

IFC Ball Approved; Date Is February 17

The IFC Ball was passed by a vote of 20-3 at the IFC meeting Wednesday night in the Student Union.

The date of the ball was scheduled for February 17, the second weekend in the second semester. Social Chairman Gary McClanahan announced.

Jack Craft of Beta Theta Pi suggested that the houses be charged proportionately to help pay for the Ball. This was approved by the IFC to replace last year's system of a $2 assessment to each fraternity man.

After an hour-long discussion, the IFC also took action on Delta Upsilon and Phi Delta Theta fraternities concerning their party of Saturday, September 24 at the Rod and Gun Club.

Recommendation
After the vote, IFC President Marty Saphir said, "The IFC was in favor of the recommendation of the Executive Council, regarding the complaint to the Executive Council of an illegal party last Saturday."

"The IFC voted that the fraternities receive a stringent warning from the Administration and that they immediately correct the internal difficulties within their houses."

Ben Prieb was elected as Rush Chairman for the coming year. He and his committee will be in charge of next year's Rush Week with the IFC Executive Council serving as advisor.

Bill Paxton, Ron Gould and Mike Milroy volunteered to serve on the IFC Judicial Committee. Plans have been made for this committee and much of the night's discussion centered upon its future policies.

Scholarship
Byron Dillow, Scholarship Chairman, announced that a special meeting of all house scholarship chairmen is slated for October 26. The meeting will be held to discuss scholarship after the first down-slips come out.

Dillow also said that the IFC scholarship blanks are due by Saturday, October 15

Rush Book Application Submitted

An application has been presented by Don Ferguson and Steve Gage for next year's IFC Rush Book.

Ferguson and Gage, who presented the application at the IFC meeting Wednesday night, stressed two improvements over last year's book.

The Rush Book would possibly be available by May 1, eliminating the late dates of recent rush books and the level of the copy would be geared to the level of the high school rushee, they said.

Ferguson noted, "the book needs a distinguished touch to present the fraternity system as a whole."

The theme of the proposed book is "Pillars of Strength," which would appear on the outside cover.

New features of the book would include pictures of this year's rushee as he progressed through Rush Week, an index to all fraternity men listed by geographic location, and a new arrangement.

The book would include scholarship, intramurals, social life, brotherhood, the fraternity section, Rush Week procedure, photographs, advertising and the index, according to Ferguson.

Ag Economic Club Dropped From Exec Board

The Ag Economics Club was officially dropped from the Ag Executive Board Wednesday night for violating two of the board's constitutional provisions.

Dismissal from the Board means that the Ag Economics Club will no longer have a board representative. Also, they will not be able to take part in any campus legislation which is channeled through the Ag Exec Board and will lose their representation in group events such as Estes Carnival.

The Ag Economics Club violated the Ag Exec constitution by allowing their representative to have more than two unexcused absences from meetings last year.

Lack of Interest

A second reason for dropping them off the board was that they showed lack of interest in doing anything about their unexcused absences, said Richard Frahm, chairman of the Ag Executive Board.

The Ag Executive Board is the coordinating student body on the Ag campus which in essence is the Ag Student Council. Sixteen members of the Board voted on the dismissal issue with only two members dissenting, said Frahm.

Ron Epp, president of the Ag Econ Club, said he was aware that the action would take place but never set up any defense because representation on the Ag Executive Board was not of primary importance to the club.

The major function of the Ag Economics Club is to discuss and to inform, stated Epp. "Therefore the club does not have many activities such as contests and barbecues like many of the other organizations on the Ag campus."

With no major activities, the club felt that it did not need representation on the board.

Better Conduct Is Council's Plea

The Student Council voted Wednesday to instruct seven campus organizations to talk to their members in an effort to improve conduct at the pep rallies.

Don Epp, who proposed the motion, prefaced his legislation by saying that the rally last Friday evening "wasn't as bad as some years," but that "conduct of some of the individuals and groups was unacceptable."

The groups that will be asked to speak to their respective members concerning conduct at the remaining rallies are the Residence Association for Men, Inter-Fraternity Council, Inter-Collegiate Council, Panhellenic, Independent Women's Association, Corn Cobs and Tassels.

The poor conduct that Epp spoke of was "unacceptable" for any University function" in his opinion.

Some Opposition
He did not receive full support from the council as several members voted to defeat the resolution.

