No Speech At Spring Graduation

Chancellor To Give Charge

A short charge to the class, given by the Chancellor, will replace the traditional speaker at Commencement on June 4, 10 a.m., in the Coliseum.

"Due to the time element, we experimented with eliminating the speaker at the last summer and winter commencements. This is a tendency in a good many schools, but it is still on an experimental basis here," stated C. R. McConnell, chairman of the commencement committee.

Presiding at the convocation will be Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin, and Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, dean of faculties, will be master of ceremonies. Chaplain will be the Rev. Dr. William B. Gould, director of Wesley Foundation.

Approximately 1,000 students will receive their degrees at the ceremony. Students are to form the commencement procession by colleges in front of Love Library and proceed along the mall past the Carrillon Tower to the Coliseum.

The program will begin with an invocation, a welcome and comments on the degrees by the Chancellor, and music furnished by the University Symphonic Band, directed by Professor Lentz.

Jack Nielson, president of Student Council, will receive his bachelor's degree on the stage as a representative of the senior class. Doctors degrees are to be given to individuals on the stage.

Recipients of degrees with high distinction and distinction will also be recognized. Honorary and professional degrees will be conferred. The Nebraska Builder's Award, distinguished awards and alumnae awards will also be given.

Students are to pick up their diplomas at the Registrar's office immediately after the ceremony. Those unable to be at the ceremony are to pay a $10 fee at the Registrar's office after obtaining permission of the dean of their college by May 27.

Readings, Play Are Thursday

A reading hour and the production of an original play will be the two features of the final speech and theater presentation of the year Thursday at 8 p.m. in 201 Temple Building.

The new play is "Grandpa's Ashes," a one-act farce-comedy by Opal Palmer, special student enrolled in the playwrighting class. Readers come from Speech 206, a class in advanced oral interpretation.

Students appearing in the program of reading are: Marion Brayton, Eric Prewitt, Mary Dee Patterson, Jim Copp, Leanne Jense, Luther Frost, Sue Carkoski, Wilma Wolfe, Myrna Ems, John Pettelle and Jacquie Kitzelman.

They will be reading selections from Mark Twain, Budd Schulberg, G. B. Shaw, James Thurber, Robert Frost, and others.

Mrs. Palmer's play is being directed by Dave Melzenholder, graduate student. In the cast are Gary Cramer, Jerry Mayer, Beth Debo and Carolyn Kizzler.

The audience will be invited to stay for a coffee session critique of the play after the performance.

Frahm To Head Ag Exec Board

Newly elected president of the College of Agriculture Executive Board is Richard Frahm, junior in Ag and member of Farm House.

Others selected from last year's board were Larry Williams, vice-president and Clare Verba, holdover member.

Wednesday night at 7 will be the first meeting of all new board members. Plans for next year's program will be made and a secretary and treasurer will be elected from the new board members.

J-School Picnic Will Be Friday

School of Journalism faculty, students and guests will have a picnic Friday at 6 p.m. in Antelope Park. Those wishing to attend should take 50 cents to the J-School, office, 306 Burnett.

Cars will leave from the south door of Burnett at 5:30 p.m. for the picnic.

Seven Faculty Members, Student Said Outstanding

Seven faculty members and one student are the last nominations for "Outstanding Nebraskan" as nominations for the awards closed Tuesday.

The student nominated was Robert Krohn and the seven faculty members are Dr. Howard I. Fry, Dr. Walter Mientka, Dr. William E. Hall, Prof. Elizabeth Tierney, Dr. Lane Lancaster, Dr. Henry E. Baumgarten and Dr. Turgut Sarpkaya.

Previous nominations were Fred Howlett, Karen Peterson, Robert Anderson, Diana Vicki, students, and Mrs. Irma Laase, a faculty member.

The honored student and staff or faculty member will be presented at a special luncheon on Friday noon. The awarding of the "Outstanding Nebraskans" is sponsored by the Daily Nebraskan.

Bob Krohn was recognized in his letter of recommendation as having served the University and the student body exceptionally well during his four college years.

Many Activities One of Krohn's services includes becoming president of the Young Republicans during his sophomore year. The letter stated that usually upperclassmen were elected to executive positions and that this was an unusual feat.

As a junior, Krohn was elected president of the Nebraska University Council on Student Affairs, NUCWA, and he also was the Council of Religion representative on the Student Council.

During his senior year he served as first vice-president of the Student Council. As chairman of the judiciary committee he spent many hours preparing the recently adopted Council Constitution.

The letter also stated that Bob's mature judgment has earned him the respect, not only of the Student Council but the Administration as well.

