Corn Cobs Issue Policy Statement About Show ... Brubeck Quartet Arrives Thursday

In order to clarify some of the questions raised in the minds of University students and faculty since the booking of the Dave Brubeck Quartet, the Corn Cobs have issued a statement of their policy.

The Corn Cobs constitution reads: "The purpose of this organization shall be to foster and engender student pep and enthusiasm at the University of Nebraska and to assume the initiative in creating student spirit."

With that in mind the organization has taken charge of pep rallies, half-time ceremonies, homecoming dance, flower sales and Cornhusker sales in co-operation with Tassels.

"In the fall of this year, we of Corn Cobs initiated a program of bringing outside talent and entertainment to the University campus," said Dave McConahay president of the organization.

The first endeavor, the Kingston Trio, met with such great student support and termed such a success that the Dave Brubeck Quartet was booked for Thursday night as the second attempt in the new part of their program, according to McConahay.

The basic purpose of bringing the Thursday night program is stated in the second phrase of the constitution. "We of the Cobs are attempting, by bringing outside entertainment to the campus, to bolster pride and prestige on the campus and thereby improve campus spirit," said a Cobs spokesman.

In regard to the half-price tickets for students attending Brubeck's Performance, the organization expressed that because of the Kingston Trio success both financially and because of the organization policy, they can offer the program for a nominal charge.

The Corn Cobs hope that Thursday night's show meets with equal success of the Kingston Trio. Tickets are available from Corn Cobs and at the Pershing Auditorium Box Office until performance time.

AWS Discusses Coed 'Propers'

Decisions concerning proper dress, drinking, the point system and stimulation of intellectual attainment were made by the AWS Board at the recent AWS Workshop.

According to Sharon Rogers, AWS publicity chairman, sportswear, especially Bermuda shorts, should not be worn in the library, as there are many people other than students who use the building. Sportswear also is not to be seen downtown or in theatres, because campus women are expected to set good examples for younger people. Sportswear is to be tolerated, but not encouraged in the recreation parlors of the Student Union and in the Crib, but not in the upstairs meeting rooms, Miss Rogers continued.

Another discussion at the AWS workshop centered around drinking and sex relationships. It was pointed out that many students feel they are unable to have a good time without drinking.

"But because we realize that drinking is accompanied by vulgarity, unrefinement, and immorality when done in excess, we urge the standards boards of houses to take action on girls whose conduct is unbecoming.

"As sex and drinking fringe on mental health, perhaps a discussion with student health personnel in charge of their mental health program would be valuable," continued Miss Rogers.

The AWS Board agreed generally that the point system for activities is good because leadership may be passed around. The physical and mental health of students can then also be held at an optimum.

In a discussion concerning how the University could encourage intellectual attainment, it was noted that organized houses need to help their girls realize a higher goal in college.

University women need to be motivated to attend concerts, speeches, foreign films and other cultural events. AWS is considering sponsoring a workshop to encourage high standards and goals, concluded Miss Rogers.

Janet Hansen, chairman of the AWS Workshop, termed the event "most successful and beneficial."

Cadet Wives Orientated To AF Life

The last of three two-hour sessions designed to orientate ROTC cadets' wives to Air Force living will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the Student Union, Room 232.

The session is for wives and fiancées of Air Force ROTC cadets who are scheduled to receive their commissions in June. It is offered to better prepare the wives for their tours of duty with their husbands.

A panel discussion on "Air Force Living: U.S. and Overseas Bases" will be conducted by Lt. Col. Richard L. Hamilton, Capt. Warren R. Paul, Capt. Wayne H. Handshy and their wives.

A graduation party is scheduled for May 13 at the Lincoln Air Force Base Officer's Club.

IWA Recognize Eighteen Girls, Terrace Hall

Eighteen independent women were recently recognized for outstanding scholarship and participation in campus activities by the Independent Womens Association.

Those honored at the annual Recognition Dessert were Carole Crat, Dorothy Glade, Alma Heuermann, Diana Maxwell, Faye Oeltjen and Jane Savener, seniors; Loraine Hadley, Nina Herndan, Sharon Ramge, Joan Schultz, Mary Stastny and Kay Stute, sophomores; Shirley Gates, Alfreda Stute, Gaylean Wells and Clare Vrba, sophomores; Karen Edeall and Karen Sass, freshmen.

Terrace Hall was recognized as the outstanding independent house.

