Gunel Ataisik Is Homecoming Queen

A 22 year old brunette coed from Turkey, Gunel Ataisik, was revealed last night as the 1960 Homecoming queen.

Elected by a near-landslide vote by the student body, Miss Ataisik is the first foreign coed to reign over any all-campus festivities.

First and second runner-ups were Nancy Tederman and Diane Tinan.

The five-foot brown eyed Turkish beauty is said to be as "American as apple pie," by her sponsor Mrs. Helen Atkinson of Lincoln.

Junior

She is a junior in the college of Agriculture where she is majoring in Home Economics and minoring in chemistry. Upon her return to Turkey after graduation she plans to do food research.

She became interested in entering the University when she spent her senior year in Lincoln on a Rotary Scholarship and graduated from Lincoln High School in 1957.

After her graduation she returned to her native country where she worked as an interpreter-translator for the American Air Force. In 1958 she was accepted for a foreign student scholarship and chose the University.

Her father is a Supreme Court Judge in Turkey.

Campus activities for Miss Ataisik include member of Phi Upsilon Omicron honorary, Home Economics Club, Nebraska Union advisory board, YWCA, social chairman of Delian Club literary society for foreign students, and work with the foreign student orientation.

Will Reign

The Queen will reign over Homing festivities, she will be presented at the half-time of the football game and the Homecoming Dance, and will be entertained at special luncheons.

Mrs. Atkinson said that the University student body should be highly commended for the selection.

"It has opened a new idea of thinking for the foreign students on campus," she said.

"They are being shown the opportunity of equality they can share in the American way of life," Mrs. Atkinson added.

Other candidates for Homecoming Queen were: Sharon Anderson, Mary Erickson, Jeanne Garner, Ginny Hubka, Shirley Parker, Gladys Rolfsmeier and Linda Sawvell.

1960 Homecoming Festival Underway

By the Nebraska Staff

Nebraska fans will be hoping for a repeat of last year's Homecoming Day performance when Nebraska meets Missouri Saturday at Memorial Stadium.

An anticipated crowd of 37,000 will be on hand as the Huskers try to stop Missouri's bowl-bound Tigers and halt their winning string at six games. (See sports page for game details.)

Victory Bell

The Innocents will present the Nebraska-Missouri Victory Bell to Q.B.E.H., Missouri's Honorary Society, as a result of the Tigers' 9-0 win a year ago.

The Bell, which will be presented before the game, was started as a tradition between the two schools in 1928. Nebraska started the series off right earning possession of the bell eight of the first ten years.

Since '28 the bell has changed hands ten times with Missouri rating 16 wins and Nebraska 14 victories since the innovation of the Victory Bell series.

Homecoming Royalty, the University bands of Missouri and Nebraska, the Huskerettes, and the Card Section will be the major participants in the half-time show.

Missouri Band

The University of Missouri Band will present the first six minutes of the show. With drill formations, the University of Nebraska Band will set the stage for the presentation of the Queen. They will form a "U N" and ask the crowd to join in the singing of the "chant."

Doing a dance routine, the Huskerettes will present "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." Both the Band and the Huskerettes will form a crown to honor the Queen.

The Pershing Rifle Honor Guard will escort the Queen and her court. David McConahay, President of Corn Cobs and Innocents will escort the attendants to the throne. The Vell King, Al Krizelman, will escort the Queen. She will be presented with red roses by Chancellor Hardin.

The Card Section will form a Missouri Tiger, a star, and "Hi, Grads!" They will salute the Queen with a crown and then her name.

Pre-Homecoming Dance

"Spook Mizzo" is the theme for the Pre-Homecoming Dance to be held in the Pan American Room at the Student Union today at 8 p.m.

KFOR disc jockey, Dick Knight, will host the festivities.

According to the chairman of the Union dance committee, Nancy Jacobson, a record album will be awarded to the women's residence house with the best attendance.

Admission is free.

Reunions, luncheons and banquets dot the scheduled activities of Nebraska's "Welcome Alums" festivities.

Several Hundred Expected

"Several hundred alums are expected on campus this weekend," said Arnold Magnuson, secretary of the Alumni Association.

N-Club alums will meet during the luncheon tomorrow.

Peter Palmer, his voices and Orchestra will provide an interesting new type of music tomorrow evening at the Homecoming Dance. Tickets to the dance may be bought at Pershing Auditorium Friday.

Palmer's new type of music consists of blending the voices of his mixed sextet and the tones of his 11-piece orchestra.

—Recommendation to Regents— IFC Approves Plan For Reorganization

The Inter-Fraternity Council made its final changes and stamped its approval on the new IFC Reorganization Plan Wednesday.

The plan, which was originated to replace a plan proposed by the Board of Regents and rejected by IFC will be submitted to the board as the IFC's recommendation today.

The most decisive step taken Wednesday in the discussion of the new plan was the elimination of the Policy Committee, which would have given the Board power in forming IFC policy, according to Bill Connell, who headed the committee which drew up the new plan.

Connell stated that the Policy Committee was incorporated into the Board of Review, which will review all the motions passed on the floor. This committee is made up of equal representation of alums and undergraduates.

The new plan also increases the number of people on the IFC Executive Council with the addition of the Public Relations Chairman and the Rush Chairman bringing the total Exec members to six.

