KELLOGG BOGS DOWN—First snow, now mud hampers the workers on the Kellogg Center. Here a husky bulldozer bogs down trying to pull a truck out of the knee-deep quagmire.

Construction Progress Increases

The construction progress of the Kellogg Center for Continuing Education was slowed down some by the cold weather, but work has continued on the interior parts, according to Verner M. Meyers, Director of the Division of Plant Planning and Construction.

The $2.5 million building, sponsored by the Kellogg Foundation, is located at 33rd and Holdrege. Completion of the project is scheduled for the end of this year.

Meyers said that the interior is coming out of the ground and has reached the second floor in some parts. The north wing, the youth part of the building which will be used for high school University conference rooms, is out of the ground.

The south area, where adult groups will meet, is still in the basement level.

This area will include the nine-story tower where the residence rooms will be located.

Meyers added, "Although the winter slowed progress down some, with the arrival of good weather construction will be in full force and at top speed. There should be real progress between now and fall.

"It's expected that any lost time will be made up during the coming good weather," he said.

Officer Reports Now Due

SC Threatens With Probation

"Every campus organization and activity must have officer and member lists into the Student Council by 5 p.m. today," Jack Nielsen, Council president, said Thursday.

All organizations that do not comply with this rule will be placed on probation, he said. This probation will consist of removing the organization from good standing and the forfeiture of all privileges of that organization.

Forfeiting all privileges would mean not allowing the organization to use campus facilities such as meeting rooms and would not allow the organization to use advertising on campus.

Officer forms are available in the Student Council office, 339 Student Union or in the Division of Student Affairs. The Student Council office is open from 9-12 a.m.

All three of the copies to be filled out should be returned to the Student Council.

The student council standard activities report forms will be available in the Council office beginning April 18. These are to be returned two weeks prior to the end of semester classes.

NU Bowling Team Travels To Kansas Tournament

The second place Nebraska bowling team will travel to Kansas State this afternoon to participate in the Big Eight Bowling Tournament, Saturday April 9. Jerry Donlinger, Ralph Holmstrom, Stu Kutler, Gary Starck and Bill Vacek are the bowlers that will represent the Huskers in the tournament.

Six Schools There are six schools entered in the tournament this year. They are Nebraska, Kansas State, Kansas, Oklahoma State, Colorado and Missouri.

This tourney will be a big test for the Nebraska bowlers because it will test their endurance. The Huskers will have to go for 15 games.

Their first game is at 7:30 Saturday morning. Each team entered in the tournament will bowl 5 matches, each match consisting of 3 games.

Point System The winner will be determined on the same point system as the Nebraska Collegiate Bowling Tournament was based. There will be one point for each game won and one point for every 50 pins. A team trophy will be awarded to the champions. There will also be a trophy awarded to the winner of the all events.

Based on past performances of matches bowled against other schools this year, Games Manager, Merle Reiling, says "I feel that the boys are definitely pressure bowlers and when the chips are down they will come through with clutch strikes and spares."

We hope to see the Big Eight Championship trophy in the Student Union when we return from Spring Vacation.