Ag Info Office Moves

Chem Building Being Occupied

The old Ag Chemistry building took on a new atmosphere yesterday as the department of information moved into it from the Ag Administration Annex.

Prior to moving there was a general renovation of the building which included new floors, lower ceilings, a recording studio and a dark room. New glass doors and a switchboard has also been installed.

New Name
The new building will probably be known as the "Information and Publications Building".

The move will allow the department to be under one roof for the first time since it was created in 1956. Prior to this the publication division had been in the Extension Annex.

The cost of remodeling the 60-year old building was $90,000. According to Vern Meyers, director of plant planning and construction, it would have cost $350,000 to build an adequate new building.

Besides offices for the personnel the new arrangement will include conference rooms, a classroom and bulk storage space for the stock of publication. All extension courses for Ag and Home Economics undergraduate majors will be taught in this building.

Ag Journalism
Eventually the department hopes to acquire an instructor on the staff to teach Ag journalism courses. Presently only the lab section of Journalism 161 and an intern program for those in Ag journalism are held in the department.

The old Ag Administration Annex will house for departments. The Home Economics area Home Agents in extension will remain in the building.

Those moving into the building include the extension division of Agricultural Economics which was in the Dairy Industry building along with the rest of the Ag Economics department.

The Turkish University Program will move from Ag Hall into the Annex and the Barbary Eradication section will be enlarged and moved into the building.

The "Information and Publications Building" is planning an open house in the near future.

AFROTC Will Change Command

Junior AFROTC cadets will formally take command of the cadet wing at the change of command parade this Thursday at 5 p.m. on the women's P.E. field.

Graduating senior will be honored and awards will be presented to those cadets in the AFROTC who have demonstrated a high degree of leadership and academic ability.

First Nebraskan Nominations Are Maxwell, Novicki

Two students are the first to be nominated for the spring semester "Outstanding Nebraskan" awards.

They are Diana Maxwell and Carroll Novicki.

Miss Maxwell, senior in Arts and Sciences, is former editor of the Daily Nebraskan and presently is a columnist for the paper. She is former secretary of Mortar Board and is a Phi Beta Kappa.

Other Miss Maxwell activities have been vice-president of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism fraternity, member of Kappa Tau Alpha, journalism honorary, active in the Residence Halls for Women's organization and IWA. She has acted as one of the eight Mortar Board counselors for the girls dorm and has served on the Student Union advisory board.

Recently she had an article published in the Journalism Quarterly, national journalism publication.

The letter of nomination stated "Although not affiliated with a sorority, she is highly respected by Greeks and independents alike. And through her work in the Union, the Nebraskan and other campus organizations, she has constantly strived and succeeded in bettering our university."

The letter also stated "Last semester Miss Maxwell bestowed the titles of 'Outstanding Nebraskan' on the faculty and student winners; this semester it would be very fitting if the honor were bestowed upon her."

Service
Novicki, a senior in Engineering, was cited in the letter of nomination as a person whose "service to the University has had a direct bearing on the success of the many organizations to which he has belonged."

"His ability and honesty have impressed everyone with whom he has worked," the letter stated.

He is past member of Innocents, past editor of Blueprint, member of the Board of Publications, Sigma Tau, Eta Kappa Nu, holder of the Omaha Steel Works scholarship, and past president of Theta Xi fraternity.

May 17 Deadline
Nominations may be made until 5 p.m. May 17. Any student or faculty member may nominate a candidate by submitting a letter to the Daily Nebraskan at the Student Union.

Letters should be signed by the person making the nomination and all letters become the property of the Nebraskan. The names of those making the nominations will be kept confidential. However, any or all parts of the letter may be reprinted in the Nebraskan.

The winners will be announced in the final issue, May 20. Certificates will be presented at a noon luncheon in their honor on that day.

Faculty members must have been a member of the staff for two years in order to be eligible.

Student candidates may not be paid staff members of the Daily Nebraskan but columnists are eligible.

Duty To Gifted: Open Many Doors

"A primary responsibility of the University of Nebraska is to open as many doors as it can to its gifted students so that they may be encouraged to develop their highest potentialities."

Provide Rewards
In order that the various colleges provide greater motivation through rewards, opportunities and challenges, the Faculty Senate Committee on Honors Programs at their meeting yesterday recommended that special programs be devised to lead to a degree with honors.