IFC decided, however, to eliminate the proposed representative of the Dean of Student Affairs office room Exec Council.

Discussion on the House Management and Finance Committees centered upon the question of whether to have undergrads on them.

The IFC decided to leave students on these committees for service as an "idea pool", which was proposed by Chip Kuklin.

A technical point was the replacement of the word "responsible" to "responsible for encouragement of compliance with" under the duties of the committees.

Discussion of the plan lasted about an hour with Connell, Kuklin, Jack Craft, Joe Knoll, Marty Sophir, Dick Newman and Ron Gould heading the discussion.

Council Discusses 'Secrecy'

By Norm Beatty

Tempers flared Wednesday in the Student Council meeting over the Council's right to go into executive session.

Chip Kuklin ignited the controversy when he asked Council President Ken Tempero, to explain the purpose of the executive session and what it means.

Secrecy Violated

Temporo rose before the council members and the several visitors and immediately noted that the "secrecy of last week's executive session was violated."

"There were two ways that the Daily Nebraskan could have gotten the information of the executive session," he said. He explained that either one of the "rag reporters" was hiding in the room at the time of the secret session or, "someone here (a Student Council member) gave them the information."

"You are bound to the secrecy of our private business. We need private meetings. It is your responsibility to respect the executive session. I hope it never happens because by failing to keep our business secret, you are stabbing the other members in the back," Tempero said.

President Tempero was immediately backed by Second Vice-President Don Epp, who proposed a motion to bind each council member to "complete secrecy or be removed from the council."

Council Rights

"As leaders of the student body we have the right to discuss matters alone. We have the right to executive session and we will go into secret session in the future," Epp said.

The vote on the proposal passed with one dissenting vote, that of George Moyer, Law College representative.

Temporo then moved the meeting into remarks and yielded the floor to John Elise, a visitor, who told the council "you shouldn't be ashamed of what you are doing," and not go into executive session.

He refuted the argument of the council members for having an executive session as "a moral obligation to go into executive session."

He said that by going into the closed meeting, the council was defeating "any moral obligation."

Develop Ideas

Roy Neil, council member, immediately took the offensive and charged that the council had "every right to go into executive session to protect such things as immature ideas and give things a chance to develop before publication. That is our moral obligation to the students who elected us," he told the council and visitors.

Representative Moyer then rose to speak against the executive session and to "use your minds in case you are wondering who told the Rag about the executive session."

"Do you want to know who it was? It was me" Moyer said.

Herb Probasco, editor of the Daily Nebraskan, then spoke before the guests and members and expressed his views concerning the executive session and the editorial policy of the Nebraskan.

National Security

"It is your moral obligation to keep the doors open," he said. He went on to explain that no other governmental body, in the state or nation, had the right to go into such a meeting, except where national security is at stake.

The Council had "no purpose or reason for closing their doors last week and the members do not know what an executive session means," Probasco said.

Probasco added that if the Council continued to close their doors to visitors and the Daily Nebraskan, he, as editor, would not print any news coming from such meetings.

"Will you put that in a statement and publish it or give us a copy as your policy?" John Hoerner asked Probasco.

"In case some of you haven't read my editorial in last Friday's paper, I did state Daily Nebraskan policy," Probasco retorted.

Hoerner then regained the floor and told Probasco if he did not print news coming out of the Council "as you are obligated to do," he (Hoerner) would see that Probasco be removed from his post on the Daily Nebraskan.

Later in the meeting Probasco explained that he would print news from the Council because he had decided it was the responsibility of the paper, not because of any threat of his removal.

The discussion then moved back to the broken secrecy of executive session of a week

Shriner Hops Union Tables Next Monday

Herb Shriner, television performer, will go table-hopping in the Union Monday morning from 9:45 to 10:30 to publicize his forth-coming show at Pershing Auditorium.

Wednesday at 8 p.m. he and his company will present "Pops Americana," a simple but slick show done in an offhand manner," according to Dick Wagner, manager of the auditorium.

Students may buy regular $2.50 reserved seats for just $1.50, but only if they are purchased in the Union.

Described as a "treasure chest of American music," Shriner will head the show, telling anecdotes and folk lores, breaking into folk songs and playing his harmonica.

George Alexander, a baritone folk singer, will assist Shriner in the show with everything from ballads to modern Broadway musical scores.

The New World Singers, a male quartet, will be accompanied by a 25 piece orchestra conducted by Gustave Haenschel.

Ag Council Reps Appear Next Week

Applicants for Ag College representative to the Student Council will appear before the Council next week.

Roy Neil, chairman of the nominating committee, explained that "other interested people haven't had a chance to apply." He then moved that the Council vote to extend the application deadlines to 5 p.m. today.

A few members said they felt that such an extension would not be fair as this is not the common practice in replacement elections. The vote on the proposal passed however.

Included in the motion was a stipulation that all applicants be interviewed in the next regular meeting instead of holding a preliminary interview.

At the time of the meeting there were four applications. Neil predicted a final total of six.

When asked why he proposed that all applicants be interviewed next Wednesday, Neil explained that such action was "a matter of opinion."

Don Epp told the council that the usual procedure for replacing a member was to install the second place winner of the prior general election. "In this case, the runner-up is not in school," he added.
