Huzzah! Woods
Return to Belts

Unifarcity Guncsellor, Stifford Hardwin announced Thursday that the ministrations were returning the so-called Delt Woods to the students.

"We have always felt that a test should be made of the students' abilities to use the woods without abusing the privilege. We hope the rules and regulations established by the dean of Affairs, Fullup Coalburner, are observed. These rules are to be enforced by the People's Court.

All Wet
Asst. Dean of Affairs, Posh Halgrin, whispered confidentially, "If those rules aren't observed there'll be several drownings as the woods are now several feet under water."

Jim Pithegar, (asst. to the guncsellor) gave this reporter a closed door snow-job in which he stated the reasons for the ministrations' reversal.

"It has been our constant fear that the girls would lose their figures if they were to lose P.E. and healthy outdoor exercise in the same semester.

"In addition this is good for mental health and hygiene. The Director of Stupid Health reports that last week they treated 600 girls for injuries suffered while under a delusion that led them to crawl up the walls of their houses. "In addition, parents across the state have complained about the drinking on campus and the type of pressure that led to the Andrews Hall Affair, so there was nothing else we could do.

Too Much
"In addition, several Lincoln bars have been damaged by overcrowding and the State Fire Marshall is complaining."

A poll of campus students taken by the Pink Rag showed the following results: Loud Blare, a senior in Business Administration, shouted (amidst background numbles of mendacity) "I don't think I'd enjoy myself; I have to straighten out Rush Week."

Campus Cleanly, Trip Skar-ris, said, "Well, I think it definitely would be a bad example. Besides, well, that's sort of a thing that I'd not like to be quoted on . . . or even asked about."

Lynn White, well known Theta Hustler (which doesn't mean what you're thinking) simply said, "Oh no. I have to raise my average, I've been so busy."

Sweetie Bray, Awful Wee House, simply broke into uncontrollable laughter. No one else could be reached.

Raging Flood Submerges Campus, Students; But Classes Will Continue, Says Guncsellor

Schoe Droll Reigns; Starchie Egg Lauded

Campus Cosmetic's ratification was held the other night. The Boys Club slate was approved while several turned their heads and three innocent workers died in the floor.

Schoe Droll, political director and long time chair occupant, was chosen by the boys with only one dissenting vote, which was cast for Lamont Dumont. Mr. Dumont was voted for on the grounds that he did more work.

Soapy Sophist replied that the above was a foul canard. Mr. Sophist is considered an authority, as he seemed to be C.C. shirker selection chairman for the steering committee.

For Vice Chairman, Starchie Egg received a standing ovation before and after his election. Starchie also announced that CC tickets were going well. He was a little red-faced when he was told by Gross Outhouse that the show was over three days ago.

Slim-Chance Gladwall flouted his literary talents a n d took up the Secretary's office. Bob Deedee stepped down amid cheers for his outstanding service. This Cheering became almost overwhelming as Vern Fly walked out.

Other trivial posts were arranged to take care of any ill feelings and the workers were chosen. CC is happy to announce that 12 outstanding workers were added to the Club's roles.

Two leaders had to be dropped in deference to those foul workers who wasted their time getting points and selling such idiotic things as tickets.

Schoe Droll said today that the Club's future was in hot little hands and things were going to go as well as last year's Inner Fool's Channel Dancing Party.

SCHOOL ON DESPITE FLOOD—Slight flooding on campus will not necessitate the calling off of classes, stated Guncsellor Stifford Hardwin soon after he arrived in his office by rowboat. "Neither," he roared, "rain, nor snow, nor dark of night, nor Oklahoma again, NOR water will stay my students from their appointed classes." The five foot crest of water is expected to abate tomorrow. Students under five feet may obtain free snorkles at Stupid Health.

Apathetic floods are now seeping the Unifarcity campus.

Latest releases now indicate that water will reach the five foot level. Damage is estimated at 53 cents according to the Student Damage Committee.

New Level
Ministration estimated that it would take an outstate tuition level of $1,000,000 to repay the damage over the next 15 years.

The other proposal to repay the damage was submitted by the Young Socialists Committee which recommended that the bookstore be expropriated and given to the Stupid Onion to administer.

Not trusting any of the above committees, your intrepid reporter swam over to the headquarters for Slum Cleaning and Excavations, whose mastermind Charlie Foul, was reputed to have the inside story.