The new programs might be based upon new or special courses, seminars, advisement and instructional procedures, or reading lists and examinations. It was recommended that the present degree with high honors be eliminated as the new program is developed.

The development of an Honors Program will place increased significance upon counseling and teaching. A degree with honors should be granted only partially on the basis of grades. Independent study and research should also play an important role.

Talented students should be encouraged to broaden their experiences and ideas in significant areas beyond their field of specialization. Some courses may be opened without prerequisites to students from other fields.

'Diary' Begins Tonight

Both U.S., Germany Have Seen Play

Tonight at 8:00 begins the production of "The Diary of Anne Frank," the last play of the season given by University Theatre.

The play, the story of a young Jewish German girl who lives in hiding during the second World War, has been produced both in the United States and Germany.

Otto Frank, father of the real Anne, wrote an article entitled "Germany is Forgetting Anne Frank" in the February issue of Coronet magazine expressing the opinion that the young people of Germany are learning about the period of Nazism and also about citizenship in a democratic society through the play.

Frank said in his article that he has never seen a stage performance of "Diary" because he wishes to keep Anne and her sister Margot as he knew them and not as they are known to the world through the play.

Many girls, like the real Anne, in Germany share her basic faith in humanity but that today there is a battle going on for the new generation of Annes, Frank added. The battle is being fought by the guilt-ridden older generation responsible for Hitler and a middle generation, too young to have been very involved in Nazism, but old enough to have fought and been hurt by the war.

Frank concluded his article by saying that, like Anne "in spite of everything, I still believe that people are really good at heart."

The production of 'Diary' at Howell Theater, will run through Saturday evening. Very few tickets are left for the Friday and Saturday night presentations. Only one-fourth of the tickets for Thursday's performance remains unsold.

YRs Cancel Meet

The Young Republicans will not meet Thursday night because of the Dave Brubeck quartet scheduled for that time.

Hill To Go To Insect Symposium

Dr. Roscoe E. Hill, chairman of the department of entomology, attended a three day nationwide symposium on agricultural chemicals.

The symposium was held at the U.S. Department of Agriculture plant industry research station in Beltsville, Md.

Dr. Hill represented the University at a conference on "Nature and Fate of Agricultural Chemicals applied to Soils, Plants and Animals."

Progress in research and problems involving agricultural chemicals used in herbicides, fungicides, insecticides, antibiotics, tranquilizers and other substances important in the technology of agriculture will be reported by agricultural scientists.

Reconstruction Bug Bites Sorority Houses

During the academic lag of the summer season, many of the sororities are planning to re-vamp parts or all of their houses, including entirely new additions.

On the corner of 15th and Vine, Alpha Chi Omegas building on a new addition which will include a new kitchen, dining room and 12 new bedrooms. The DG's are also planning to redecorate the rest of the house.

Delta Gamma

Other construction of additions is going on at the Delta Gamma house. Their new addition will include a new kitchen, dining room and 12 new bedrooms. The DG's are also planning to redecorate the rest of the house.

Further campus redecoration includes a new furnace at the Alpha Omicron Pi house, Alpha Xi Delta with a complete redecoration of the main floor, Sigma Kappa with the refurbishing of the dining room, and the Delta Delta Delta house will just be recovering furniture after last years complete redecoration.

Two of the sororities are still negotiating with contractors before they decide to add new additions.

Gamma Phi Beta is planning a new addition but are not sure as to whether construction will start this summer.

Alpha Phi is waiting on the contract for the building of their new L-shaped addition which will house a new dining room and kitchen, bedrooms and a partitioned third floor. They also plan to improve and build new parking facilities and a complete redecoration of the house.

Chi Omega and Kappa Alpha Theta are still pending the outcome of the meeting of their respective building boards.

Sororities not participating in this summer's building and redecoration spree include Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Pi Beta Phi, and Zeta Tau Alpha.

GREEK GAMES LOOT — These four trophies will be awarded to the winners of Junior IFC's "Great Games" May 13. The large trophy is a traveling one awarded to the winner of the entire games. The three smaller ones will be awarded for first, second and third places. Unfortunately, coeds Rhoda Skiff and Ann Houck won't be awarded at all. The just donned togas to dress up the picture.

HUSH, YOU MUSKIES—er, is it "mush, you huskies?" Glenda Luff may not be sure, but she's having fun driving Bill Wright, Joe Malone, Jim Little and Phil

Johnson. They're all practicing for the chariot race during 1960 all Greek day May 13.
