Indiana Students on Pro For Football Lottery

Four Indiana University students have been placed on disciplinary probation resulting from their participation in a football lottery.

Cards were printed and given to the students to sell. The cards offered increasing odds to the better, picking three or more collegiate football game winners within a specific point spread.

This is the second school in the big ten reportedly operating betting rings. Last week Ohio State University discovered a lottery on its campus.

World Fair Opens

While the Big Ten "syndicates" were being shut down, the World's Fair opened International Week at the University of Michigan.

Over 3,000 students packed the Union to observe the various exhibits and displays presented by the International students.

Seventy Must Meet Council Requirements

A total of 70 student organizations are still in bad standing with the Student Council, according to John Hoerner of the Council and chairman of the judiciary committee.

Seven other organizations have met the requirements. They are:

- Military Ball Committee
- American Institute of Chemical Engineers
- American Society of Civil Engineers
- Beta Gamma Sigma
- Engineering Executive Board
- Phi Kappa Phi
- Sigma Delta Chi

The seven requirements for good standing will be included in the letter and which of these criteria the particular organization is failing to comply with, according to Gage.

A Council member pointed out that the requested forms could be filled out in a matter of minutes if a representative would stop by the Council office between the hours of 9-12 a.m. or 1-3 p.m.

In answer to a question asking what determined whether or not an organization would have to keep its funds with Student Activities in Administration, Hoerner said any organization which gets its funds from a national organization (off campus) and does not solicit funds from members does not have to keep it funds with the Administration.
