

Epp Appointed Acting Director of Ag Station

The Board of Regents Saturday morning, approved the appointment of Dr. Abram W. Epp, professor of agricultural economics, as acting director of the Agricultural Experiment Station.

Dr. Epp will temporarily fill the vacancy created when Dr. Elvin Frolik, the previous director, was promoted to the deanship of the Ag College. Frolik had been fulfilling both duties since his promotion.

Chancellor C. M. Hardin told the Board that Dr. Epp will serve as acting director until a permanent director is selected.

Epp has been the university's agricultural economic professor since 1943. Prior to that, he served on the Colorado A&M College staff for two years and as an instructor in the Hastings, Wauwata and Anselmo High Schools.

Currently, he is secretary of the Nebraska Hall of Agricultural Achievement and is a member of the American Farm Economics Association, American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers and the American Soil Conservation Society. He has written numerous

Majors, Griesse Win Scholarships

William Majors and Ronald Griesse were honored at a banquet Thursday night in the Student Union for being winners of this year's Federal Land Bank scholarships.

The scholarships, valued at $300, are given to two incoming freshmen in the College of Agriculture. Each winner must have achieved a high scholastic average in high school, must have had farm experience, must have financial need and must complete an essay on a specified subject, to be eligible for the scholarship.

Also honored at the banquet were previous winners who still are in school. They are Richard Boll, Stephen Valder, Loys Mather, James Greer, Ron McKeever, Morris Beerbohm, Allen Trumble and Christian Johannsen.

research articles concerned with irrigation.

Other action taken by the Regents Saturday was the approval of Homer V. Judge, administrative assistant on the University staff in Turkey, being allowed to return since he has completed a two-year assignment there.

The Board approved the low bid of $20,555 submitted by the George Cook Construction Company of Lincoln for the installation of a beef feeding unit at the Havelock Center. The unit would only be temporary until the beef plant can be completed at Mead in about five years, the Board said.

Also accepted was the low bid of $11,300 for the remodeling of the Insectary building on the Ag campus.

Stahly Due Back On Nebraska Soil

Margaret Stahly, the International Farm Youth Exchange student from the University, will return to Nebraska this month after spending five months in England and Wales.

The Nebraska delegate will conduct a speech tour from Jan. 2-20 to all parts of Nebraska. Local groups interested in having a report of her experiences should contact the Ag College Extension office.

The program is conducted by the United States Co-operative Extension Service and the National 4-H Club Foundation. The Nebraska IFYE Scholarship is sponsored by Nathan Gold, Lincoln businessman.

Lambert, Garey Awarded Grants

Angus Garey and John Lambert have been named the Rodeo Association scholarship winners, according to Lowell Minert, Rodeo Club president.

Garey is the winner of the senior scholarship and Lambert, the winner of the freshman scholarship. Both scholarships are valued at $100 and are given by the Rodeo Club.

The winners were judged on contribution to Rodeo Club activities, scholarship and participation in the spring rodeo. The freshman winner was judged on participation in the State High School Rodeo last spring.

Lambert is a freshman and a new initiate of the Rodeo Club. Garey is a senior, the Ag Exec representative from the Rodeo Club and vice-president of the Block and Bride Club.

Countesses Will Be Busy In December

The Cadence Countesses, the 31-girl drill unit, are currently practicing for their first two appearances of the year, early in December, according to Capt. Charles Svoboda, the Countesses' adviser. Their first appearance will be a half-time performance at the Utah State basketball game Dec. 7. They will then appear at the Military Ball Dec. 10, according to Capt. Svoboda.

Future plans for the Countesses include three or four campus appearances and out in the state second semester, he added.

There are also tentative plans for three trips for the Countesses next spring.

These trips would be to the Illinois Drill Meet in Champaign, Ill., in March; the Pershing Rifle Regimental Meet in Minneapolis, Minn., in April and to Washington, D.C., for the Cherry Blossom Festival in April.

SADIE HAWKINS QUEEN

Sharon Russell, a member of Fedde Hall, reigned as the first queen of the Sadie Hawkins dance Friday night. The queen was selected by popular vote from five finalists. Miss Russell is shown here accepting a bouquet of flowers from Gerald Rolencz, who played the part of Sen. Phogbound and crowned the first Miss Sadie Hawkins. Approximately 400 attended the dance in dogpatch style as Luther and his Nightraiders provided the music.

Dr. Weaver To Serve On Federal Post

Dr. John C. Weaver, dean of the Graduate College, will serve on a twelve member advisory committee of the U.S. Office of Education to survey the federal programs in higher education.

The members of the committee were chosen by the U.S. Office of Education from fields of science, the humanities and administration and include representatives from diverse types of colleges and universities.

The advisory committee of recognized scholars and leaders in higher education will hold its first meeting Thursday in Washington, D.C.

In accepting the position, Dr. Weaver resigned his membership on the advisory committee for the graduate fellowship program of the National Defense Education Act.

The newly named advisory committee will assist in identifying key issues of policy or procedure about which federal decisions should be reached concerning higher education.

Other members of the committee are: Dr. John E. Ivey, Jr., president of The Midwest Program on Airborne Television Instruction, Michigan State University; Dean McGeorge Bundy of Harvard; Dr. F. C. Clark, president of Southern University.

Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, president of California Institute of Technology; Dr. Douglas Knight, president of Lawrence College; Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, president of Tulane; Dr. Charles E. Odegaard, president of University of Washington.

Dr. John A. Perkins, president of University of Delaware; Dr. Paul C. Reinert, president of St. Louis University; Dr. M. H. Trytten, director of Office of Scientific Personnel, National Academy of Science; and Dr. Helen C. White, of University of Wisconsin.

Be perspicacious!

Not this: a student who studies drowsily no matter how much sleep he gets.

This! Perspicacious... sharp! NoDoz keeps you awake and alert—safely!

If you find studying sometimes soporific (and who doesn't?) the word to remember is NoDoz. NoDoz alerts you with a safe and accurate amount of caffeine—the same refreshing stimulant in coffee and tea. Yet non-habit-forming. NoDoz is faster, handier, more reliable. So to keep perspicacious during study and exams—and while driving, too—always keep NoDoz in proximity.

The safe stay awake tablet—available everywhere. NO DOZ—the non-habit-forming stimulant.

YOURS?

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards...as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant...and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.