All of the members who did stand to voice their objections to Epp's proposal said that from their personal observations, the rally last Friday was much better than those in the past.

"I thought the students conducted themselves well compared to rallies in the past," Neil Ferguson said. He added that "it is hard to create and curb spirit at the same time."

Steve Gage said that Epp's proposed resolution was "not really a solution at this time." He said he felt the poor conduct shown at the rally was prompted by the competition between organized houses in the sign contest.

Police Satisfied

representative, Roy Arnold, said the Corn Cobs sent one of their members and a Tassel to each organized house Thursday evening to warn students to watch their conduct. He added that "the University police were well satisfied in comparison to previous years."

Epp defended his proposal by pointing out that the Council is responsible for the Corn Cobs and Tassels and "therefore we are responsible for the rallies."

He added that he wasn't condemning the Corn Cobs or the Tassels as he felt they did a "good job."

"The only way to solve this problem is to ask students to act in a becoming manner at rallies," Epp said.

Mike Milroy disagreed with Epp's statement about the Corn Cobs and the Tassels by saying that the "rally needed more organization. They just didn't have control of the students. The Corn Cobs lost control at the critical point of the rally when the students charged onto the Student Union steps," he explained.

Council Rules Out Inviting Candidates

The possibility of the appearance of the two gubernatorial candidates before the Student Council was ruled out at the Wednesday Council meeting.

President Ken Tempero asked for a committee report delegated in last week's meeting to study the feasibility of having both Republican candidate John Cooper and Democratic candidate Frank Morrison appear at a Council meeting to answer questions pertaining to the University.

Bill Connell, one of the committee chairmen, read the report that said the Council should drop the idea as the Council was non-partisan, that none of the Council members were informed well enough to ask intelligent questions about the internal problems of the University and that anything said at the meeting would be directed towards the press thereby invalidating the purpose of such a meeting.

John Hoerner, co-chairman of the committee, added that the whole discussion with the candidates was likely to dwell on generalities.

Disagreement
George Moyer, Law college representative, disagreed with the committee report.

"A lot of people on this campus vote. This is the best way in the world to inform them. As far as no one asking relevant questions, they can sure learn how to ask questions before the candidates appear. It's better to ask questions now than after they are in office," Moyer asserted.

Neil Ferguson, the third chairman of the committee, warned members that such a discussion "might turn into a political battle." He said he felt more could be gained by having the new governor appear following the election as his committee report suggested.

"It is the duty of the Student Council to present non-partisan views to the students," representative Steve Gage pointed out.

Not Council's Place

Roy Neil backed Hoerner by saying that it is not the Council's place to invite the candidates to appear and answer questions concerning the University but the matter should be referred to the Young Republicans and Young Democrats Clubs.

Moyer got in the last word by amending the proposal to refer the whole matter to the YR and YD Clubs.

The amendment passed without a dissenting vote.

Activities To Turn In Student Lists

Fran Spoeneman, chairman of the activities committee of Student Council asked Wednesday that each activity on campus turn in a complete alphabetized list of members next week to the Student Council office.

This request is defined in the Group Records section of the Student Council Activities Handbook:

"An alphabetical typewritten list of all active members must be turned in to the Student Council Office during office hours by the end of the second week of each semester.

Three copies of the names of the student officers (form to be obtained from the division of Student Affairs) must be turned into the Student Council within seven (7) days after each election."

Sukey Tinan, recording secretary of the Council, said that she hopes to have the Student Council offices open "at least two hours a day next week."

She added that the office will probably be open in the mornings.

B & B Entertains At Noon Lunch

Block and Bridge Club will host a noon barbecue today for the representatives attending the Food and Nutrition Conference on the Ag campus.

The noon barbecue is one of several served by the club each year for various animal husbandry conferences, said Larry Williams, president.

Topic for this year's event is "Legislation Affecting the Feed Industry and Nutrition Research." Speakers will be Alfred Barnard, director of the Federal Food and Drug Administration and W. E. Glennon, president of the American Feed Manufacturers Assn.

The afternoon session will focus on "mineral requirements of poultry, dairy, beef and swine. Concluding the conference will be a panel discussion of animal nutrition and research by University scientists.

Mum Sales Begin

Students will be able to purchase the traditional Homecoming mums starting Monday.

The mums can be purchased for $1.00 from any Mortar Board.

University Will Present New Opera

The University will present the world premier of a new opera, "The Sweetwater Affair," to be produced by the department of Music and Speech, according to Bruce Nicoll, director of Publications and Nebraska Press.