Dr. Howard I. Fry, assistant professor of Anthropology is the second nominee for the award of "Outstanding Nebraskan" faculty members at the University.

Fry Recommended Dr. Fry's letter of recommendation of an outstanding teacher of the young. Also listed was Dr. Fry's activities which included National Anthropological Association, National Committee on Brachiation and a board member of the International Library of Science and Culture which has its main offices in Paris, France.

According to the letter, the National Anthropological Association has published many of Dr. Fry's works, the most noted being, "Life Among the

UNSEA Meet To Host Panel, Hear Reports

UNSEA will host a panel of student teachers tonight for the last meeting of the year at 7 in the Student Union.

Both elementary and secondary student teachers will form the panel discussing experiences of the semester.

Reports of the state convention will be given by delegates Shirley Parker, Gaye Engel, Shirley Chab and Dr. Milton Ploghoff.

Members who would like to participate on the program or membership committees during the summer and next fall may apply at the Wednesday meeting.

Panbel Plans Rush School

A Rush School, sponsored by Panhellenic, will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Small Auditorium.

All sorority rush chairmen, assistants and other interested persons are invited to attend. The program will consist of a one-hour discussion of the rushing rules lead by Miss Madeline Girard, director of Panhellenic.

Polynesians" and "Rarantonga, Its Customs and Habits." Serving now for the third year on the Committee of Brachiation, he is well known for his contributions toward the study of brachiation habits of the Simians of Eastern Rhodesia.

In spite of his many outside activities Dr. Fry always seems to find time to help an eager student. In addition to the regular classroom lecture, he is more than willing to invite the capable student to his home to view slides and films which he has taken on his world wide travels.

Hall Nomination The third letter of recognition of a faculty member was that of Dr. William E. Hall, director of the School of Journalism.

The letter stated that the School of Journalism is now beginning to take its place in the ranks of some of the best J-Schools in the country, largely due to Dr. Hall's unique program of educating journalists.

Dr. Hall has gathered about him some of the finest professional journalists available in the midwest, if not the nation. He has brought these men from executive jobs with newspapers, advertising agencies, radio stations and other name schools," according to the letter.

"Dr. Hall's door is seldom closed and students know he is always ready to listen to their problems."

Mientka Named The fourth faculty member nominated is Dr. Walter Mientka, assistant professor of mathematics.

The letter of recommendation said that due to his efforts, the University began a significant experiment last year. This experiment, a freshman honors course in mathematics, allowed a student who is of above average mathematical ability to complete the usual four semester sequence of courses in three semesters while studying each phase more thoroughly than is usually done.

"Students know Dr. Mientka."

PhysEd Club President Is Pat Osdiek

Pat Osdiek was recently named the new president of the All Woman's Physical Education Club at the club's annual banquet.

Other new officers include Sharon DeMars, vice president; Diane DeShon, secretary; and Susan Stewart, treasurer.

Awards for highest scholarship in each class were also given at the banquet. Given their choice of any book were Jill Maris, freshman; Miss DeMars, sophomore; Harriet Strickland, junior; and Barbara Lemmerman, senior.

Miss DeMars was also awarded the Mabel Lee scholarship.

ka for his willingness to help students and for his aid in answering questions raised by the students," the letter said.

Elizabeth Tierney The next faculty member nominated was Professor Elizabeth Tierney, department of music.

Miss Tierney was recognized as a dedicated teacher and scholar. She has co-authored two textbooks with Dr. Hazel G. Kinsella and has had two choral numbers published.

Miss Tierney was instrumental in bringing the old private conservatory type of music back to the University, the letter noted. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, professional music fraternity; Pi Kappa Lambda, national honorary music fraternity and Alpha Lambda Delta.

Retiring in August, Miss Tierney will end 34 years of teaching at the University. Miss Tierney has, by her example and guidance, imparted to her students not only a knowledge of the subject, but also correct attitudes concerning music and good citizenship."

The nomination of Dr. Lane Lancaster, professor of political science, recognized him for his 30 years of service to the University.

"Lancaster is a recognized authority in the field of political science, and has been a a favorite of students for years."

He is the past chairman of the political science department and was the first recipient of the Distinguished Teaching Award, the letter said.

"He also has always spoken out for what he believed, and encourages the students to think."

He is the author of several books on political science.

Chem Instructor Dr. Henry E. Baumgarten, instructor in chemistry, is another nomination for the award.

His letter recognized that he typifies what an instructor

Baker Said Optimistic About Ataturk College

Dr. M. L. Baker, assistant dean of agriculture, expressed optimism about the situation in Turkey and the progress of the Nebraska mission in that country.

