

Nebraska Grid Coach Presents Statement

NU Gridders Preparing For OSU

By Hal Brown
Nebraska football coach Bill Jennings issued the following statement Tuesday afternoon regarding the recent controversy involving Nebraska football.

"We've got two games left against two good teams from the state of Oklahoma. We are going to do everything possible to win.

"Inadvertently, we have hurt a lot of people, including ourselves, recently. And it was all a misunderstanding.

"My only interest is that we work together.

"I have no quarrel with the press. They have a job to do just like the rest of us. I know we all want the same thing — that's for Nebraska to succeed."

No Contact
Jennings sent his Huskers through a light workout Tuesday with no contact. Dick Kosier worked out in sweat clothes after a short battle with the flu bug.

Dallas Dyer was moved from fullback to the number one right guard spot for Tuesday's drills. "We think Dyer can handle the position real good. He was a real good scrapper," Jennings said.

Dick McDaniel was running at the number two right tackle slot in the absence of Gary Toogood. Toogood is still bothered by a groin injury that kept him out of the Kansas game.

The Cowboys rank sixth in yards gained with 1,528 yards while the Huskers are seventh with 1,316 yards. Kansas State is last with 1,155 yards.

Stevens Gains Nod As Nebraskan Star

By Janet Sack
Ray Stevens, Husker cross country runner, is the Daily Nebraskan's Star of the Week for Oct. 31-Nov. 6 for his record breaking performance in the Midwest AAU Cross Country Championships in Omaha, Saturday.

Stevens is the co-holder of the AAU record of 21:06 over the four-mile hill-and-dale course. He shares the record with Dean White of Doane.

White set the pace for the runners over the course with Stevens following closely behind.

At 400 yards from the finish line, Stevens started to pass White, but the Doane runner increased his speed. Stevens decided he would not let White beat him and both runners sprinted the last 400 yards to finish in a dead heat.

After the race Stevens said he just felt dead. "White and I discussed the race when it was over and we felt the race had been fast and the course rough," he said.

"Neither one of us felt as if we had broken a record," Stevens said.

'Best Effort'

"I didn't even know it was a record until it came out in the paper," he said. "A record is nice, but it's not all important. I'd rather feel I turned in my best effort."

The Husker sophomore has been the consistent leader for the cross country team. Stevens' best time on the three-mile home course was 15:13.5 against Missouri. He placed first in a triangular against Iowa State and Drake with a 16:24.2.

Last year as a freshmen

Stevens finished eighth in postal competition in cross country. In high school Stevens said he only competed in two meets, losing both times to White.

Stevens is looking forward to the Big Eight conference meet this weekend in Stillwater, Oklahoma. The three-mile run will be over a flat course.

Stevens main competition will be Billy Mills of Kansas and Bob Henneken of Missouri. Stevens feels that the Nebraska team was much improved in the Omaha meet and should finish third in the conference.