The opera, which will run four nights in February, will have an all-student cast of two women and 14 men.

Leon Lishner, professor of music and nationally known singer and opera director, said that all University students interested in singing should report to the tryouts Tuesday from 3-5 p.m. in 104 Music Building.

Students should bring their own popular or classical music with them to the tryouts, he said.

"The Sweetwater Affair," which tells the story of the conflict between cattle kings and small ranchers in the Wyoming territory of the late 1800's, will have two complete casts. Each cast will present the opera on alternating nights of the four day stand, said Nicoll.

Sigma Chi Derby Day Saturday

New Trophies Await Victors

Sororities will be competing during tomorrow's Derby Day festivities for a new thirty-inch traveling trophy to be presented to the winner.

The Sigma Chi's annual Derby Day also boasts a 16-inch runner-up trophy and an 18-inch Miss Derby Day trophy, both new this year.

The Day will begin with the traditional levi painting done by fraternity pledges. Their victims will be unsuspecting sorority pledges.

The formal festivities will begin at 9 a.m. with a parade down 16th Street, ending at the mall.

Nine Events

The Day has been scheduled with nine events including three mystery events and the Miss Derby Day contest.

Miss Derby Day is selected by comparing the candidates with a profile of Miss America, 1960. The judging will be done by Alexander Edelmann, professor of political science; Donald Olsen, professor of speech; LaVerne Cox, instructor in business organization and management; and Larry Jones, instructor of geology.

Other contests are the fish pole race, which requires six girls; the chugging contest, which requires each girl to chug a bottle of near-beer without spilling; the fish and egg race, which puts a girl on the shoulders of another with an egg tied on her head. The girl on the shoulders takes a dead fish in hand and attempts to break the egg on the head of the opponents with the fish. The broom race requires each girl to push a small rubber football about 25 feet with a broom tied on her back.

Calorie Contest

New this year will be the calorie contest, in which each sorority places their biggest and heaviest girl in the contest to see which sorority can put the biggest girl on the scales.

Derby hats and programs, which include pictures of last years Derby Day winners and Miss Derby Day, will be distributed tonight to the presidents, vice-presidents and pledge trainers of each sorority.

Miss Derby Day will ride up 16th Street on a float at the conclusion of the festivities and contests.

Library Pictures Combat Dullness

Students who are interested in brightening the walls of their rooms might find what they are looking for in the Student Union's picture lending library.

The library, which will open next Thursday, will feature all types of pictures ranging from classical to abstracts.

NEW RESIDENT

Mother Adoption Prominent On Campus This Semester

Nine organized houses have adopted new "mothers" for the coming school year.

These women are the housemothers appointed to fill vacancies for the combination job of menu planner, grocery buyer, employer, official hostess, chaperone and student counselor.

New sorority housemothers are Mmes. R. R. Robinson, H. C. Tieakotter, Adys Cusack, Anita Campbell and Helen Robertson.

Mrs. Robinson was housemother one year at the University of Arkansas before becoming Alpha Chi Omega housemother.

Mrs. Tieakotter, Alpha Omicron Pi housemother, is from Plattsmouth where she worked in a Masonic home for the aged.

Kappa Delta housemother, Mrs. Adys Cusack is from Lincoln and is a former Chi Omega housemother.

Mrs. Anita Campbell is the new Pi Beta Phi housemother. She is from Windsor, Missouri.

Mrs. Helen Robertson, a former Delta Delta Delta housemother, is serving as substitute housemother at the Kappa Alpha Theta house.

Two New
Both Mrs. Tieakotter and Mrs. Campbell are serving their first years as housemothers. Although Mrs. Robertson has "retired" from housemother duties, she is frequently called to substitute.

er Mrs. Helen Anderson is from Omaha. This is her first year as a housemother.

Mrs. Armour, Accacia housemother formerly worked with her husband in their bakery in Weston.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon housemother, Mrs. Ada Mulholland, is a former music teacher from Lincoln. Both she and Mrs. Armour are also serving their first year as housemother.

In the independent houses, Mrs. Catherine Morrison is in charge of Terrace Hall and Mrs. Russell Brown, from the women's division of Burr Hall.

Mrs. Morrison is a former Alpha Omicron Pi housemother, and Mrs. Brown, a former nurse, whose husband is counselor for the men's division of Burr Hall.
