Minnesota Rally on Friday

Cobs, Union Plan Dance, Contest

"Beat Minnesota" will be the theme Friday night as throngs of "Big Red" fans are expected to mass the campus in a rally and dance to boost the efforts of the victory-minded Huskers on Saturday.

Organizations are sponsoring contests and events to arouse the victory fever in the Husker fans Friday.

Corn Cobs are planning a banner contest. Each organized house will be eligible to enter a banner portraying the theme "Beat Minnesota."

A trophy will be given to the group with the best banner. Judges will be faculty members.

The contest will begin at 6:30 at the Carillon Tower. Banners containing Greek names or symbols of the organized house will be disqualified.

Also adding to the Husker spirit will be a rally dance sponsored by the Union Dance Committee. Following the rally the cheerleaders will lead a snake dance into the Pan-American Room of the Student Union for the rally dance.

The dance is free and Nancy Jacobson, chairman of the Union Dance Committee, encourages all students, both couples and stags to attend.

Candidates may apply either in the state in which they reside or in the state in which they have received at least two years of their college education.

Basis of selection includes literary and scholastic ability and attainments, qualities of manhood, truthfulness, courage, devotion to duty, sympathy for and protection of the weak, kindness, unselfishness, fellowship, moral force of character, and physical vigor.

Some definite quality of distinction, whether in intellect or character, is the most important requirement for a Rhodes Scholarship, the announcement stated.

The local committee has urged interest in the Rhodes and the intellectual life it represents, and encourages inquiry and application.

There will be seven sorority competition events in addition to the Miss Derby Day beauty contest.

Sigma Chi President Bill Paxton will preside as master of ceremonies over the day's activities.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas will arrive at 2:15 at the Lincoln airport and will be on campus at 2:30 as scheduled, Don Ferguson, president of Young Democrats reminded students today.

All organized houses should be sure to sign up at the special Young Democrat booth in the Student Union today to be eligible for tomorrow's sign contest. All house groups are to be assembled at the R street entrance by 2:15 p.m. Thursday, Ferguson pointed out. The judges for the contest are Dean Frank Hallgren, Mrs. Richard Wadlow and Mr. Royal Sloan.

Johnson will speak at 2:30 in the Union ballroom for 15 minutes and then finish his half hour program by answering questions.

Governor To Open YR Sessions

Gov. Dwight Burney is the scheduled speaker Thursday night at the first meeting of the Young Republicans in the Student Union.

Burney, a Republican who succeeded the late Democratic Governor Ralph Brooks earlier this month, said Tuesday that he plans to speak "off the cuff" to the Young Republicans.

When asked about the high rating the Young Republicans received from the Republican National College Service Committee, Burney said he had not read the report yet but thought it was "real fine."

"I am glad to see that they realized that the Republicans are their friends. I'm afraid that they have felt that for quite a while that only the Democrats have been on their side," Burney said.

"We are not as interested in the present generation as we are in the preservation of liberty and the balance of economy," Burney explained. He said that this is probably the reason that the students have previously felt that only the Democrats were interested in the youth of America.

Adding, Dropping Presents Problem

A big problem for many students the first few weeks of school is the process of adding and dropping courses. The first floor of the Administration building was packed nearly all day Tuesday with students trying to change their schedules.

The majority of the students adding and dropping were graduate students, according to Mrs. Irma Laase, assistant to the registrar.

"The graduate students have a week longer than the undergraduates to register and to add and drop without fees. This includes graduates that are teaching this first week," Mrs. Laase explained.

Undergraduates In addition to the heavy flow of grad students, Mrs. Laase said that the number of undergraduate students either adding or dropping courses was "running normal."

"There are always a good number of students who change their minds, fail a course or take summer school after they pre-register for fall and want to add and drop," Mrs. Laase noted.

Mrs. Laase acknowledged that there is a correct method of adding and dropping courses and the students should do so to assure themselves of getting the courses they want.

To drop, a student should first see his or her adviser, explain why he or she is dropping the course and have the adviser sign an add and drop worksheet.

Worksheet A student must then see the instructor of the course to be dropped and have him sign the worksheet also. The instructor may ask the student to see the department head and advise him of the drop to make room for any possible students waiting to get into that course.

The student must then go to the assignment committee in the Administration building with the worksheet and enrollment card that he received from the instructor. They will okay the drop and a fee of $2.50 must be paid at the cashier's window to make the drop final.

