

More Than 4,000 Students Now Eligible to Vote

By Jerry Lamberson
Only three days remain for voters to register in cities over 7,000 in Nebraska, said Cliff Weston, registering board member at the First National Bank. However, voters from smaller towns need not register and have until November 5 to secure an absentee ballot from the County Clerk, he continued. Approximately 4,275 University students will be eligible to vote this fall estimated Mrs. Irma Laase, assistant registrar. Mrs. Laase made her estimation by stating that nearly all of the graduate school, Dentistry College, Law College and Medical College were over 21. These colleges represent about 2,200 she said. Approximately 35 percent of the students enrolled in other colleges or 2,275 are 21 or over. Weston said that students should vote in their local precinct by absentee ballot rather than register to vote here in Lincoln. Lincoln students may register at any Lincoln bank, at one of the fire stations or at the election commission before 5 p.m. Friday, he said. Other students from towns over 7,000 also must register before the 5 p.m. deadline. Those voters that are not required to register and have secured their absentee ballot, must have them in the mail and postmarked by Nov. 7, Weston said. Voters who register are required to take an oath for the validity of the information, Weston said. They must give their present residence, previous residences, name, birth date, age, place of birth, party affiliation and how long they have lived in the state and county in which they reside. The voter must have lived in the state for six months, the county for 40 days and the present residence for 10 days before he may register to vote. Weston said that voters do not register each year. He said that if the voter has registered, that registration is good until he changes his address. In addition to the restriction of University students who do not live in Lincoln, the election commission also said that student wives, service personnel and their wives and naturalized citizens will not be allowed to register here in Lincoln.

—'Commute' By Plane— College Courses Offered Out State

Commuting to work takes on an unusual aspect for Dr. Rex Reckewey. He flies to Scottsbluff each week to teach an off-campus course on the junior high school curriculum.

Scottsbluff is just one of the 33 locations throughout the state where these college-credit courses are taught. They have shown a 15 percent increase in enrollment this year, according to Dr. Rosalie W. Farley, coordinator of the program.

Tuition
"The statistics alone do not show the entire picture though, as four new courses were added this year and tuition costs increased by $2 per credit hour," Dr. Farley pointed out.

This follows a one semester lapse in offering the courses which occurred after a 1958 attorney general's decision declared the program illegal, Dr. Farley explained.

However, during the following legislative session in Feb. 1959, a bill was passed authorizing the program to continue.

Some 500 students enrolled in the hastily developed courses, which were then offered during the second semester.

Enrollment
Last year 1,110 students participated and this year the figure jumped to 1,325. An increase to 1,500 is expected next year, Dr. Farley said.

"Next year's figure will show the first evidence of biggest growth. It is a surprise to me that the enrollment has increased so much this year despite the tuition hike," Dr. Farley commented.

The additional tuition money is being used to increase faculty salaries, she said.

Courses are taught by University faculty members and graduate students while the physical facilities are furnished by the local school systems.

Courses
New courses added this year include audio-visual instruction, beginning Czechoslovakian, history of education in the United States and the junior high curriculum.

A total of 32 undergraduate academic courses, six undergraduate education courses and 15 graduate education courses are offered.

Towns participating include Albion, Bassett, Beatrice, Burwell, Central City, Chapell, Columbus, David City, Fremont, Fullerton, Geneva,

Grand Island, Grant, McCook;

Nebraska City, Nelson, Norfolk, North Platte, Ogallala, Ord, Osmond, Oxford, Pawnee City, Schuyler, Wahoo, Walthill, Wilber, Winnebago, York and St. Elizabeth, Lincoln General and Bryan Memorial Hospitals.

Courses are established following an initial survey by local school administrators. Approximately 20 persons must indicate a desire for the course before a University faculty member is appointed to set up a class.

The latest project to be sponsored is the development of non-credit courses to be offered throughout the state for persons who desire college level work but have already received a college degree.

Mums may be ordered from any Mortar Board for $1.00. They will be delivered to the organized houses and Union Saturday morning.

Ticket Sales Lagging

By Karen Long
"Ticket sales are not what they should be for such a big event as Homecoming," said a Corn Cob spokesman.

The spokesman explained that the people requested Ray Coniff but Coniff would not play for a dance. Therefore, "we tried to get the nearest thing to Coniff and Peter Palmer was the answer."

Probably
"The band, which is not known to Nebraskans, is probably why the ticket sales are not the best," said the spokesman.

"The Cobs are not out to make money but rather to present a good evening of entertainment for the students and alumni. "We think that Palmer is the answer," the spokesman said.

In a telephone conversation with Peter Palmer Monday night, he said that they could be seen on the Bell Telephone Hour television show Friday night.

Records will arrive Wednesday and the recordings may be heard on KNUS, KLIN, KLMS and KFOR. Records will also be placed in the Crib jukeboxes.

