

On the Anti-Social Side: Not Enough Booze To Prompt Pin-Giving

Not many of them engagements this week. Either the boys' thoughts haven't changed yet or they haven't been drinking enough to make more than a rash, "We'll go steady" type promise.

Pinnings

Jim Raschke pinned Ralph of Missouri's Quadrangle in 57.

Susie Frosh got pinned to Eddie Active 'cause all her friends were doing it.

Rebecca Jones, who is the only freshman to have her name in this column three straight weeks, grabbed number five for the year and if they are still together next week we will run his name.

Don Allan and Alice Smith got pinned to a tree by a truck while they were out there walking last night.

Engagements

Dave Wilson got a convertible and an engagement all the same day. Some girl should tell this Un-ivy freshman, Jane Roberts, that pinned would have the same effect.

Them senior girls that ain't engaged had better hurry. Four houses is engaged in a beer blast right now.

So whatever you do go out and get engaged in something tonight because if you do you will make the news somehow.

Why Dolts Teadrink Like Mad

Salem Weighed Presents Trophy

Why Doltee Why was named as the recipient of the Awful Teadrinkers Hell Week trophy.

Salem Weighed, Awful Teadrinker president that the award was made to the Why Doltee Why because they raised more hell than any other Unifarcity fraternity.

The Why Doltee Why Hell Week began at the D.B.&G. with destructive purposes in mind. According to Weighed, the evening was spent socially with a few games of leg ball and a few winks of smooze.

On Tuesday the Why Doltee left for the State Pencil where the excavates were released and replaced by the Why Doltee Why pledges. Dressed in black and white strips, the pledges began singing and rioting which brought alarm from Unifarcity Pleasemen.

With no method of combating the riot, the Pleasemen soon mutually joined the spirited pledges and the riot became even bigger.

Then on Thursday the whole group moved back to campus where they started a slight blaze in Andrews Hall. They splashed water all over Andrews Hall to quench the fire.

This Why Doltee Why Hell Week accomplished two projects—better relations with the Pleasemen and finally the cooling off of Andrews Hall.

Rhoda Doodle

RDs Elect R. Doodle President

Rhoda Doodle, junior in Home Economics, was elected president of Rho Delta sorority Thursday night.

She succeeds Ruby Dip, who resigned from the Unifercity due to conflicts in her schedule. Motor Bods and Rho Delta met at the same time, and poor Ruby could not figure out which one to attend.

Her loyalty was pure, although her morals were not, and she decided to attend each meeting on alternating weeks. Everything worked well at first, but then the Motor Bods lifted Ruby's perfect attendance pin. Such an open slap in the face could not be endured by Ruby so she was forced to resign.

Through the Unifercity counseling service, however, she obtained a job as housekeeper for one Stifford Hardwin.

Rhoda, who is also a shooter in both organizations, has already begun to take precautionary measures against similar misfortunes. She was overheard in Dean Helen Snide's office the other day telling Dean Snide that should the Motor Bods and Rho Delta chapter meetings again conflict, she will simply change the time of the Rho Delta meeting to coincide with the Pie X meeting.

"We may not get too much done in the way of current chapter business, but think of the money we will save," she said. Rhoda was exuberant about the possibilities of also including a few teacher honoraries to teach the group a few new slides and playground tricks.

Only the best of the teachers qualified to teach this group since they must be able to execute these various antics while maintaining equilibrium at all times. This effort is necessary to keep the maximum liquid level in the mug.

A spokesman for the other component of the group was not available for comment. They were reportedly seen last at the Zoo, where the animals were feeding them.

Stupid Tribulations Head Sheds Tears

Fibs Told by Students Make Court's Job More Difficult

Larry Lazier, Stupid Tribulations judge, recently bemoaned the fact that his court could not complete its liaison function between the students and the Ministration.

This was attributed to the fact that "students have been telling us fibs when they come before us to tell us the circumstances of their case." Larry was quoted as saying, "friend, accused and independents, lend me your handkerchiefs."

Shed Tears

Reliable sources revealed that Lazier, who has been known to become overly excited before, went into the washroom of the People's Court and shed not just a few, but 19 great big crocodile tears over the unbearable situation.

Lazier recently attacked students for misrepresenting the facts of the giant orange-ade party in Emerald. The party was six months ago, but Lazier has been busy with research for his high school diploma.

"These students deliberately and knowingly prevaricated (how do I know where he learned a word like that?) while presenting their side of the story to myself and the remaining contingent of Stupid Tribulations judges. We simply cannot endure any more of this sort of misrepresentation of the facts." He goes on . . .