Dr. Baker just returned from a three week study of the University activities in Turkey. He was accompanied by Dr. Baker Jason Webster, coordinator of the University's Turkish program. The University has a contract with the International Cooperation Administration to provide technical assistance.

"In my judgment, there is no reason for concern about the progress of our Turkish program or the safety of our personnel," said Dr. Baker.

"I was very pleased with the progress made by our personnel in Turkey during the past year. Our staff members are developing good research projects at the new Ataturk University. These projects are being carried out under the staff's general supervision and under the immediate supervision of Turkish faculty members trained in the U.S."

Agricultural Needs "These research projects should make significant contributions to the advancement of knowledge of Turkish agricultural needs. In addition, these projects will make significant contributions to the development of a responsible faculty for Ataturk University. The building program at Ataturk also has made substantial progress during the past year. Present plans call for completion of a new faculty housing facility by next fall along with a science laboratory building which could be used as class rooms if necessary."

Enrollment at the University which opened last summer totals 240 freshmen and sophomores.

During the past year a library was established at Ataturk which is being used extensively by students, Dr. Baker said.

Extension Service Looking toward the future, he said plans call for the development of an agricultural extension service at Ataturk patterned after Nebraska but adapted to Turkish needs.

Band Keys Go To Five For Service Band Key Awards were presented to five seniors for outstanding service and musicianship as members of the University Band, according to director Donald Lentz, professor of music.

Worksheets For Frosh Due Today

Registration Process Is Going Smoothly

Worksheets will be accepted at the Registrar's Office today from freshmen and upperclassmen who failed to turn in their worksheets on the designated day.

According to Mrs. Irma Laase, assistant registrar, more than 300 worksheets have already been received from students and are being processed. She estimated that one third of these had been completed.

She said students could still turn in sheets until Friday. Those failing to turn in schedules by the deadline will have to wait until June 6 to register for summer sessions and September 14 for the fall term.

"Registration is progressing smoothly, so far," she remarked.

Mrs. Laase said the only difficulty which had caused any trouble is due to several typographical errors in the schedule books. Also some of the engineering sections were filled quickly and have been closed. She said arrangements were being made in the engineering college to open new sections.

One business course, Business Organization 137, was also quickly filled.

Mrs. Laase commented that summer school registration was running ahead of last year. The usual summer school enrollment is approximately 3,000 consisting of at least 50% grad students.

She estimated more than 1,500 summer school registrations had already been received.

Summer session cards may be picked up and fees paid on June 6 at the Men's P.E. Building. Fall semester cards should not be claimed and fees paid until September 16, M-Z; and September 17, A-L.

'60-'61 Board Members Introduced

Karen Peterson, outgoing president of student activities, was mistress of ceremonies for the annual Union Board of Managers' dinner held last night to honor this year's Board and introduce next year's members.

Introduced as the new members of the Board for 1960-61 were Mary Jean Mulvaney, assistant professor of physical education, president; Aarchie Clegg, first vice-president; Norman Geske, director of University Art Galleries, second vice-president.

The new faculty members include Charles E. Miller, assistant professor of physical education; Jack Snider, assistant professor of music; and two others who will be appointed by Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin.

The new student members from Ag campus are Gill Grady, Sara Rhodes, and Deon Stuthman.

The 1960-61 Union Advisory Board members were also introduced during the dinner. They include hold over members Nola Obermire, chairman, Roy Neil, vice-chairman.

The representative members include Roberta Rock, Greek women; John Hoerner, married students; Herb Probasco, commuter students; George Moyer, grad students; Gunel Ataisik, foreign students; Bob Holden, independent men; Alfreda Stute, independent women; Don Witt, men's resident halls; Sandra Nelson, women's resident halls, and the representative for Greek men will be appointed later.

Board of Managers Keys were presented to Pat Porter, Sue Carkoski, Dorothy Hall, Jean Sell and Archie Clegg for serving on the Board for a full year.

Faculty keys were presented to Robert Schlater, assistant director of Educational Television, and Esther Meacham, assistant professor of Home Economics.

First time this year honorary Keys were presented to Fran Spoeneman and Marty Kohlilian, food service manager, for serving on the Board for part of a year.

CARDS, CARDS, EVERYWHERE—While students wind up this year's studies, administration officials are busy pulling their cards for next year. Over one half the expected worksheets for next semester have been handed in, according to assistant registrar Mrs. Irma Laase. Everything has been going smoothly and there have been no lines of waiting students, she added. But, all students should have their worksheets in by Friday or they will have to wait until next fall, she cautioned.