TV Shows
Palmer, who has been playing in big ballrooms in the East will return to New York to do four TV shows following their Nebraska visit.

The band leader said the singers will entertain throughout the night with both "popular and dreamy" music. The band which has been termed "Coniff style" is not exactly that type, said Palmer. "We use a different type of instrumental arrangement," he said.

Peter Palmer promises to dedicate the "song of her choice" to the coed reigning over Homecoming festivities Saturday night.

The numbers the girls have chosen are "When I Fall in Love," Mary Erickson; "Moonlight Sonata," Jeanne

Garner; "Dancing in the Dark," Diane Tinan; "Theme from An Apartment," Nancy Tederman; "Theme from Medir," Linda Sawvell; "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," Sharon Anderson; "Theme from A Summer Place," Shirley Parker; "Blue Danube," Gunel Ataisik; "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," Ginny Hubka; "Theme from the Ballet Sylvia," Gladys Rolfsmeier. Tickets for the dance are presently being sold at a special Corn Cob booth in the main lobby near the north entrance of the Student Union.

Corn Cob members are going to each fraternity each evening during the dinner hours to sell tickets, according to Ron Gould of the Corn Cobs. The price of the tickets is $3 per couple.

Missouri Tiger To Burn During Rally

The Homecoming rally will start in the usual place, the Carillon tower, but will proceed to a new location, according to Bob Shapiro of Corn Cobs.

This location, on campus, will be announced later. At this time an eight foot Missouri tiger impaled on a spear will be burned to the ground.

"We hope the burning of the tiger will promote a rousing spirit among the students that will carry over to Saturday's game," Shapiro said.

YD's Ask Candidates To Debate

Cooper Declines, 'Date too Late'

The nation-wide Nixon-Kennedy campaign debates have prompted campus Young Democrats to call for similar action on the gubernatorial level.

In resolutions passed at a Tuesday night meeting of the club it was asked that Republican candidate for governor, John Cooper, and Democrat Frank Morrison debate over television on the following issues:

State aid to higher education, tax reform, industrial development, state park development, supervision of highway projects and methods to call national attention to the needs of Nebraska agriculture.

The Young Democrats also passed a resolution stating it would be in the interest of the future of Nebraska that the Young Republicans exert their influence in promoting such a debate.

In answer to this challenge, Jan Rhoda, president of Young Republicans, commented that "after checking with Senator Cooper's campaign manager, it was determined there would be no convenient time for such a debate at this late date."

"Senator Cooper has decided not to enter into any more debates with Morrison since Morrison can't seem to follow the 'rules,'" she added.

Don Ferguson, president of Young Democrats, stated that such a debate should be brought to the people of Nebraska in order that they know their candidates and understand the issues at hand.

"Both candidates will be using a lot of TV time. I think it would be much more interesting if we had a real chance to compare them," commented Gail Brannigan.

"We can't expect the electorate to decide such vital and complicated issues on the basis of the press releases of the candidates," Ted Muenster, vice-president of Young Democrats said.

Phi Delta Phi Hosts Senatorial Candidate

Carl T. Curtis, United States senator and candidate for reelection, will speak at a Phi Delta Phi luncheon Thursday at 12 noon in the Student Union Pan American Room.

Interested people who wish to attend the luncheon sponsored by the legal fraternity may purchase tickets at the door.

Girls Dorm To Organize Officially

New Constitution Approval Pending

The Women's Residence Halls will soon be recognized as an organized group pending approval of a new constitution drawn up by officers of the halls.

The constitution, which received a 300-11 majority vote of confidence by members of the Residence Halls must now be approved by the judiciary board of the Student Council and the faculty subcommittee on student organizations.

The instrument provides for judicial power in the standards boards which have the power to issue campuses when necessary; executive power in the stipulations for election of officers and designations of their duties; and legislative power which authorizes members of the inter-dorm council to make rules for the halls.

In the past the dorm failed to receive information on numerous activities because it wasn't considered "organized," according to Linda Schelbitzki, president of the Residence Halls.

"We feel this measure will clarify our position and correct the situation," she said.

Community Concert Sales; 1,500

Over 900 Lincoln Community Concert memberships were sold during the recent sales campaign on the University, Nebraska Wesleyan and Concordia Teacher's College campuses.

This number, added to the sales made last spring, brings the total student memberships to over 1,500, according to Lou Roper, president of the Community Concerts.

Mary Kay Kapuska, a University student, won the first prize for selling the most memberships. Her reward was a portable stereophonic record player.

Second place went to Larry Grupe of Concordia. He won several long playing record albums. Grupe was the top winner in last year's contest.

Another University student, Linda Schelbitzki, was the third place winner. She received a long playing album of her choice.

All students who sold memberships received one free membership for each ten tickets sold. There were 49 workers on the three campuses competing in the drive, Roper said.