"As a big, bad judge on this just court, I am pained to watch such things go on without being able to prevent it. Why, one of those little girls told me she only drank two six-packs of beer, when we had proof that she had consumed the total of only eleven bottles of beer."

"Much Larger" "Another, a male who was certainly much larger than I, told me that it was none of my business and that he was 21 and if I did not like it I could take my funny little court and . . ."

"Since we must submit our constitution to the Stupid Channel to have it amended for more power along these lines, it may be awhile before we can gain more power and prevent open lies from being used as testimony by the accused students," Lazier stated.

He goes on . . . "I can see no reason whatsoever for letting students trying to exempt themselves from punishment by the Ministration. After all, everyone on this campus should come up for conduct probation at least once during his college career so I can pretend like I am a lawyer and really squelch the chap."

Lazier outlined a 19 point plan which would serve as a guiding light to his successors (hope) on the Court. Among these, he pointed out that students who have been tried and found innocent should be also indicted under command by the Ministration and come before the Court to be fined and placed on probation. These measures are stipulated in the double jeopardy clause of the Stupid Tribulations.

He also stated that those people who have been apprehended by state or city people and released without punishment in those courts must also be subjected to the silly harrassment of the Stupid Tribulations in accordance with their other double jeopardy clause in the constitution.

These people are to be suspended from the Unifarcity since they succeeded in tricking the lower courts and they must be punished by the court of the Ministration, which has all the correct answers to everything . . . except when a defendant lies.

Telescopes, Binoculars Cause Klaud Wrangle

"It's downright revolting," said Big 'I' president Tom Lookeast Thursday when asked for comment about the sudden outbreak of conflicts between the "Big I's" and the "little I's."

"We have first rights to accomplish our objectives and no one is going to stop us, not even the 'little I's,'" Lookeast said with determination in his voice.

Priority Rights

He was apparently talking about the priority rights to the telescopes and binoculars that the "Big I's" currently hold.

Around 50 or 60 small skirmishes were reported last night throughout Silie Klaudrange when members of the opposing sides wages an all out effort to get to the telescopes and binoculars.

Dean of Men Posh Halfgrin told the Trashkan that the "Big I's" were peacefully watching the Girl's Dorm and the Awful Wee sorority (a registered University function) as they do every night when a group of "little I's" suddenly charged several "Big I's" who were using the binoculars.

"We pay our monthly housebills and deserve equal rights," screamed a very much excited dormie at the height of the conflict.

Awful Wees

Another "little I" explained that the whole ruckus started when a rumor spread from room to room saying that the Awful Wee's were putting on a show better than the last one they staged just prior to Homecoming elections.

"Nothing could be better than that last one," Freddie Farmer said, "but something deep inside of me told me that I had to get a telescope. I guess that's the way we all felt."

An unconfirmed report said that tension has been building among the Klaudrange ever since the Motor Bods moved into the Girls' Dorm. "Darn those older girls! Why would they have to do this just before mid-term exams. Now none of us will be able to sleep nights," the unidentified source stated.

Telescopes Broken Unifarcity Pleasemen finally got the ruckus under control at about 2 a.m. when the binoculars and telescopes were broken.

Lady Chatterly, Awful Wee house mother denied that her girls had anything to do with the blood bath. "My girls could never do anything like that."

Jackasses Have 'Cooke Dim Goose

Dim Goose, president Young Jackasses, was peached yesterday by pogrom committee.

The Goose was accused selling memberships to the Nippon-Sitdown Club. This a definite violation of Ja policy.

The Goose admitted to selling the memberships. "A little friendly rivalry never hurt one. Besides with a Nebraska on the ticket of chances would have picked it. It was all some clever strategy on our part," said.

The Mastodons (worshippers of extinct animals) club offered Goose the presidency of their organization. They said "A friend in need is a friend indeed. We will welcome a Jack with a need."

Hardwin and Snide

Cooperation Encouraged

Gunsellor Stifford Hardwin and Dean Snide conferred yesterday for more than two hours on methods of improving relations between the Ministration staff and the faculty.

Dean Snide said she felt that the basic shortcoming in present relations is a lack of a spirit of cooperation.

"If each of us would endeavor to cooperate just a little more, this would be a much more pleasant place to work."

Hardwin seconded the comments.

NU SPIRIT FOUND—Investigations of complaints of a night prowler on campus has led to the discovery of the oldest student, Norwood L. Mayfoose, III, was the fifteenth student to enroll in the Unifarcity. He was a notorious playboy and attended the college 64 years without getting a degree when he suddenly died. However, Mayfoose now reports that he couldn't get into heaven or hell without a college degree and ruefully returned to finish.
