

Possibility of New Ag Union Discussed by Exec Council

Student interest showing the desire for a new Ag Union, was emphasized as the major solution to obtaining a new Union on the Ag Campus.

This solution was discussed at a public meeting headed by the Ag Exec Board. The Ag Exec Board hopes that an effort from the entire Ag campus might promote the new Union which has been debated for ten years, said Dick Frahm, Ag Exec president.

Russ Edeal, member of the board, led the discussion on the possibilities of the new Union. Edeal had previously talked with Ag Campus administration, Student Union personnel and to the students regarding the present situation and what might be done.

Edeal said that according to the administration a new library is next on the building agenda for the Ag campus. At present the survey and planning committee is completing its plans for the Ag campus which will include the library location.

Joint Building

Edeal then pointed out that since 1957 there have been efforts made by the building committee and other sources to construct a joint library and Union.

The problem, at present, is that the decision for a joint Union and library must be approved before the architect begins planning the new Ag library, Edeal said.

Two problems lie in the path of building a new Union in the near future, Edeal said. One problem is how to finance the new Union and the other is what basic facilities will be needed in the building.

The finance problem is due to the fact that any student facility, such as the Union, cannot be financed by any tax mill levy, according to Edeal. Funds for any facility such as the Union must be raised by means of bonds, he stated.

Finances Tight

Al Bennett, director of the Student Union, said that currently the Student Union finances are tight and funds for a new Union could not be allotted unless the University should see the need for a new Ag Union and would seek other funds to support the cost.

Edeal then pointed out if there could be a joint library and Union costs would be considerably lower to both. Several facilities such as air conditioning, conference rooms, lounges and rest rooms could be shared, Edeal commented.

Edeal said that the basic need of a new Union are for more, conference rooms and improved Dell and eating space.

The major project in the next few weeks is to get students to express their ideas in about what they would like to see in a new Ag Union.

University administration must be encouraged by student interest for they need to know what the student wants, Edeal said.

the recommendations of the Senate Committee on Student Affairs and those of Colbert.

He further specified that the fraternity not be allowed to work or act as a fraternity if their members continued to live in the house.

The members would have to apply to live in the house. Each applicant will then be screened, and not everyone who applied would attain residence in the house.

Pertaining to the resolution adopted by the Board to lift the ban on the Sigma Nus and Sigma Alpha Epsilon second semester on basis of good behavior, one member of the Board of Regents warned that if the other fraternities violated the ban, the same thing would happen to them as to the Sig Eps.

He stated that this was a reward for good behavior and that students should realize that the Board was not "anti-fraternity."

"Our whole purpose is to build strong organizations," stated Clifford Hardin, Chancellor of the University.

Since the action taken last spring, the other two fraternities have turned the house over to the alumni in what is called a "reversionary," and the alumni have complete supervisory control over all activities of the house.

Scholarship Tea Honors Freshmen

Approximately 300 freshmen scholarship winners at the University will be honored at a tea today at 4 p.m. in the Student Union.

Chancellor Clifford C. M. Hardin, Lee W. Chatfield, director of Junior Division and Dr. Aubrey Forrest, director of scholarships and financial aids, will give brief speeches.

The deans of the various colleges will also attend the tea, sponsored by the Office of Scholarships and Financial Aids.

in the house with the power to enforce the rules and regulations which govern the occupants of Sellen Quad-rangle.

5. The dining facilities of the house will be closed and all residents of the house will be required to eat at Sellen Quad-rangle.

6. Official representatives of the Sigma Phi Epsilon House Corporation may request permission to inspect the premises at suitable intervals.

Should the Sigma Phi Epsilon House Corporation choose not to enter into an agreement with the University of Nebraska, the house must then be vacated by the members of the fraternity now residing in the house by not later than November 15, 1960.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Panhellenic Week

Purpose of Program To Exchange Ideas

Panhellenic Week will swing into full action today and will find sorority girls from all houses exchanging ideas concerning life.

Yesterday, every sorority woman was encouraged to attend the church of her choice.

Exchange luncheons will begin today and will continue on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Tonight's activities will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a dinner for all Panhellenic delegates and house presidents.