On the way I swam across Webfoot Claws, and received a scholarship, see sports section. (Incidentally this flood is not a plot to improve our swim team desirable as that might be.)

Charlie Foul was in conference with Nave Goodboy, Head of the Campus Facadification Committee. They jointly told me of a sordid tale.

Pretty Campi
"It started off so well too, we were just starting to build a more beautiful camp. As the first step we were blowing up the Scurillion Tower in order to have more room for a central pool.

"Then there came this terrific roaring noise and water spouted several hundred feet into the air. Unbeknownst to us the main pipeline for the Lincoln W.C.T.U. ran right through our campus."

At this point our interview was interrupted by Guncsellor Hardwin, who came to chide us for skipping class. The last words we overheard from Mr. Foul were "It's not really so bad, Nave, if the water just keeps up it will wipe out all buildings, parking spaces and students and give us the perfect spot to build a beautiful campus on. We will use a symbolic theme. It will resemble a swamp."

The Guncsellor towed us away in his 40 foot river launch and

Easter Treat To Be Pink Coffee

The Betcha Crooker Hay-making award for distinguished coffee was presented to campus perculator watchers in ceremonies today at the Stupid Onion.

Said head onion, Marty High Schooler, we will feature this coffee delicacy next month in the crib. In honor of the Easter Bunny it will be colored pink.

Students desiring cream and sugar will also find our live cows and growing sugar cane patch advantageous he added. The sugar cane patch, he pointed out, is located in the lounge near the green jungle plants while Bessie is tethered near the TV set.

PURTY, AINT THEY—You're looking at the prettiest bunch of young ladies on campus. They are the Comic Book Beauty Queens. Because of the uniqueness of this year's candidates, they are being released in advance of the publication of the Comic Book. Judges for this year's beauty queens include Clyde Beatty, P. T. Barnum Jr.

and Frank Buck. Comic Book editor Schnoo Schnavel commented that the staff was pleased with this year's queens. "We are confident that we have the cream of the crop for beauty queens in this year's Comic Book," Miss Schnavel added. (Notice the one on the left in the back; her is the cutest one.)

Ministration Building Razing Set

The Unifarcity Bored Regents, confirmed yesterday that the Ministration Building would be torn down and replaced by a new and much needed Casino.

The Bored Regents reported that the students have little need for counseling and guidance and need a chance to shift for themselves. A new Casino would give each student the opportunity to spend the Unifarcity's money as he sees fit.

The present Ministration is not elaborate enough to be remodeled so it must be razed and replaced with the most luxurious Casino seen in the U.S.

Fullup Coalburner, dean of Affairs and expected to be the manager of the Casino, said that the Casino would benefit all the students and take the students mind off of his school work.

According to the Bored Regents the project would cost more than five million dollars and would certainly be an asset to the campus.

Of course, the Bored Regents said, there will be restrictions in the use of the Casino, each student must have at least ten hours of sleep.

Union Gets New Name

Ma Bennette announced today that Nebraska Union had been renamed Student Union. "After all, Bennette said, the students do pay for the Union."

Tetnus Shots Disperse Mob In PE Riot

More than 200 undergraduates were shot yesterday at a riot in front of Burnett Hall.

The large crowd of Arts and Sciences students had come to protest the removal of Physical Education from the required curriculum.

Cries of "Give us back our health," and "It's the only course I ever got a 3 on," pervaded the air.

When the crowd appeared becoming violent (groups were seen snatching leaves off trees and tearing them limb from stem) Unifarcity officials moved.

Quietly and efficiently members of Stupid Health moved through the crowd inoculating against tetanus. Howls of surprise and pain were heard and the crowd quickly dispersed.

More than 200 of the students were reported safe from lockjaw, Stupid Health reported.

Embittered Fans Hung In Effigy

Early morning risers were surprised to note the whole student body had been hung in effigy this morning.

Nearly every tree on campus was covered with stuffed figures.

"This is certainly an atrocious thing," commented Prof. Earnest Hilcup of the English department, "over half the names on the effigies are misspelled."

Informed sources of the Pink Rag put the blame on the University coaching staff. It seems several poor seasons of student turnout and school spirit have embittered them with fans.

Twice this year the coaching staff has petitioned the Bored Regents for a new student body, but they were denied.

Bored president I. M. Southbound stated "We stand behind these students. At least, until they run out of money."

U.C. Day Arrives
