be obtained at the Main Desk according to Vice-President Bob Blair.

If the IFC does not receive any recommendations for changes in the proposal from these sources by April 6, the IFC will consider it approved. The proposal will then be sent to the Subcommittee on Student Organizations of the Committee on Student Affairs.

The Rush Week schedule was released and the first thirty minute open house date for Sat., Sept. 10. On this day the rush weekers will visit the 21 different fraternities.

Sunday the Rush weekers will have four 1 1/2 hour rush dates and file for the final three rush dates. These final three must be three different houses than Sunday's but may repeat those houses visited during the first four rush dates.

Ahmad Jamal Tickets on Sale

Jazz pianist, Ahmad Jamal, will make his initial appearance in Omaha Wednesday at the Omaha Music Hall.

Only one performance, which will begin at 8 p.m., has been slated.

Tickets for the show may be obtained on campus from either Howie Kooper or Al Forman. General admission prices are $1.25, $2.00 and $2.50.

Pat Nixon Will Join Vice President Here

Richard Nixon will be accompanied by his wife Pat during his trip to Nebraska next Monday, according to Mrs. W. H. Hasebroock of West Point, senior vice-chairman of 1960 Republican Founders' Day.

The Vice President will address the annual Republican Founders' Day Banquet at 6:30 p.m. Monday at the Coliseum.

Mrs. Nixon will receive a warm welcome. Mrs. Hasebroock said, "Her wholesome and genuine personality is always a compelling feature in any gathering favored with her attendance."

"We are fortunate that Mrs. Nixon will be here to share with the ladies of Founders' Day the many plans and festivities," Mrs. Hasebroock said.

State Republican Chairman Charles Thone said he was pleased that Mrs. Nixon had chosen Nebraska Founders' Day as an occasion for one of her infrequent trips.

"The Vice president and his wife, Pat are a team that is an inspiration to the American people," he said.

Thone commented that Nebraskans should be "doubly" pleased that both Mr. and Mrs. Nixon have agreed to visit the state. This is one of the few trips the Vice President has scheduled before the National Convention.

Food Department Seeks Employees

The Food Service Department of the Union has openings for help during the noon and evening meal periods.

People interested in working should see W. S. Stockton, Operation Manager, in the Administration Office between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. on week days.

Union Board Choice Is Pat Porter

Pat Porter was elected president of the Student Union Activities Board, Tuesday night.

The new vice president is Sue Carkoski.

Elections were made by the eight members of the board. The other members will be area directors which have not been announced yet.

Miss Porter is a junior in Teachers College. Besides her Union activities, she is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, Teachers College honorary, finalist for Ideal Nebraska Coed and vice president of Alpha Chi Omega.

Also a junior in Teachers College, Miss Carkoski is a member of Masquers, Kappa Alpha Theta and is president of AUF. She was this year's Ideal Nebraska Coed.

Buehrer Takes Tech Paper Win

A senior in the College of Engineering, Allan Buehrer, has been named winner of the AIEE Technical paper competition.

His paper was entitled, "Electrical analogy of a farm water supply system."

Second and third place went to Stanley Drasky and Roland Rader, respectively.

Washington Writer Will Discuss Politics

William McGaffin, a former Daily Nebraskan managing editor will speak to the Sigma Delta Chi professional journalistic fraternity spring banquet tonight at the Cornhusker Hotel.

Presently assistant Washington, D.C., bureau chief of the Chicago Daily News, he will speak on "The Job of the Political Reporter in an Election Year."

A public convocation will be held at the Student Union Little Auditorium on the University campus at 2:30 p.m. McGaffin will discuss Washington politics and answer questions. Admission is free.

At the University he was a member of Innocents Society, senior men's honorary and president of Sigma Delta Chi.

In 1934, he was chosen from a list of 28 newsmen to receive the first Gilbert H. Hitchcock scholarship for a year's graduate study at the Columbia University School of Journalism.

He joined the Associated Press in 1935 and was named European Features Editor for the AP at the age of 26.

McGaffin served as a war correspondent, covering the fall of France and the Battle of Britain.

IT'S CALLED "HERNANDO'S HIDE-AWAY"—Bring your own matches when you come here; it's dark. But you'll find interesting people like Amer Lincoln and Bev Ruck sitting on the chairs, flashing signs and high-stepping dancers. All of this in "Pajama Game" at Pershing Auditorium tonight and Saturday at 8 p.m. Ole!

Pajamas Go On at 8 Tonight

The 1960 Kosmet Klub Spring Show, "Pajama Game," will open tonight at 8:15 at Pershing Auditorium.

The show, which stars Amer Lincoln and Paula Knepper, will run tonight and Saturday and will mark the first Broadway production by an all-University cast in the past two years.

The comedy takes place in a pajama factory. The factory workers are threatening to strike if they do not receive a seven and one-half cent raise, which all other workers in the industry have received.

Strike Underway

Babe, Miss Knepper, is a union officer and finds herself on the opposite side of the conflict as her sweetheart, Sid, Lincoln, is the superintendent of the factory. The skin-flint factory boss, Hasler, refuses the wage raise.

The situation creates a break in the romance of Sid and Babe but Gladys, Hasler's secretary, saves the day with a key to the secret which solves everything.

Secondary leads are played by George Mechling, who plays Hince; Norman Riggins as Hasler; Joe Hill as Pres and Beverly Ruck as Gladys.

Other members of the cast include Leanne Jensen, Mabel; Sue Worley, Mae; Bill Larson, Pop; Bill Baker, Max; Gary Kahler, Joe; Gus Buecz, Charley; Lou Lawson, first worker and Gary Christensen, second worker.

Bonnie Teho Hayes, dramatics director for the show, described the show as a clever comedy whose novel excitement and gypsy captivates the audience.

Mrs. Hayes mentioned Hernando's Hideaway and the union rally as two scenes which would be unusual because of the fine scenery.

She predicted the fine music and dance numbers will also help to make the show a success. Musical hits featured in "The Pajama Game" are "Hernando's Hideaway," "Steam Heat," "Not at All in Love" as well as many others.