At 7 p.m., Mrs. Kent Morgan, grand vice president of Pi Beta Phi will speak on "Fraternity Challenge."

Every sorority woman is required to attend this convocation between 7 and 8 p.m. The Panhellenic Scholarship Award will be presented by Dean Helen Snyder to the house with the highest scholastic average for both semesters of last year.

Scholarship Improvement

The sorority with the highest improvement in scholarship will receive the Elsie Ford Piper Scholarship Award, presented by Mrs. Robert Diers, president of the Panhellenic Advisory Board.

Following "Panhellenic Night" is a coffee hour honoring Mrs. Morgan. It will be in Rooms 232, 234 and 235 in the Union.

'Challenge Youth' Says West Point Commander

A "new challenge — the key to future United States leadership and status in the world" was the essence of the message for today's youth from Major General William Child Westmorland, superintendent of West Point.

He pointed out in a press conference Saturday that youth has not been challenged enough and has been allowed to sink to mediocrity. "The chief want of man in life is somebody who shall make us do what we can," he said as he quoted from Emerson's essay "Considerations by the Way."

Challenge

The educator said it appears that we are revising our education system from grammar schools through graduate schools and that the revision will depend on the challenge put forth.

West Point has recently introduced a curriculum change. More electives have been included as an academic program to challenge the most gifted.

All 2,500 men at West Point will be challenged to the utmost, he said.

"Before we can have peace and stability we have to have security and in order to have security there must be the military," said the Major General who was graduated from West Point in 1936.

Leadership

He believes "The mantle of leadership of the free world is on the shoulders of the U.S. and that we have international commitments of a magnitude we've never before known."

He said the U.S. army would be a more significant force in the future than it has been in the past decade.

He pointed out some of the characteristics of the school. "If the idea of being strict is brought out in the right way it will help individuals recognize more abilities he possess. This will give him greater pride in himself."

"Cadets take pride in the honor system. There are few violations. The two months of orientations period shows us the different standards that they have been used to."

Background

"Academic background shows up as clear as a bell and some are 'slow starters' because of poor preparation. But if they have the drive they can overcome it."

He also pointed out the strong correlation between physical aptitude and leadership potential.

The Army mule was brought up by the press.

The General said among the menagerie of foes this season including the Buffalo Bull, Boston Eagle, California Bear and Penn State Nittany Lion that they had always met up with animals and for the first time they would meet a human being—"A Cornhusker."

He said the mule would get along ok if the Cornhusker doesn't attack the Mule with a six-shooter or pitchfork."

Two Council Members Dropped

Spoeneman, Rhodes Lacked Averages

Two Student Council members have been dropped from the Council due to scholastic ineligibility.

Fran Spoeneman, a hold-over member and Sara Rhodes, the Agricultural College representative are no longer on the Council due to failure to meet scholastic averages required for council membership.

Ken Tempero, president of the Council, said he has been aware of the situation before Wednesday, but nothing was done until the Judiciary committee made a check with the Administration.

He added that it is normal procedure to check the accumulated averages of all Council members at the start of each semester. The requirement for senior hold-over members is an accumulated average of 5.7. All other members must have a 5.0 average.

In accordance with Student Council procedure, only the Ag College representative will be replaced. The senior hold-over members are not replaced.

The Student Council will receive applications this week and meet with all applicants next Wednesday to select a replacement for Sara Rhodes, according to Hoerner and Mike Milroy.

Application blanks may be obtained in Administration as well as signature sheets, Milroy said.

The new replacement must have an accumulated average of 5.0, be a girl enrolled in the College of Agricultural and have 25 valid signatures from 25 students enrolled in Ag College, Milroy said.

Oct. 25 Date For Penal Tour

Students desiring to go on the Ag Union penal tour Oct. 25, should sign in the activities office of the Ag Union, said Margriete Plum, Ag Union hospitality chairman.

Only the first 50 students that sign up will be able to go on the tour, Miss Plum said. The tour begins at 5:30 and a bus will provide transportation from the Ag Union.

A tour of the State penitentiary, a meal prepared at the institution and entertainment provided by the inmates will be featured in the tour. Cost for the tour will be $1 for the meal and $25 for bus fare.