To add, students must again see their adviser and have him or her sign the add and drop worksheet. The adviser will probably want to know the reason for adding a course.

The next step is to go to the office of the dean of the college for his signature on the worksheet. This is the only step in adding that is different from dropping a course.

Okay Needed Students then need the okay of the instructor and head of the department.

After checking the assignment committee in the Administration building the student may pay a fee of $2.50 to the cashier for addine one or a number of courses.

To change sections, simply arrange the change with the head of the department. There are no fees for this change.

Mrs. Laase said that the deadline for adding courses is noon, Oct. 1 and no course may be dropped after Dec. 17.

Entries Due For Prince, Sweetheart

Voting Changed For KK Show

Voting for Prince Kosmet and Nebraska Sweetheart of 1960 will be done before the show at this year's Kosmet Klub Fall Review to be presented October 14 at Pershing Memorial auditorium.

In the past, voting for the Prince and Sweetheart has been done during intermission. This year a University student ID is all that is required of those voting before the show.

Houses may submit their entries now, according to John Schroeder, publicity chairman. A maximum of two candidates from each organized house may be selected and names submitted to Mike Milroy by 6 p.m. October 4.

Mortar Boards will interview the Prince Kosmet candidates and Innocents will interview the Nebraska Sweetheart candidates. Ten will be selected and voting will be done by those attending the show.

Union To Have Club for Keglers

An Honor Club for bowlers at the Student Union is being started this year, according to Merle Reiling, games manager.

The names of the highest scorers will be posted on the board in the games area, Reiling said.

For the women to be members of the club, they must bowl a 200 game or a 500 series. The men must bowl a 250 game or a 600 series.

In addition high scorers for the season will be posted, as well as new Nebraska Union records.

Trophy? Make A 'Beat' Banner

Organized houses will be eligible to compete for trophy honors Friday night in a banner contest to be sponsored by Corn Cobs at the first home football rally.

The event will begin at 5:30 p.m. Friday at the Carillon Tower with banner judging to be done by faculty members at the north entrance of the Union at 7:00.

The "Beat Minnesota" banners will be judged on originality and quality rather than size. Any banners containing fraternity names or symbols will be disqualified.

I WAS NEXT

Students gather in front of the registrar's window to add or drop a course. The crowd may look overwhelming to the outsider, but Mrs. Irma Laase, assistant to the registrar, called the flow "normal" for undergraduate students.

Coed Help

Dorm Counselors Job Entails Many Duties

By Nancy Brown "A counselor is one who listens, is a clearing house for gripes, and will suggest where to get the answers."

This is the description of a phase of the duties of the 15 new dorm counselors, as given by Miss Betty Ware, director of counseling at the Women's Residence Halls.

"This year as counselors, there are representatives of Mortarboards, sororities, Terrace Hall, Towne Club, and the independents," she continued. However, we have no representative of the Ag campus girls."

Senior-rank counselors, who receive full room and board, include Beverly Heyne, Betty Norerlinger, Sue Carkoski and Lois Muhle. The ten junior-rank counselors, who are given one-third room and board, include Barbara Bakker, Donna Bryan, Janet Hansen, Sharon Harvey, Julianne Kay, Angela Long, Sandra Nelson, Susan Pandzik, Verlyn Preston and Mary Anderson.

Mary Elizabeth Sievert is the graduate counselor for the upperclass dormitory in Piper Hall.

These girls were selected on the basis of application interviews with members of last year's Mortar Boards who lived in the dorms. Helen Snyder, Dean of Women and Miss Ware sat in on this board. Fine Job

"They chose those whom they were sure would do a fine job," said Miss Snider, "and paid little attention to the financial benefits."

"The girls were chosen on the basis of what they are as a person," said Miss Ware. "Of course the enthusiasm of the girl, her availability of time, and her character played a great part. I think they're doing a real find job," she added.

The senior counselors are second in command to the housemothers; they assume the housemother's responsibility on her day or week off.

Many Duties Each of the counselors acts as hostess, receptionist, keeper of the key, as well as being a friend to her counselees. They are leaders of their halls for the first three weeks until the freshmen officers are elected.

Besides working with the new officers, the counselors work with the housemothers to plan the activities of the hall as a separate unit.

Each counselor keeps in mind this quotation from her Counselor's Handbook: "Counseling or guidance has been defined as the process of helping an individual to know himself, realizing his own strengths and weaknesses and with this knowledge to develop himself to his fullest potential."
